Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2932 -“Brother, are you familiar with her?” Layla felt that her brother had different feelings for this woman, “But you don’t have her contact information, so it means that you two are not very close?”

“Although I don’t know her well, I have my own judgment.” Hayden replied, “I will investigate this matter.”

Layla: “Brother, of course this matter needs to be investigated, but you should be careful not to be cheated. Whether it’s cheated of feelings or money.”

Hayden: “Am I such a stupid person?”

“You’re not like that. But sometimes people can be uncontrollably stupid. For example, when you’re in a relationship, your IQ tends to drop.” Layla reminded, “When I said I was going to marry Eric, didn’t t you think I’m crazy?”

“I don’t think your decision is so stupid.” Hayden commented, “If you marry Eric, at least you won’t be bullied.”

Layla: “That’s right! I’m sober! You may not be as sober as I am. Because I’m looking for someone who knows everything. Your child’s mother is a stranger, right?”

“Okay, stop talking.” Hayden had a terrible headache, “Aren’t you going home tonight?”

“I’ve said it all, I’ll go back after your paternity test comes out.” Layla smiled, “Brother, if you find the mother of the child, do you want to meet her? Then you take me with you, I will help you negotiate.”

Hayden: “Negotiation? Others have already given us their children, what do you need to negotiate with them?”

Layla: “Brother, why are you so naive! When someone sends the child here, it’s actually a bait. Do you think we all look like who the child’s mother is now? Do you really want to find the child’s mother immediately?”

Hayden felt that he had been educated by his sister, and it seemed that his sister’s education was quite right.

He didn’t know that woman well.

Maybe that woman was really what my sister said.

This trick was called playing hard to get.

“If she wants money, I can give it to her.” Hayden confessed his bottom line to his sister, “Now that I have a child, my parents won’t urge me to get married anymore.”

With direct, direct once and for all.

In the future, there would be no blind date, no need to get married.

Anyway, wasn’t the purpose of marriage also to have children?

“Hahaha! Brother, what are you thinking about all day long! Your parents are urging you to get married, not just to let you have children! They think you are too lonely by yourself, and if you get married, someone will accompany you.” Layla asked with a smile, “Is the child’s mother pretty?”

“Why are you so gossip?” Hayden no longer remembered the specific appearance of that woman.

But he was sure that if that woman appeared in front of him again, he should be able to recognize her at a glance.

“Of course I want to gossip about such a big event! It’s about my future sister-in-law! I must pay more attention to it.” Layla said more and more energetically, “Brother, do you have a picture of her?”

Hayden: “No.”

“Ah? You went out for so long in the afternoon, and you didn’t even get a single photo?” Layla regretted, “Didn’t you say she was the waiter in the hotel? The hotel must have her information!”

“I didn’t find her in that hotel.” Hayden also felt very strange, “There’s no need for the hotel to hide me. That woman is either not a waiter at that hotel, or she took the initiative to delete all the information when she left.”

“Why did that woman run away from you? You wouldn’t do anything to hurt her.” Layla frowned, puzzled.

Hayden: “She doesn’t know me well, maybe I’m not a good person in her imagination.”

“Oh... also.” Layla said here, asking the most critical question, “brother, how did you think of sleeping with that woman? Are you confused by her appearance, or don’t you? What’s the reason?”

Hayden: “...”

“Brother, tell me! I’m really curious! If it’s just to solve the physiological needs, why don’t you use contraception? Do you have no common sense in this area?” Layla was worried that her brother was completely blank in this regard.

After all, Hayden received a different education from others.

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2933 -Hayden: “I drank too much that night. It’s that simple. Don’t think too complicated.”

“Oh...Okay! Then don’t drink indiscriminately from now on.” Layla saw that it was getting late, so she said, “Brother, go to bed! You didn’t have a good rest after you came back today. “

“Yeah.” Hayden went back to his room.

After taking a shower, he walked to the bed, picked up his phone, and turned it on.

He asked the housekeeping manager to notify him as soon as he had any news.

The manager sent him a message: [Mr. Tate, they don’t know what you are looking for, and they are probably too frightened to tell the truth. You can tell me more or less to see if it is a good thing or a bad thing.]

Hayden felt that what the manager said made sense, so he replied: [It’s a good thing. It is also a good thing for me to find that woman. If anyone can provide clues to that woman, I will definitely be able to give a high reward.]

After reading his reply, the manager immediately sent an OK: [I will ask in the group now to see if they tell the truth.]

Hayden: [$100,000 will be given to those who provide clues. If you can help me get in touch with that woman, I will give you half a million.]

The manager was very excited when he saw the quotation: [I will send your words to the group right away.]

Hayden: [I remember that there was another waiter besides her. There must be someone within you who knows about this.]

Manager: [OK!]

Hayden lay down on the bed, thinking about what happened that night.

Although he didn't remember the woman's facial features, he remembered the woman's gentle embrace.

He was soaking in cold water in the bathtub and buried his head in the cold water.

The woman was afraid that something would happen to him, so she pulled him up from the water.

Afterwards, the woman hugged him.

They obviously didn't know each other, but at that time, they did that kind of thing like lovers who have been in love for many years.

The woman knew his identity all along.

If that woman wanted to ask him for money, she could get it.

To take a step back, if the woman took a photo of his bed as a bargaining chip to blackmail him while he was asleep, she would be successful.

