

The Three Little Guardian Angels

Chapter 2696

Picking up his cup, Sunny chuckled, "I raised Cam as a son for more than 20 years. She had a fiery temper before I sent her to the military school."

Nick did not say anything.

After a long while, Sunny looked at him and continued. "Nick, although you're my disciple, I've long treated you as my son. My wife passed away early, and now Cam is married. I think I've already lived my life to the fullest. Now, I'll just have to wait until death comes and claims me."

Nick's pupils flickered, and he said, "You are in good health and are still far from the end of your life."

Sunny chuckled. "I still have about 20 to 30 years left, but it'll come sooner or later."

Nick took a sip of tea.

"When are you getting yourself a wife, then?"

Nick froze for a moment when he heard the question. However, he soon regained his composure and replied, "It isn't the right time yet. I'll just go with the flow and wait for the right person to show up."

Sunny drank the tea and said, "You're right. You don't know when the right person will appear, but they'll eventually appear anyway."

Four months later...

The Honorary Gold Award Film Festival was held in Asperia. There were plenty of stars and celebrities sitting in the audience seats.

James, Hannah, and Howard sat together. The rest of the celebrities and actors had their own designated seats while Amy sat beside them.

The host stood on the stage and read out loud, "The following representative works have been shortlisted for the Honorary Gold Award Film Festival, The Twins, Back to 1980, You're My Spring, Battle at the Murray Sea..."

After the host finished reading the list of works, he paused for a few seconds before continuing with a smile on his face. "And The Fog, the major hit this year. First of all, congratulations to all the winners!"

A round of applause rang from the audience seats.

Hannah went closer to James and said, "If you still didn't get the award after participating in this movie, Daise and Mr. Johnson would be so disappointed."

James clicked his tongue and said, "It's none of your business, right?"

She snorted. "I'm just caring about you."

After that, the winning director was announced, and as expected, Shannon got the honorary award for best director with The Fog.

Shannon got on the stage to receive the award and delivered his speech. "Thank you to all of you who are here, all of the guests, and the actors I worked with on The Fog. All of you are the best!

"Without you, I wouldn't be able to stand here. Of course, I'd like to thank my production team and two other people, both of whom are familiar to you, Ms. Vanderbilt and Mr. Knowles.

"When we were shooting in Coralia, we encountered a blizzard and were left in the snow because our car broke down. It was Daise and Mr. Knowles who gave their car to the production team so they could evacuate with their equipment while they stayed with us through the blizzard."

1/2

Everyone in the audience's seats fell silent.

Shannon gripped his trophy tightly and continued. "Although we faced a lot of problems during the shooting, we still made it in the end and were able to get such a positive response from everyone. This isn't my own effort but the joint effort of all the crew members and cast. I would like to thank everyone for that."

After he finished speaking, he made a bow at the audience, and a thunderous round of applause erupted. After the other director awards were announced, it was time for the actor awards. There were more than ten nominated actors. Some of them were veteran actors, while others were experienced actors. Even Howard and Daise, who couldn't attend the festival because of her pregnancy, were nominated.

The host flipped to the last page and said, "Seems like we still have one more winner, and this is surprising. This nominee will receive an award for the first time. He's able to get approval from the public for his first movie, so I'm sure he must've put in a lot of effort."

Chapter 2697

Everyone turned their heads and focused on James. Even James himself was stunned.

"Since we're going to surprise him, we decided to put his name at the end of the list. Come, let's give Mr. Tell a round of applause to congratulate him for winning the Best Actor award for his first movie, The Fog!”

James rose to his feet in disbelief as everyone applauded. Hannah pushed him and said, “What are you still waiting for? Hurry up!”

James’s head was blank as he walked onto the stage. After he took over the award, he would give a speech. However, he was silent for a long time and blurted out, “I’m not dreaming, am I?”

Everyone in the audience seats chuckled.

The host laughed and said, “You’re a real actor now, Mr. Tell. Since you can receive this award, it means that everyone has acknowledged you. This isn’t a dream.”

“I... I don’t know what to say,” said James, his voice thick with disbelief. “I feel like the sun has risen from the west. Even now, I still can’t believe I won the award. I know I’m not a good actor, and my manager thinks I’m no good, but I’m grateful that he didn’t give up on me.”

