

Chapter 659

“As long as Willow stays with the Quinn family, the promise made by Old Madam Quinn will always be valid.

"Aunt Fion is not easy to deal with. She will bring this matter up at any possible opportunity.”

Faye said coldly as she folded her arms in front of her chest.

“Faye is right.”

Simon’s father immediately glanced at Faye, impressed.

“Meaning that we should drive Willow out of the Quinn family as well?”

“But Old Madam Quinn...”

Samuel frowned again.

Of course, he would have no objection to driving away Willow.

However, Willow had just saved the Quinn family.

Willow.

Right now, Old Madam Quinn was heavily favoring

Therefore, Old Madam Quinn would definitely put a stop to all attempts to drive Willow away.

“Brother, we’re just helping you analyze it. As for what you want to do, it’s up to you.”

Simon’s father gave Samuel a meaningful look.

“Besides, you’re the chairman of the company, so it’s not difficult for you to take action, right?”

“It’s also not so difficult to not let Old Madam Quinn know, right?”

Simon’s father reminded him again.

Samuel squinted slightly. Hearing this, he already had some plans.

“Hmph! Enough.

“You are all people I trust, so I'll just say it straight.

“The position of the head of the Quinn family can only be taken by me. Willow can't and you'd better not have your eyes on this position.

“Otherwise, don't blame me for no longer treating you as family.”

Samuel's remarks carried a deep threat.

He had to make these crude remarks clear to Simon and the others in advance.

Otherwise, once he went all out against Willow's family, if Simon and the rest took the opportunity to do something behind his back, this would get him into trouble.

“Uncle, don't worry.

“We all offended Willow, so of course, we'll always stand by your side.”

Simon and Faye immediately stood up and expressed their loyalty.

Hearing this, Samuel only nodded slightly and started to think about the plan in his heart.

“Uncle, I'll talk to you later, I need to go out and make a phone call.”

Simon did not forget Quill Zimmer at this time. He immediately picked up his mobile phone and went out to call Quill.

He thought that the matter here must be reported to Quill.

Zimmer Corporation. In the chairman's office.

While sitting on the sofa, Quill flirted with Jon

Zimmer's secretary.

The secretary was wearing a professional uniform with two buttons left unbuttoned on the neckline as if her breasts were almost exposed at the scooped neck of her uniform.

Furthermore, with the black sheer stockings with patterns on her long legs, her legs looked extraordinarily slender.

While looking at the secretary, Quill was thinking about what reason to take the secretary out for a stroll.

At this time, Jon was looking at the grandfather clock in front of him with his hands behind his back.

This glossy black grandfather clock gave people a depressing feeling.

Coupled with the harsh sound of the clock ticking, it was even more creepy.

This clock was the one that Sean sent him as a gift.

It had been placed in Jon's office for a few days.

Jon also wanted to find someone to help him smash the clock and throw it into the junkyard.

However, for some reason, he actually held back after thinking about Sean's expression and tone at that time.

“Dad, stop looking at it.

“Just do as I say, smash it and throw it in the garbage bin.

“Could it be that you were really frightened by that loser Sean?”

Quill pouted and said as he glanced at Jon. “Hmph! You know nothing!

“Since he said he’ll give us a week, then I’ll see what he’s going to do.

“I’ll let him take back the things he sent over in person.”

Jon snorted coldly with a gloomy expression.

Sean actually sent him a glossy black grandfather clock as a gift?

He absolutely would like Sean to take it back in person.

“Dad, don't waste your time on this loser.

“The Quinn family will finish their meeting soon and then they will come to us to talk about marriage.”

When Quill thought of this, he immediately showed a smile.

“She played hard to get when I tried so hard to chase her back then.

“I want to see what kind of attitude she will show when she comes to me this time.”

The more Quill thought about it, the happier he felt.

"It won't go wrong this time, will it?"

"Last time, you screwed up."

Jon thought for a while, then frowned at Quill and spoke.

"Dad, that time was Wade Yancey's fault!"

"I just scolded him a little and he dared to fool me!"

"If he is smart, he'd better not come back to Dragon Kingdom for the rest of his life, or I'll definitely kill him!"

Whenever this matter was mentioned, Quill would get angry.

Jon did not want to talk about Wade Yancey, he just frowned and asked,

"Will things be okay without Wade Yancey this time? "Dad, of course! Are you still thinking about this?"

"I don't know why the lunatic Reach For Will Group is holding on to the Zimmer family and the Quinn family.

"Don't talk about Willow's ability, even if Old Master Quinn climbed out of his grave, I'm afraid he won't be able to solve this matter as well."

Quill's face was full of disdain. He was extremely sure that Willow would fail.

Moreover, he thought that after the meeting of the Quinn family today, Old Madam Quinn would definitely take the initiative to find the Zimmer family to discuss the marriage between Willow and him.
