

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1627 –

Chapter 1627

“David, I want to ask you, do you have any plans for the future?” Marlee asked bravely

‘Plans for the future?’

David was taken aback by Marlee’s question.

His next plan was naturally to spend more money on the Central Sacred Continent, get more lavish points, and improve his strength.

Then, he would go to the Iridescent Sect and save Celeste from the ice cavern.

Finally, he would go to Nek the Saint to take revenge and show him what it felt to be an ant.

That was David’s plan.

However, he still had a long way to go before it could be realized.

He was just a beginner Ruler Ranker now, so it would take a while before he could get to Saint Realm.

There could be no accidents in between.

However, David could not tell Marlee his plans.

“Why did you ask?” David did not answer but asked rhetorically.

“David, to be honest, I don’t want to go back to the Jung family now. I want to stay in the Central Sacred Continent with Peggy and give her a good childhood, but I can’t do it with my strength, so I wanted to see what your plans are and if there is anything you need me for.”

“Marlee, you don’t want to go back to the Jung family? You want to live here? Can you tell me why?” David asked suspiciously.

He really did not understand what Marlee was thinking.

Should she go back and enjoy being treated like a hero after she risked her life for her family and successfully delivered the goods to the Central Sacred Continent and gained huge benefits?

Why did she not want to go back?

“David, in truth, my status in the Jung family is very awkward. I am to blame for the Jung family’s collapse. As a result, Peggy is disliked by the Jung family. She is often bullied and insulted by other children of the same age. I am afraid that growing up in such an environment will have an impact on Peggy’s character, so I want to wait for Peggy to grow up before returning.

Then Marlee briefly told David about her experience and the cause of the Jung family’s current situation.

David finally understood.

She was a femme fatale!

Once, Marlee was a well-known beauty in her hometown.

Many forces around had eyed her

However, she had her eyes high above her head and did not like any of them. So she went out quietly for a while, but came back pregnant, annoying the surrounding forces

Therefore, they finally united to suppress the Jung family and caused the continuous decline of the Jung family

In the end, they had no choice but to do everything and let Marlee risk her life to make a bet.

David was curious about who Peggy’s father was.

Since Marlee looked down on the direct descendants of those forces around her, the man who could make her pregnant would not be too bad.

So far, Marlee had never mentioned the man who got her pregnant.

‘What untold stories are there?’

David was curious, but since Marlee did not mention it, he would not ask.

Now that the other party had mentioned this.

David was going to implement his plan a little earlier.

Originally, he planned to participate in the auction first, raise his strength to Sovereign Rank, and then gain a certain amount of deterrent power as well as the right to speak.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I'm A Quadrillionaire chapter 1628 –

Chapter 1628

Then, he would set up a trading company

This trading company was the key for him to break through Saint Realm.

No matter how much money he spent, he would not spend as much as a trading company.

David has thought a lot about this.

The newly established trading company was a gold-swallowing beast that needed a steady stream of money for support.

This was what he needed.

David had plenty of money, but his strength was too low.

Therefore, he could not set up a trading company now, and there was no place for him to spend money even if he wanted to.

Judging from their interaction these days, Marlee could be regarded as someone who could be trusted, and David would let her run the trading company when the time came.

It was just like asking Mia to buy the trading company in the Milky Way

David's principle of employing people had always been the same.

Ability was not important. Instead, loyalty was key.

"Marlee, since you've said that, no matter how unkind I am, I won't drive you back. Don't worry! Just stay here and don't worry," David thought for a while and said.

"David, you don't have to force yourself. If you don't need me, then I will take Peggy back. I have brought such great benefits to the Jung family this time so I believe they will not treat us like before," Marlee quickly explained.

"It's settled. Marlee, I'm leaving here in a few days to attend an auction in a super-large trade zone. You can stay here for the time being. During this period of time, you should study carefully how to set up and run a trading company. I will need this information soon."

‘Study how to set up and run a trading company?’

Marlee’s eyes widened suddenly, and she asked in shock, “David, d-do you want to set up a trading company?”

She never thought that David would have such an idea.

Establishing a trading company in the Central Sacred Continent not only required the support of powerful forces, but also a lot of money

This was not something one could do with a little money.

Half of the trading volume of the Central Sacred Continent was controlled by five large trading companies.

Treasure Trove, where Marlee and David were now, was one of the top five trading companies.

The remaining countless small trading companies would split the remaining 50%

Although there was at least half of the pie left, one must know that the total number of small trading companies on the Central Sacred Continent was in the millions or even tens of millions

The survival of these trading companies would not determine how strong they were.

It was because the top five trading companies were not interested in the small trade zone they occupied

The top five trading companies only had branches in medium trade zones.

The 50% share was completely split between millions of small trading companies.

On the Central Sacred Continent, many trading companies went bankrupt every day due to poor management.

Marlee never expected David to want to set up a trading company.

“Exactly! I am free anyway, so I want to set up a trading company for fun,” David replied casually

“David, you have to think twice about this matter. Setting up a trading company is not that simple it requires a lot of money in the early stages,” Marlee persuaded.

She knew that the forces behind David were not weak.

However, he was still young. Where would he get so much money?

“Marlee, don’t worry! I didn’t come up with this idea on a whim. Since I said it, I must have made all the preparations. When we come back from the auction this time, we will start from this large trade zone and set up a trading company. In the future, it will radiate throughout the entire Central Sacred Continent.”

Looking at David’s firm gaze, Marlee knew that anything she said now would be futile, so she stopped persuading David.

A direct descendant of a powerful force like David would never give up unless he encountered significant setbacks.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-