

I'm A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1609

Chapter 1609

Northwest of the Central Sacred Continent.

A merchant ship was slowly advancing high in the sky.

It was the merchant ship of the Jung family where David was.

Lou brought Willie to apologize, but David ignored it and let Marlee take care of everything.

Afterward, Marlee came to David to report the situation, but David also refused.

He would let Marlee keep all the benefits since he would not need any.

The merchant ship continued to drive towards the trade zone.

As they got closer and closer to their destination.

More merchant ships gathered around.

However, everyone was going their own way without any communication.

In reality, when David and Lou used the Eternal Golden Body to fight, many nearby merchant ships sensed

However, none of them gathered to watch the show.

Everyone had responsibilities, so who would come to watch?

If they were affected by the battle of Eternals, the consequences would be disastrous.

Even if it was a merchant ship with an Eternal in charge, they would still not come to join in the fun to avoid any accidents.

Thus, almost all merchant ships had ignored David's battle and continued on their way.

Five days later.

"Miss, Miss, we are here!" Someone shouted excitedly.

Marlee immediately went to the control room upon hearing this.

As she looked from the merchant ship's control room, she saw that there was indeed a huge building complex below. Various small vehicles were also flying at low altitudes.

Even from the high altitude where the merchant ship was located, there was no end to them in sight.

This trade zone was huge, and it seemed endless!

Many merchant ships in the sky began to lower their altitude.

Their destination was also this large trade zone.

"Let's land," Marlee also shouted excitedly.

They had finally arrived at the large trading zone that Remy mentioned.

Here, she could exchange all the raw ores on the merchant ship for money.

She would not need to worry about being robbed anymore

Although she had David, an Eternal, so the possibility of them getting robbed was very small, she would not feel safe if the money was not in her pocket

"Yes, Miss!"

The merchant ship began to descend slowly.

Throughout the Central Sacred Continent, there were hundreds of thousands of trade zones, large and small, and they were scattered at every corner of the Central Sacred Continent.

These trade zones were divided into four grades in total.

From small to large, they were small trade zones, medium trade zones, large trade zones, and super-large trade zones.

There were only five super-large trade zones in the Central Sacred Continent.

One in each of the four directions, north, south, east, west, and the last one in the center.

On the other hand, there were many large trade zones.

Most of them were small trade zones though, accounting for more than 98% of the available trading space.

The trade zone that David and the others arrived at was a large one.

Only a large trading zone had the headquarters of large trading companies like Treasure Trove.

Both the medium trade zone and the small trade zone only had branches.

One would not be cheated in the branches since a big trading company like Treasure Trove would have strict demands for its staff regardless of whether it was the headquarters or branches so as not to affect their reputation.

However, the appraisers in the branches were limited, so they sometimes could not fully appraise the value of an item.

Therefore, everyone generally preferred the large trading zones.

This was also what Remy recommended at the beginning.

Some small trade zones and medium trade zones were closer, but Remy ignored all of them.

However, Remy did not know that Marlee had a daughter at that time. If not, he would not have put so much effort into helping Marlee.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I'm A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1610

Chapter 1610

The merchant ship descended to a low altitude and immediately, a ship approached.

A young man's voice came from inside.

"Hello, I am the navigator of this large trade zone. If you need anything, just ask me. I know this place very well."

Upon seeing the word 'Central' engraved on the other party's ship, Marlee felt relieved.

If they were another swindler like Willie, there would not be the word 'Central' on their ship.

This was a means of transportation that only staff members recognized by the Central Sacred Continent officials could drive.

Anyone impersonating them would definitely be severely punished if caught.

Over here, no one dared to violate the authority of the Central Sacred Continent.

“Thank you, my Lord. We want to go to the headquarters of Treasure Trove, but I don’t know where it is,” Marlee asked politely.

“Ma’am, don’t call me that. I’m just a little navigator, and I am not worthy to be called that. I don’t deserve it and I’ll be punished if my superior overhears this,” the other party immediately panicked and said. “Judging from your voice, you don’t sound very old, so I’ll just call you my little friend,” Marlee thought for a while, then changed her words.

“Okay! Ma’am, this is the first time you’re here at the Central Sacred Continent, right?”

“Yes! We are indeed visiting the Central Sacred Continent for the first time.”

