Chapter 852

James attempted to stand once more but had great difficulty doing so. His heart was gripped with trepidation. He did not expect that the woman who looked no different from any ordinary woman would turn out to be this strong.

Rain, the woman, smiled at James suggestively and uttered a few words of fake praise at him, "Not bad. You're still managing to stand after taking one of my blows directly. Unfortunately for you, I was only using 30% of my strength back there. I wonder if you'll still be in one piece after I strike you with 50% of my strength."

As she said that, she readied herself once again and charged forward.

James clenched his fists and also leaped at her.

Their fists collided.

The moment their fists made impact with each other, James felt as if he had been struck by lightning. His arm was paralyzed, and the Blood Energy within his body felt like it boiled over.

Shortly after, he coughed out another huge mouthful of blood.

The sheer force sent him flying once again and made him collapse on the ground.

This time, however, he was unable to get back up.

Upon witnessing this, the soldiers in the distance looked at one another in horror.

They did not dare intervene.

Kennedy grinned smugly.

"Pathetic... Take him."