After he finished speaking, he fell silent for a moment before continuing. “If I want to thank someone, the first person I want to thank is my manager. Although he isn’t the nicest person in this world to deal with, he’s still a very good guy. Of course, I need to thank Daisy as well. Without her, I wouldn’t be standing here to receive this reward. When I return, I’ll treat her like a god and worship her daily. I’m just kidding. Please don’t take it seriously.”

Sitting at the back, Charlie shook his head as he felt embarrassed due to James’ nonsensical speech. Things did not end after James gave his out-of-the-ordinary speech. He made it to the top search in Google Trends, and even his own fans started to tease him.

They said that he looked like he was walking to the guillotine to accept his death instead of to the stage to receive his award. When he was giving his speech, he sounded like the host was holding him at knifepoint, so he simply whipped up something due to his nervousness.

Soon, Daisy published a post on her Facebook account and tagged him.

#As expected of you, my dear brother.#

James replied by tagging her as well.

#God! Please accept my bow!#

Charlie joined the fray and tagged James.

#Please don’t tell others that you’re one of Tenet Media when you go out later.#

James replied to Charlie by tagging him.

#I’ll just tell them that I’m yours. It’s the same, right?#

All of the netizens were laughing in the comment section of James' Facebook.

#Hahaha, his manager must be so speechless about him.#

#Keep it going, James. If you want to be successful, Daisy is your only option!# #Don't worry. Daisy will cover you!#

#He's a handsome young man when he isn't speaking, but when he opens his mouth... He becomes a completely different person.#

At Taylorton...

Daisy was laughing while scrolling through the comments. Suddenly, she felt a pang in her stomach, and Nollace hastily put down the milk in his hand. He walked over to her and asked, "What happened?"

"My stomach... It hurts... Am I in labor now?" she cried.

Gritting his teeth, Nollace picked her up and rushed out of the room to call for help.

At Bassburgh Obstetrics and Gynecology Hospital...

Freyja, Colton, Maisie, and Nolan had come to the hospital.

When Maisie saw Nollace, she asked, "Is Daisy having labor soon?"

Nollace nodded as he watched worriedly toward the delivery room. Her due date came earlier than expected, and he was afraid that something might happen.

Freyja comforted him. "Don't worry. Daisy will be fine."

Chapter 2698

Nobody knew what was going on in the delivery room. Maisie and Nolan were worried about Daisy, while Freyja and Colton were waiting with bated breaths.

Nollace was pacing back and forth in the corridor.

He knew that labor was a dangerous process. Even though medical technology nowadays was advanced, the women giving birth would suffer more or less.

Two hours later, the doctor came out of the delivery room. All of them gathered around him and asked, "

How is she now?"

The doctor was stunned for a moment, but he soon came around to his senses and asked, "Are you all her family members?"

“Yeah.”

Nollace hastily pressed on. “How is my wife?”

“The baby is too big for vaginal delivery, so we have no other choice but to perform the cesarean section. We need one of you to sign the consent form.”

Nollace suddenly grabbed the doctor by his collar. Veins were bulging out of his forehead as he said, “I want to go inside. I want to stay by her side.”

The doctor hesitated.

Sensing the doctor’s hesitation, Nolan stepped forward and said sternly, “He’s my daughter’s husband, so let him in. I’ll sign the consent form.”

He took over the form and signed his name on it. “Time is of the essence. Our priority right now is to save my daughter. Hurry up and start the operation!”

Nollace followed the doctor and changed into a protective suit. After that, he walked into the delivery room. When he saw that Daisie’s face was pale and she was so exhausted that she couldn’t even cry or scream anymore, he felt a clutch at his heart.

He walked forward and grabbed Daisie’s hand. “Don’t worry. I’m here.”

Daisie offered him a weak smile when she saw who he was. Her voice was hoarse when she said, “I look very ugly now, right?”

Seeing that she was worried about her own appearance instead of shouting in pain, Nollace wiped the sweat from her cheeks with his palm and smiled with his eyes red. “Of course not. You’re the most beautiful woman I’ve ever seen.”

The doctor injected her with anesthesia, and Daisie fell unconscious soon after.

Nollace went to the next room during the operation. When he heard the cry of the baby, he clenched his fist.