“No wonder! I can show you the way if you want to go to Treasure Trove.”

“Thank you for your time then, my friend.”

“You’re too humble, Ma’am. My work here is to serve everyone who comes here to trade so that you can come and return happily. Please come with me.”

“By the way, how much will this cost me?” Marlee could not help asking.

With her previous experience with Willie, she was still a little worried that she would be cheated.

Now that she was here, Marlee could still find Treasure Trove’s headquarters even without a guide, but it would be time-consuming.

She did not want to spend money on this.

“Ma’am, you misunderstood. We don’t charge any fees.”

“I see! Thank you, my friend.”

The merchant ship followed the navigator all the way, and it did not take long for them to arrive in front of a huge manor.

The words ‘Treasure Trove’ was written on the signboard of the manor.

When they got here, the navigator took his leave.

His responsibilities were taken over by a woman from Treasure Trove.

The merchant ship was arranged to park inside the manor.

1

David and Marlee disembarked to meet the steward from Treasure Trove.

Marlee was going to discuss the deal, and David was going to ask if Treasure Trove would hold an auction soon.

This was currently David's biggest concern.

It was related to whether he could improve his strength in a short time.

The two were brought into a room and were welcomed by an old man.

Next to the old man stood a veiled young woman.

Although David and Marlee could not see the woman's face clearly, judging from her figure, they could confirm that she was stunning.

The moment he saw the old man, David felt the powerful energy from him.

Although the old man did not show it on purpose, David's keen senses still detected it.

'This old man's energy was not much weaker than Celeste's.

'He's a Sovereign Ranker,

'The veiled woman's strength is not weak either. She's definitely not inferior to Lou, who I just fought.

'The key is that this woman is also young!'

David hid his mind power.

Sovereign Rankers could cultivate mind power, so if the old man knew that David had mind power, it would be troublesome.

Right now, he was no match for Sovereign Rankers at all.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I'm A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1611

Chapter 1611

“Please sit down, my guests,” the old man said.

“You’re too kind, Sir,” Marlee said respectfully.

Then, she sat down with David.

The veiled woman poured a cup of tea for each of them.

Her behavior took David by surprise.

‘Is Treasure Trove so extravagant?’

‘They even ask a mid-Ruler Ranker to serve their guests.’

‘Plus, she’s also so young.’

“May I know if you’re here to buy or sell?” The old man continued to ask after drinking a cup of tea.

“Sir, I want to sell some goods to Treasure Trove. I wonder if you will accept them.” Marlee asked back.

“Miss, you’re hilarious. As long as it is valuable, there is nothing Treasure Trove won’t accept,” the old man replied with a smile.

“Then I want to sell some ores to your trading company.”

“What ores?”

“Ores for refining weapons. Raw nuclear magnetic ores.”

“Oh? Raw nuclear magnetic ores? How many?”

“The whole ship’s cargo weighs about 3 million kg.”

“According to the market price of raw nuclear magnetic ores, one kg ranges from 1900 to 2000 Star Dollars. Since you have 3 million kg, then I will give you the highest price in the market, which is 2000 Star Dollars per kilogram. Hence, 3 million kg will be 6 billion Star Dollars. What do you think?” The old man said casually.

‘6 b-billion Star Dollars?’

Marlee was dumbfounded.

If she sold 3 million kilograms of raw nuclear magnetic ore to those big trading companies at Green Apollo, they would only be worth two to three hundred million Star Dollars.

She thought they would be worth more if they were shipped to the Central Sacred Continent and she could get a couple of billion.

However, she did not expect them to be worth twenty times more. Six billion Star Dollars?

How high was the middleman's profit?

Of course, high profits also came with high risks.

If they were not careful, not only would the goods not be delivered, but they might even lose their lives.

If they had not met David, their merchant ship would have long been robbed by the space pirates

If they did not have a choice, Marlee would not want to do it again even with hundreds of times the profit.

When the old man saw Marlee cting silent, he said, "Why? Do you think the price is too low? I can assure you that the price offered by Treasure Trove is definitely the highest. If you don't believe me, you can go and ask around before deciding whether to sell or not."

Marlee was pulled back by the old man's voice.

