Chapter 1491

Nova felt very helpless when she saw Celeste shaking her head.

The meeting hall fell into a brief silence for a while.

Celeste was giving Nova enough time to think.

Meanwhile, Celia and the others' hearts had leaped to their throats on one side.

Although there were many things they did not understand from the conversation between Celeste and Nova, they could still read a lot of things.

For example, Lorraine, who also came from Earth, had meteoric success and became the disciple of the reputable elders of the Iridescent Sect, leaving them far behind.

No wonder they had not seen her lately.

For example, the head of the Iridescent Sect only wanted to accept Selena as a disciple, but not them, even if they were just disciples in name.

It proved that they had very poor talent, and they had little training value.

At the same time, Celeste was trying her best to make the head of the Iridescent Sect accept them.

They could see all this happening.

In reality, as long as they could join the Iridescent Sect, Celia and the others would not have any requirements as to who became their teacher.

However, they dared not interrupt at this time.

Therefore, they could only wait quietly for the final result of the matter.

Even Selena, who was admired by Celeste and Nova, dared not speak at the moment.

Time passed slowly.

Celeste's expression was still firm, and she did not look like she would change her mind.

Nova was getting a headache from this.

"Elder Red, they are not related to you, so I am curious, why are you doing this?"

"Lady dream, I naturally have my reasons for doing this. These women are like sisters to Selena. If you accept them together, she will definitely be very grateful to you, and you will know later that I am helping and also saving you."

'Help me?

'Save me?'

Nova shook her head helplessly.

As the head of the Iridescent Sect and also a peak Eternal, would she need anyone else to help her?

Hence, Nova ignored Celeste's last sentence.

However, she was getting more and more fond of Selena.

It just so happened that there was one more spot left for the seven high priestesses.

It would also be beneficial to accept Selena as her disciple and then promote her as one of the seven high priestesses.

After many considerations, Nova decided to agree to Celeste's request.

"Alright then. Elder Red, since you're so sure about this, I will believe you, but Selena is my only personal disciple, and the others can only be disciples in name."

"Of course!" Celeste smiled.

With the head Nova's protection, Celia and the women would have a much easier life in the Iridescent Sect.

That way, Celeste could go into seclusion by herself with peace of mind.

"Go and greet your teacher," Celeste said to the crowd behind her.

Selena knelt on the ground first.

"Selena King greets you, Master!"

Seeing this, the others quickly followed.

"Celia Young greets you, Master!"

"Pearl Warner greets you, Master!"

"Sandy Luther greets you, Master!"

"Goldie Rogers greets you, Master!"

"You may rise. I am the current head of the Iridescent Sect, and since you have joined my sect, you must be prepared to be criticized by others and train hard in the future. Even though, the rest of you besides Selana are not very talented, the saying that hard work can make up for one's weakness is applicable everywhere, and with the resources promised by Elder Red, you still have the chance to get to Eternal Realm."

Nova looked at Selana and the other women before saying seriously.

"Thank you, Master. We will definitely work hard, and we won't let you down."

Nova nodded and summoned someone.

Immediately, a third-ranked attendant came in from outside the hall.

"Lady Dream," the third-ranked attendant came in, clasped her fists, and greeted Nova respectfully.

"Arrange a place for them, and then inform the whole sect that the ceremony will be held in three days. I, Nova, will be accepting my first personal disciple."

As head of the Iridescent Sect, Nova accepting a personal disciple was naturally considered a major event for the sect.

However, it also seemed a bit unsightly compared to the four reputable elders accepting their disciple.

Therefore, Nova just asked the attendant to notify the whole sect that she would be accepting disciples in three days time.

Instead of scheduling it to be three months later and notifying the major forces in the entire Star Kingdom like the four reputable elders.

"Yes, Lady Dream."

After the third-ranked attendant finished speaking, she said to Selana and the others.
"Please come with me."

Then, she left the meeting hall first.

Selana and others hurriedly followed.

Soon there were only Nova and Celeste left in the hall.

"Elder Red, are you happy now? I followed your request and took everyone under my wing," Nova said with a smile.

Now that everything was settled, she did not need to have mixed feelings anymore.

It was very gratifying to have a personal discipline she liked.

“Lady Dream, I know you have a lot of doubts in your heart right now, and it’s not the time for me to elaborate on the specific reasons, but please trust me, Accepting them today was definitely your best decision, and you will thank me in the future,” Celeste replied with a smile too.

“Of course I trust you, otherwise, I wouldn’t do this, but is your body really irreparable?”

“Master has already checked. My alluring body has been activated and it is irreversible. Not only that, but I also need to spend a lot of energy to suppress the desire in the body, so the speed of my cultivation in the future will be much slower than before.”

“What happened? You just went on a mission in mid and low-level civilizations. How did you activate it?”

Nova asked, feeling very puzzled.

“Lady Dream, in truth, I...”.

Celeste could not expose what happened between her and David, so she had to repeat to Nova what she said to her teacher Eira last time.

After hearing what Celeste said, Nova understood what had happened.

She did not suspect that the other party was lying.

“I see! So you don’t know who this person is?”

“I don’t know!” Celeste shook her head.

“Do the reputable elders know?”

“I’ve already told Master, it’s just that it’s been so long and it didn’t happen in the Star Kingdom, so she can’t find this person.”

“Are we just going to let that punk get away with this?” Nova frowned, a malicious energy flowing out of her body.

Celeste had the most potential in the Iridescent Sect to break through Eternal Realm and reach Saint Realm.

Now, her alluring body had been activated, so she lost the advantages of her special physique.

She would also need a lot of energy to suppress her desire.

Therefore, it was unknown if she would have this opportunity in the future.

It was no exaggeration to say that Celeste went straight from being at the top in Star Kingdom to becoming an ordinary person in an instant after her alluring body was activated.

This difference was very significant.
