

Chapter 3713

“Another thing: I’ll give you one day to bring me the antidote of the Life Elixir.”

“If I still don’t see the antidote by then, I’ll make sure that you burn!”

“Of course, you don’t have to believe me. You can try resisting, if you like.”

“But if you do, you won’t get anything good out of it...”

“Even if you’re from Golden Palace.”

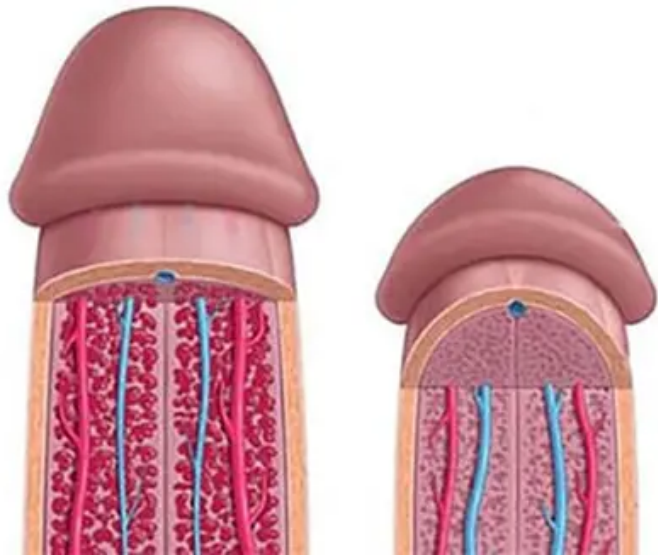

Harvey shot them a cold glare before walking out slowly of the door with his arms crossed.

Koen gritted his teeth when he saw Harvey acting so arrogantly.

“You think you’re impressive, Harvey?!”

“You’re making us kneel on Flutwell’s Peak and bring the antidote?!”

“You threaten Golden Palace too?!”

“Who do you think you are?!”

“Do you even have the right to do that?!”

“Let me warn you! You’re dead when I report this to my brother Adrian!”

“You’ll be the one ripped to shreds—not us!” Emily yelled, her face fierce.

“You think Golden Palace is just bluffing?!”

“It’s already too late for you to kneel!”

“But we don’t have to deal with you right now...”

“Longmen is destined to lose without Amber and the other young talents fighting!”

“When you lose all hope, I’ll make you understand your fate of going against Golden Palace!”

Harvey stood still just as he was right in front of the door; he frowned before slowly turning around.

“I was about to give you one last chance, for the sake of us being on the same side.”

“But if you insist on being a bunch of ignorant, shameless, and traitorous people who have no guilt

“I’ll have to make sure you’re severely punished for that.”

Harvey made a gesture.

Rachel lightly nodded before waving her hand.

A bright glare flashed out in an instant.

“Aaagh!”

Koen and Emily’s legs were instantly snapped; they fell to the ground at the same time before wailing in pain.

They didn’t think that Harvey would actually cripple them in front of so many people!

Under the crowd’s shocked gaze, Rachel held the umbrella for Harvey and they left the place.

The guests exchanged glances; they wouldn’t even dare stand up against Harvey and the others.

Even though they were filled with hate and resentment, seeing Koen and Emily's legs snapped in half was enough proof of Harvey's strength.

They instinctively looked at Smoke, the current strongest martial artist in the place, and realized that he had already passed out after banging his head to the ground.

A cold shiver ran down the crowd's spines; they were filled with utter rage and fear as well.

Something big was about to happen then!

Late at night, at the Flutwell Police Station.

Harvey was sitting inside the interrogation room after leaving Golden Courtyard.

Ansel had a bitter smile on his face; he wrote down Harvey's testimony before letting out a long sigh.

"Did you actually get someone to cripple Koen and Emily in front of so many people?"

"With your status and identity, you should know that those two are prominent figures of Flutwell! This is going to be hard to deal with..."

"If you didn't come here on your own, we'd have to hunt you down even if Golden Palace doesn't come for you."