The doctor came out of the delivery room and smiled at them. “Congratulations, you have triplets, and all of them are boys.”

Everyone present was stunned.

Maisie and Nolan looked at each other and asked, “I thought it was twins?”

The doctor replied, “We’ve come across a few similar cases where we clinically thought it was twins but turned out to be triplets instead. However, the possibility is so slight, we’re surprised as well.”

1/2

Maisie covered her mouth and smiled, her eyes red. “Maybe this is the will of God.”

It was naturally a good thing that they were bestowed with an extra baby.

By the time Daisy woke up, it was already nighttime. When she saw Maisie and Nolan, she called out to them. "Mom..."

Maisie caressed her cheek and said, "You're finally awake. Does it hurt?"

"No. I think it's because the anesthesia hasn't gone off yet." Daisy turned her head to look around and asked, "Where are the babies? Are they twins?"

Nolan tucked her in and replied, "You had triplets. All of them are boys. Cole and Freyja are watching over them in the labor room."

"Triplets? All of them are boys?"

Daisy was stunned.

Maisie chuckled. "Yeah. What's the matter? Were you expecting a baby girl?"

Daisy was caught between tears and laughter. "I went through so much pain, and in the end, it's triplets? What's more, all of them are baby boys!?"

Did this mean that she had prepared all the dresses and dolls for her baby for nothing?

Nollace appeared outside of the ward. Maisie patted Nolan, and they exited the ward first.

Daisy looked at Nollace and pouted. "Are you disappointed that you don't have a daughter?"

Nollace walked up to her and sat on the chair. He grabbed her hand and said in a hoarse voice, "No. I'm not disappointed. Daisy, I... I thought I was going to lose you."

She froze for a moment. When she saw his reddened eyes, she chuckled. "What are you talking about? I won't leave either you or our babies."

Chapter 2699

Nollace placed her hand on his lips and chuckled. "Yeah. It took you such a great effort to give birth to them. If they dare to disrespect you in the future, I'll beat them up."

Daisy laughed. "They'll be as good-looking and smart as you. I don't think I can bring myself to beat them."

A week later, the news of Daisy giving birth to triplets swept through Bassburgh. All of her fans were excited and sent their blessings to her. Even Cameron and Waylon also rushed back to Bassburgh to see Daisy.

Inside the ward, Cameron looked at the three swaddled babies in the crib. She couldn't help herself and poked their faces. "I can't believe you actually gave birth to triplets, Daisie. You're so awesome."

Daisie let out a bitter smile and said, "It would be even better if one of them was a baby girl like my mom's case. I bought so many dresses and dolls, but all of them have gone to waste now."

Although she kept saying that she wanted a baby girl, she still adored her three sons very much whenever she looked at them.

Waylon stretched his arm and petted her like he used to do in the past. "Alright. It doesn't matter if it's a baby boy or girl. What matters the most is that all of you are safe."

She offered Waylon a smile and said, "Thank you, Waylon."

Nollace and Colton bought a variety of nutritional products and fruits, which filled the ward to the brim.

When Colton saw Waylon and Cameron, he was stunned. "Wayne? When did you two come back?"

Waylon looked at him and replied, "Naturally, my sister has given birth to triplets. Cam and I had to come back."

"Goddess Daisie, I've come to see you!"

James barged into the ward with his hands full of gifts. When he saw there were so many people in the ward, he froze.

Everyone turned their heads around and looked at him.

It was only now that Daisie remembered the things that James had said to them during their dinner with Shannon and the crew of The Fog. She looked at him gloomily and said, "It's such a waste that you don't go become a psychic. You're so talented at it."

James did not know why Nollace and Daisie were looking at him like they were going to kill him. He gulped and said, "What did I do? I just said that I'd worship you like a god. Why are you asking me to become a psychic?"

Cameron blinked and stood at the side with Waylon and Colton.

Daisie snorted and turned her head away. "You said my husband wouldn't get a daughter, and look, all of my babies are boys."

It was only now that James remembered he had said something like that before.

"Both are baby boys?" he asked.

"Three." Nollace lifted his eyelids and shot daggers at him. "It's all thanks to you."

"T-Three?"

