

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2752

Chapter 2752

Mike laughed loudly: "It should be similar to shining shoes."

Chad: "Dyeing hair must be much more difficult than shining shoes. But Avery is smart, even if she hasn't done it before, it will definitely be fine. According to the instructions, there will generally be no problems."

Elliot's scalp was already numb.

Hayden made an opinion: "Mom, why don't you take Dad to the barber shop to get dyed? So as not to get your hands dirty."

Hayden really knew the art of speaking. He was obviously worried that Avery would fail to dye Elliot's hair, but said that she would not get her hands dirty.

"Your mom wants to dye your dad herself. Do you know what it's called?" Mike said and put his hand on Hayden's shoulder and taught, "It's called fun. You don't have a girlfriend, so you don't understand."

Hayden: "..."

"It's getting late, Chad and I will leave first." Mike said goodbye to Avery immediately before Hayden fought back.

Avery sent them out.

After sending them away, Avery went back to the house and asked Hayden, "Are you staying here tonight, or going back to your place?"

Hayden: "Just live here."

Avery nodded, and asked in a low voice, "Is there still no suitable girl around?"

Avery rarely asked Hayden about his relationship.

When Mike mentioned it just now, Avery followed up and asked.

Hayden didn't feel much pressure on the question raised by her mom. Because his mom and dad didn't urge marriage as hard as other parents did.

Their attitude towards his marriage was generally more accommodating, fully respecting his wishes.

They never arranged a blind date for him like other parents did.

“No.” Hayden answered truthfully.

“It’s because there are few girls in your company, and you basically have no social reasons other than work!” Avery pointedly said, “You can increase your social interaction appropriately. Break away from your social activities outside of work. For example, you participate in some social activities that you are interested in. If you are interested in something, you can find offline activities in that area...so you can definitely find girls with the same interests.”

Hayden nodded, fully affirmed his mom’s suggestion, and replied at the same time: “I’m too lazy to meet strangers.”

Avery: “Then you look for it among familiar people?”

Hayden: “I don’t want to find a wife now.”

Avery: “Oh... that’s fine too. You’re not very old.”

Hayden: “Why don’t you watch a few teaching videos on hair dyeing first? Otherwise, I’ll be in a hurry later, and I won’t be able to help you.”

After being reminded by Hayden, Avery immediately found her mobile phone and began to search for teaching videos on hair dyeing.

Hazel accompanied Layla to the room.

“Sister, I’ll sleep with you tonight!” Hazel said, “I’m going back to Aryadelle tomorrow, and I don’t know when I can see you again.”

Layla: “I will definitely go back to Aryadelle. I can’t help anything by staying here. Before Eric wakes up, all I can do is to live well.”

After all, this life was bought by Eric at the cost of sacrificing his life.

Hazel: “Sister, I’m really happy that you can think like this.”

“Mom made me trust her.” Layla said firmly, “I trust her.”

Hazel also believed in her mom.

“I have to go back to Aryadelle to find Eric’s parents.” Layla told her plan.

Hazel: “Sister, I will go with you when the time comes.”

Layla shook her head: "I'll go by myself. I've seen his parents, and I know where his parents' house is."

Hazel: "I'm afraid they will blame you."

Layla: "They should blame me. If they don't blame me, I will feel more guilty."

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2753

Chapter 2753

"Sister, when Uncle Eric wakes up, he will definitely not blame you. He will be very happy to see you well." Hazel wanted her sister to always remember this.

Her life was saved by Eric, she just had to remember Eric's attitude towards her.

Because Hazel said to wait for him to wake up, the corners of Layla's mouth rose slightly: "I will wait for him to wake up."

After the sisters took a bath, they came to the living room.

They saw their mom dyeing their dad's hair.

Robert helped his mom by the side.

"Dad, are you nervous?" Hazel walked to the side, watched her mom operate for a few seconds, and asked Elliot.

Elliot was a little nervous at first, but after the nervousness passed, he thought about it.

Since Avery was currently unsure of how to dye his hair, she should give it a shot; if she was successful, she would then have experience.

"Dyeing black, even if it fails, it won't be too bad." Elliot answered Hazel's question, "When I get old and my hair turns gray, your mom will continue to dye it for me. She will definitely be an expert in this field in the future."

Hazel experienced a warm current in her heart after hearing her dad's response.

Hazel: "Then mom's hair is gray? Dad, do you dye mom's hair too?"

Elliot: "If your mom doesn't dislike it, I have no objection."

Avery: "Let's talk about it when my hair turns gray!"

After watching for a while, Layla asked, "Dad, do you think I'm dead and that's why I'm dying?"

Just as Elliot was about to answer, Avery spoke up first: "Your dad couldn't stop crying when he saw the picture of the avalanche scene."

Elliot wanted to refute, but he opened his mouth, but in the end he didn't refute.

He really felt that Layla had almost no chance of surviving, so he was very pessimistic and sad.

"Layla, it's really good that you're still alive." Elliot said, "Don't go to dangerous places again. Dad can't bear such a second blow."

Layla: "Good dad. I will never go to such a far place again, and I will never go to such a dangerous place again."

After this incident, Layla saw how good Eric treated her, and also saw how much her dad loved her.

She had no reason not to live well. Because she lived not only for herself, but also for those who loved her.

The next day, Robert and Hazel got on the plane back to Aryadelle.

Elliot and Avery stayed in Bridgedale, taking care of Layla and taking care of Eric at the same time.

Entering winter, the weather was getting colder every day.

However, no matter how cold the winter in Bridgedale was, it was far less cold than that in Northland.

Layla stayed at home, and after recuperating for half a month, her body finally returned to normal.

During dinner, Avery came back from the hospital.

"Mom, I want to go back to Aryadelle." Layla had already made an agreement with her dad, and now she just needed to tell her mom.

Avery: "Yes! If you go back to Aryadelle, let Dad go back to Aryadelle with you."

"Mmm. Mom, I want to see Eric before I go back to Aryadelle." Layla already knew that Eric was using ECMO to support his life.

She checked some information on the Internet, and she was already mentally prepared.

After hesitating for a while, Avery agreed.

The next day, Avery took Layla to the hospital.

It was a clean ward in the intensive care unit. They had to put on protective clothing before going in.

Avery personally put on the protective clothing for Layla.

After the mother and daughter were disinfected, they entered the intensive care unit.

Layla thought she was mentally prepared, but when she saw so many tubes inserted into Eric's body and saw his bright red blood flowing through several cold tubes, tears blurred her vision immediately.