

Almighty DG 847

Chapter 847

The Emperor was finally dead.

James chose to simply put an end to things with the Blade of Justice as he wanted to avoid providing an opportunity for the Emperor to escape.

He knew that had the Emperor been put on trial beforehand, the man would have used one of the tricks up his sleeve to evade the justice of the law.

Not only was he a powerful man with connections at every level of society, but the Emperor also had the Johnstons supporting him from behind the scenes.

Every turn of his mission to kill the Emperor was full of obstacles.

He never expected that the Johnstons would have the audacity to bar his path and go so far as to even attack the Black Dragon Army.

These were serious offenses against the law.

The Emperor's body was brought back to the military region.

In a military region of the Capital...

The Black Dragon Army returned after carrying out their mission successfully.

James personally saw to their injuries.

lives were not at risk After treating their injuries, James chose to immediately

At Peace Mansion...

night crept by at a slow and agonizing pace for

up by the stood by

received word that James had successfully carried out the Emperor's execution.The hearing the fortuitous news, place in an attempt to cover for him.How did James manage to kill the

his head in specifics are still unclear.We'll need to wait for James to arrive and debrief us.He should

see.Let us

later, James finally

a seat in front of the King, opting to put the usual

handed

it up from the King and lit it with his

king asked with great trepidation in his voice, was well protected by highly skilled fighters. It was a stroke of good fortune that you lent me a hand at the right moment. Otherwise, everything would have fallen apart

"Huh?"

at the unexpected

James had assistance...

To his best knowledge, he did not offer or send any additional help James'