

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2781

Chapter 2781—Elliot saw Eric, all kinds of cold instruments were placed in him, just looking at him, he felt cold to the bone.

If in the future, Eric suffered from an incurable disease, Elliot didn't want Avery to take the trouble to save him.

Now that Elliot knew that the ending couldn't be changed, just accept it calmly.

Layla understood what Elliot meant, so she stopped.

Surgery was scheduled for a week later.

In Bridgedale, the temperature was dropping rapidly. It snowed either heavily or lightly every day. There were strong winds now and then when it wasn't snowing.

They always felt that this winter was extremely cold and difficult.

They didn't freeze, even if they remained in the heating room all day.

Nervousness and fear increased as the surgery date neared.

Avery wanted to make the atmosphere more lively for dinner because she noticed that no one was in the mood to eat.

"Have you prepared any gifts for Eric?" Avery asked.

Eric's parents also lived in Avery's house.

Originally, the two of them wanted to live in a hotel, but Layla let them live with her, so that they could take care of her.

The two elders did not shirk.

After all, Avery also lived here.

Avery went to the hospital every day and knew Eric's situation best.

After hearing what her mother said, Layla answered immediately: "I'll buy it after dinner. Mom, will he be able to wake up after the operation is successful?"

Avery nodded: "So I asked you if you have prepared a gift."

Layla: "Is it possible for Eric to lose his memory? After all, he used someone else's heart."

“How is it possible! Even if his memory were to be lost, it wouldn’t be as a result of the heart transplant procedure. Memory storage is a brain function. It makes sense that he wouldn’t have lost his memory if there hadn’t been a violent collision.” Avery answered his daughter’s doubts.

“That’s good.” Layla continued to ask, “How soon will he wake up after the operation?”

Avery: “If there are no accidents, he should wake up within 24 hours.”

Layla: “Then we can talk to him soon?”

“He’s relatively weak after the operation. Let’s not quarrel with him.” Avery reminded, “After dinner, Layla, take Eric’s parents for a walk so they can relax. I have to go to the hospital later. Also, it’s very cold outside today, so be sure to dress warmly if you go outside.”

“Okay. Mom, take care of your body too.” Layla looked at her mother’s thin face, feeling very guilty.

If it wasn’t for the trouble she caused, her mother wouldn’t have stayed in Bridgedale for so long, let alone expending so much energy on Eric’s affairs.

“Eat quickly! If you don’t eat, the food will be cold.” Avery said, looking at Eric’s parents, “Don’t worry about Eric.”

The next day.

The surgery went on as scheduled.

Elliot and Layla stood outside the door of the operating room, while Eric’s parents sat on the bench outside.

Time passed by every minute...

the operation started at 10 o’clock in the morning. Until 12 o’clock at noon, the door of the operating room was still closed.

Mike brought them lunch and persuaded them to eat.

“I don’t have an appetite... wait until the operation is over.” Layla looked at the monitor above the operating room, which read: In operation.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2782

Chapter 2782–“What about you?” Mike looked at Elliot, “You have a gastric ulcer. Your wife ought to feel bad for you if you don’t eat when you eventually get sick.”

When Mike said this, Layla immediately looked at them.

“Let’s eat!” Layla was afraid that if she didn’t eat, the others would follow suit.

She was still young, so it’s acceptable to experience temporary hunger, but Eric’s parents were also ageing and her father had a gastric ulcer.

After a brief lunch, everyone continued to wait outside the operating room.

“Take it easy, the operation will definitely be fine.” Mike leaned against the window, seeing them all looking solemn and depressed, so he advised them, “This is Bridgedale’s top private hospital, and the surgeon is from Bridgedale, the most skilled heart surgeon. Bridgedale’s medical level is world-class. Is it possible that this operation will fail?”

Layla heard this and interrupted him: “Uncle Mike, my mother always said you have a crow’s mouth.”

Mike: “???”

Layla: “So don’t talk about it. The more you talk about it, the more nervous I get.”

Mike scratched his head in embarrassment: “Okay, I don’t say it. But your mother told me that it was a long time ago, how do you still remember?”

Layla: “I don’t have amnesia. I may not remember things before I was five years old, but I still have memories of things after I was a little older. You used to have a crow’s mouth, and my mother always said you.”

Mike : “I’m not a crow’s mouth anymore.”

Layla: “Then don’t say it. If you have to talk, then say something else.”

Mike put his arms around his chest and his chin in the other. After thinking for a while, he asked : “After his surgery, will you go back to Aryadelle or stay in Bridgedale?”

“I can’t go back to Aryadelle. I’ll stay here first after his surgery. I’ll wait to see how he recovers before returning to Aryadelle.” Layla replied without thinking.

“So you haven’t been working for a while?” Mike asked.