James turned his head around to look at the three swaddled babies in the crib. He hastily put the gifts on the floor and walked over to have a look at them. "Oh my, it's real. You two are so lucky. Do you know how many people want to get three sons? You should feel grateful about it."

Nollace took a deep breath and turned his head away.

The corner of Daisie's lips twitched, and she said, "You owe me a daughter, James. Make sure you have a daughter in the future and marry her to my son. Otherwise, I'll beat the hell out of you."

James was stunned. "B-But I don't have a girlfriend yet."

Waylon and Colton placed their hands on his shoulder and chimed in. "We can introduce some to you if you want."

James shrunk. "N-No thanks..."

'Help me!!!' he shouted inwardly.

Two days later, when Diana received news from Zlokovia that her daughter-in-law had given birth to triplets, she hoped she could throw everything aside and visit Daisie.

"Argh, I want to see Daisie so badly! If possible, I wish I could step down and leave. Why didn't my father have a son? This is so frustrating!"

Diana was upset. She just wanted to see Daisie and her grandsons right now.

Chapter 2700

If Diana were not the queen, she would have gone to see her daughter-in-law now.

Rick, sitting beside her, let out a helpless smile and closed the book. "If you really want to see them so much, you can just make a video call with Nollace."

Diana jerked up and said, "Then what are you still waiting for?"

Meanwhile, at Taylorton...

Nollace was learning how to change the baby's diaper with the nanny when he suddenly received a phone call from his mother. He stepped aside and picked up the call. "Mom?"

"I want to see my daughter-in-law and my grandsons now!" Diana shouted at the top of her lungs, causing Nollace to bring the phone away from his ear to save himself from the shouting.

He frowned and answered helplessly, "Alright, alright."

Daisie was in the next room and heard Diana's voice. She came out and asked, "Is that Mom?"

When Diana saw Daisie through the video call, she got up anxiously and said, "Daisie, how can you get out of bed? You just had an operation. You need to rest more. Look how skinny you've become. I'm so worried about you."

The corner of Daisie's lips twitched.

Although she had lost some weight after labor, she was eight pounds heavier than in the past. Apparently, in all mothers' eyes, their daughters were skinny.

"I'm fine, Mom. The incision doesn't hurt that much anymore, so I can get out of bed today."

"No, listen to me, you're not fine. You need to get a lot of rest after giving birth. Or else, you'll get sick easily in the future." After Diana finished talking, her face sank, and she shouted, "Nollace!"

Nollace turned the camera to himself and replied helplessly, "Yes, Mom?"

"Remember to take good care of Daisie. If not, you don't have to come back anymore. Okay, show me my grandsons now."

Nollace was rendered speechless.

Inside the baby room, Diana touched the screen as she looked at her grandsons through the phone. "Oh my, my grandsons are so adorable. I wish I could hold them now."

Rick came over and said, "Where are my grandsons? Let me see."

Both of them placed their faces very close to the screen as they observed their grandsons.

Nollace put his phone away and said, "Alright, that's enough. I'm hanging up."

"Hey, wait-"

Before Diana could finish her sentence, Nollace hung up the call. He still had to practice how to change the diapers for the three rugrats, so he did not have time to entertain Diana now.

Standing at the door, Daisie chuckled. "It seems like someone is working very hard on how to become a good father."

Nollace laughed. "Well, I can't let them torture you anyway."

Daisie walked up to him and kissed his cheek. He was slightly stunned and raised his head.

She smiled and said, "Thank you for your hard work, honey."

"Is this my reward?"

"Of course."

Nollace landed a kiss on her lips. After a short while, he left her lips and said, "I want a reward like this." When they heard the doorbell, Daisy walked out of the room and looked downstairs. "You guys are here." Waylon and Colton were walking at the front, while Cameron and Freyja were walking at the back. All of them were holding a lot of things in their hands.

The maids in the living room took over all of the stuff. All of them were baby products, such as milk powder, diapers, and so on.

Daisy walked downstairs and said, "You guys bought so many things again. I don't have a place to keep them anymore."

Cameron chuckled. "Freyja said raising a baby can be expensive, let alone you have three. All of these are chosen for you by Freyja."

After all, Freyja was the first one among them to become a mother.

Daisy walked up to Freyja and grabbed her hand. "Thank you so much, Freyja."

Freyja replied, "Don't mention it."