She hurriedly said, "No, no, no! You misunderstood. I was thinking of something else and my mind was distracted. I don't need to go out and check further. I've decided to sell them to Treasure Trove."

"What about the price? Any objections?"

"No!" Marlee shook her head repeatedly.

This was much higher than what she had imagined.

'Sure enough, these big trading companies are fair and just, and they are straight with their customers."

"Since there is no objection, then I will have someone inspect the goods with you. If there are no problem with the goods, we will trade at this price."

“Okay! Don’t worry, Sir, the quality of the goods I brought is of top quality and is not adulterated,” Marlee assured.

Why would she adulterate the goods she risked her life to transport across 180000 cosmic kilometers? Wouldn’t she be fooling around with her life?

“Then let’s have a happy cooperation! Next time you have something good, you must sell it to us,” the old man said with a smile.

He had a good eye.

It was obvious at a glance that the two people in front of them were visiting the Central Sacred Continent. for the first time.

Plus, they came from very far away and it was unknown which corner of Star Kingdom they came from. Therefore, he did not need to worry about the quality of the goods sent by these people.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I’m A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1612

Chapter 1612

Still, even though this was the case, they should also follow the standard procedure.

The old man then called a middle-aged man over to inspect the goods.

At this time David suddenly said, “Marlee, you should go first! I need to take care of something. I’ll go over later.”

“Alright.”

After Marlee said that, she took the middle-aged man to inspect the goods.

Now, David, the old man, and the veiled woman were the only ones left in the room.

The old man and the veiled woman looked at David curiously. They did not know why he had stayed back.

“Sir, I would like to ask, are there any upcoming auctions happening in Treasure Trove?” David asked with some expectation.

“Auction? Do you want to participate in an auction?” the old man asked suspiciously.

“Yes!”

“There should be quite a lot of auctions in the large trade zone! If you want to participate in one, you can go out and ask those small trading companies.”

“Sir, you misunderstood. I want to participate in the auction held by trading companies that are on the level of Treasure Trove, not those small trading companies.”

“Son, I can understand that you want to gain more experience, but you have to know that every item is priced at sky-high prices in Treasure Trove’s auctions. With all due respect, the six billion Star Dollars that you got from selling the raw nuclear magnetic ores is nothing. The items in the auction all start from tens of billions of Star Dollars,” the old man explained.

He thought David was from somewhere far away in the Star Kingdom and he wanted to participate in a large auction to gain more experience.

Unfortunately, not everyone could participate in those events.

Those who could participate were all the heirs or spokespeople of the major forces of Star Kingdom.

At this time, David was a little excited.

‘Everything starts with tens of billions of Star Dollars?’

‘Those are all lavish points!’

‘If I can get hundreds of lavish points from ordinary goods, wouldn’t it mean I can get hundreds or even thousands of lavish points for the better ones?’

Even casually buying something would cause his strength to rise exponentially.

David suppressed the excitement in his heart and said, “Sir, I want to participate in exactly this kind of auction. I can find what I need over there. Furthermore, Marlee and I are not together, we just met on the way. Since our destination is the Central Sacred Continent, we decided to come together.”

‘Not together?’

The old man began to observe David after hearing that.

He had felt neutral before he closely observed David, but when scrutinized the latter, he was shocked.

He could not see through this guy in front of him.

It was as if there was a layer of fog wrapped tightly around David's body, preventing him from revealing anything.

The old man was a powerful Eternal Realm mid-Sovereign Ranker, but he could not see through a young man.

This kid was not simple!

"I was too careless. My name is Elmer Whitlock. What is your name, son?" The old man asked.

"Old Master Whitlock, you are too modest. My name is David Lidel!!" David replied.

"Oh, David! I wonder what you want to buy. Treasure Trove is one of the top five trading companies in the Central Sacred Continent. We have whatever you need. You don't have to participate in the auction," Elmer said.

"What do I want to buy?"

David was stumped by this question.

He had no idea what he wanted to buy.

He just wanted to spend some money.

He would buy whatever was expensive.

If Elmer wanted him to name what he wanted to buy, David would not be able to do so.

He had just come to Star Kingdom, so he did not understand this place and he did not know what was the most expensive thing available.

However, since Elmer asked him, it seemed inappropriate if he did not answer.

David had to show his wealth, if not, how could the other party let him participate in the large auctions?