“I can work from home. I know that I am the boss of the Tate Industries now, so you don’t need to remind me.” Layla said. She had been under a lot of pressure recently.

On the one hand, she was worried about Eric’s surgery, and on the other hand, she had to find time to deal with the company’s affairs.

Even if she was not employed by the company, the heads of all departments would report to her.

“Aren’t you worried that you are too tired?” Mike looked distressed.

Layla: “I’m not tired. As long as the operation is successful, I won’t be tired no matter how busy I am.”

An hour later, the operating room’s overhead lights suddenly stopped.

The surgery was over.

After a while, the door of the operating room opened slowly, and Eric was transferred to the intensive care unit for monitoring and treatment.

Layla only glanced at Eric hastily.

Eric was in a coma, breathing oxygen, had a pale face, closed eyes, and was lying on a hospital bed.

He had to remain in the intensive care unit without any visitors until he woke up.

Fortunately, heart transplant surgery usually woke up within 24 hours. This time, he won’t be in intensive care for long.

When Elliot saw Avery coming out, he immediately stepped forward.

“The operation goes well.” Avery’s heart sank, “He ought to be able to wake up at the latest tomorrow, barring any mishaps.”

Everyone heaved a sigh of relief.

“Honey, you’ve worked hard. I’ll take you to dinner.” Elliot held Avery’s hand, knowing that she must be very hungry now.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2783

Chapter 2783—Avery hadn’t eaten much in the morning. Because of her personal habits, eating too much made her prone to feeling lightheaded and sleepy, whereas maintaining a healthy level of hunger would keep her mind sharp.

“Have you eaten?” Avery asked.

“We ate. It’s past one o’clock in the afternoon now.” Elliot replied, “Layla, take Eric’s parents back to rest! When he wakes up, the hospital will notify you.”

After all, Eric's parents wanted to stay in the hospital until he woke up. The doctor said that could happen in 24 hours.

"It's inconvenient to wait here. In addition to other family members, there are medical staffs who work in his care. Let's go home and wait!" Layla persuaded in a low voice, "You can take a nap when you go back."

The two elders were now more able to listen to Layla's words.

Like them, Layla sincerely hoped that Eric would wake up soon.

Furthermore, after Eric woke up, his health would definitely not be as good as before, and the two elders also hoped that there would be someone to take care of their son in the future.

.....

Elliot took Avery to a restaurant near the hospital for dinner.

Elliot ate an hour ago, so he ate with Avery now.

"Can I go back to celebrate the New Year this year?" Elliot asked.

"Not sure. It depends on Eric's recovery. If he recovers well, he should be able to return to Aryadelle." Avery suppressed her hunger after eating two mouthfuls.

She picked up the water glass, took a sip of water, and looked at Elliot: "Want to go home?"

"Robert took Hazel to my company." Elliot said this, "I don't know what they two are thinking."

Avery couldn't help laughing: "Did the two of them go secretly?"

"Yeah. But they were discovered when they went. Basically everyone in my company knows Robert." Elliot also picked up the water glass and took a sip of water, "But they didn't tell me, and I didn't ask."

"Maybe they just passed by your company, so they went in to have a look. Hazel probably didn't dare to go, Robert must have brought her in." Avery analyzed.

"Hazel doesn't want to reveal her identity, she can't get in at all." Elliot guessed, "I guess Robert wants Hazel to work in my company after graduation. Then he will be free."

"If Hazel is willing, that's good!" Avery's attitude was that whether Robert would like to stay by their side was actually not that important, what was more important was that Hazel was willing to stay by their side, which was also very good.

Furthermore, Avery felt that Robert would not work hard like Hayden.

Robert shouldn't be too far from Sterling Group even if he didn't work for them in the future.

"My daughter is still young, let's talk about it after she graduates. I don't want to put too much pressure on her." Elliot said fondly.

Avery couldn't help laughing: "It's really early to talk about this now. Don't put too much pressure on yourself. Health is the most important thing in life. We are healthy now, and God treats us well."

After eating outside, Elliot suggested going for a walk outside.

It was cold outside today, but they both wore thick coats.

"I didn't expect you to come." Avery held Elliot's hand, and the two walked slowly along the river.

It was quite windy by the river, but the two of them had just eaten, so it wasn't cold.

"Why didn't you think of it? We haven't been separated for such a long time." Elliot squeezed her hand a little bit, "I also told the children that I came here because I missed you."

"Aren't you ashamed?" Avery blushed, her heart was sweet.

"There's nothing to be ashamed about. Our four children are all grown-ups." Elliot teased, "I think they should see more about the benefits of marriage. Otherwise, one, two, and three will not find a partner, and they will all be celibate and no grandchildren will be able to hug us in the future."