But 10 months later, that woman did not do anything other than send a child to his parents' house.

Was that woman not trying to reciprocate, or, as Layla said, playing hard to get?

Whether it was the former or the latter, he wanted to meet with that woman and make it clear.

About half an hour later, Hayden's cell phone rang.

He immediately picked up the phone and answered the call.

"Mr. Tate, there is news! An employee knows about that!" The manager's tone was very excited, "She claimed that she had been chosen to work in the banquet hall on the day of your sister's wedding, but she had changed by the time and she entered with an unfamiliar woman. The woman you're looking for should be the imposter."

Hayden breathed a sigh of relief.

So, that woman was not a hotel waiter at all!

Who was she? Why sneak into Layla's wedding reception?

"Where's that old employee in your hotel?" Hayden asked.

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2934 - "The old employee has left." The manager replied, "But I have her contact information here. Mr. Tate, do you want it?"

Hayden understood what the manager meant: "Yes. Tell me her contact information. I'll send you the money right away."

"Okay! Thank you, Mr. Tate! But you can just transfer $100,000. I will give $100,000 to the employee who provided the clue." The manager said politely, "This incident has already alarmed our boss. I called and asked me to check things out for you."

After Hayden responded, he hung up the phone.

The manager sent the old employee's phone number and home address together.

Hayden gave them a transfer of $200,000. Due to the information they provided regarding that woman, only one person was eligible to receive $100,000.

After transferring the money, Hayden put down his phone and planned to sleep first.

He was just too sleepy.

He didn't sleep well on the plane, and he didn't take a good rest after returning.

Now that he knew how to get in touch with that woman, he would search for it the following day after getting a good night's sleep tonight.

He had a hunch.

He should be able to find that woman soon.

....

When Joanna received a call from a fellow villager, she had just put her daughter to sleep.

She gave birth to a pair of twins.

Raising one child was a bit difficult for her, and it was even more difficult to raise two children.

So after giving birth to two children, she sent the boy to the Foster family.

"Joanna, do you still remember the wedding of the daughter of the Foster family ten months ago? At that time, you asked me to help you get in, and I helped you. Now people from the Foster family have come here.” A fellow who had helped Joanna before was a little scared, “My previous manager called me and said that he gave Hayden my contact information. Hayden, you know, is Elliot’s oldest son.”

Joanna didn’t expect Hayden to guess that the child’s mother was her so quickly.

For a man as outstanding as Hayden, there must be many women around him.

There must have been hundreds of women ready to give birth to him. How did Hayden come to the conclusion that she was the child’s mother?

Did Hayden speculate based on time?

Could it be that he only slept with her ten months ago?

Otherwise, it wouldn’t make sense to guess her so quickly.

“Has Hayden contacted you?” Joanna asked as she came out of the room.

“Not yet. I guess it’s too late now, people want to contact me tomorrow.” The fellow was very embarrassed, “Joanna, what should I do if he calls for me tomorrow? How can I tell him?”

Joanna’s heart was in a mess, and her head was also in a mess.

After thinking for a while, she replied: “Just tell the truth! Otherwise, he can find out if you lie. Don’t be afraid, he should not be a bad person.”

“Oh, tell the truth?” the fellow asked.

Joanna: “Um.”

The fellow: “If he asks for your home address or your contact information, shall I give him the truth?”

“You only know the address of my hometown, not where I live now. If he wants the phone number, you can give it to him!” Joanna took a deep breath.

The fellow: “Okay. Joanna, he won’t trouble you, will he?”

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2935 -Joanna: “Probably not. I didn’t offend him.”

The fellow: "Then why is he looking for you? He spent a lot of money to buy clues in the hotel. Otherwise, my former colleagues would not have betrayed me."

Joanna didn't really want to tell about her childbirth.

Joanna: "I don't know, let's talk about it after he contacts me!"

"Oh, okay! Where do you work now? Or is it the same place before?" the fellow asked curiously.

Joanna: "It's not where I was before. I'm working in a dessert shop opened by a friend now."

"Oh... to be a waiter? Isn't your previous job quite decent? Why did you resign and go to a dessert shop!" The fellow lamented, "You have such a good education, it's a pity to be a waiter!"

"Yeah, it's late, you go to bed early. I have to go to bed too." Joanna didn't want to talk anymore.

She was in a mess right now and didn't know what to do.

Even if Hayden wanted to look for her, he wouldn't look for her tonight.

She was thinking about whether to move her daughter.

Otherwise, when Hayden came and saw his daughter, would he take her away?

Joanna loved her two children very much. She sent her son to Foster's house, on the one hand, because she couldn't afford it, and on the other hand, she wanted to give her son a better living environment.

Her two children were considered illegitimate by the Foster family. If the daughter was sent there, she might not receive adequate care, but the son would be treated differently.

She didn't have to worry too much about her son's situation when she sent him to the Foster family because most wealthier parents are patriarchal.

After hanging up the phone, she thought briefly, and then dialed Juliette's number.

"Juliette, are you asleep?" Joanna asked, "Can I put my daughter, Gia with you to avoid the limelight?"

Juliette was puzzled and asked, "Yes! But why do you want to avoid the limelight? Who have you become enemies with?"

"I don't have any feud with anyone, but the child's father may want to find me." Joanna expressed her worry, "If he knows that I have given birth to two, I'm afraid he will take Gia away. "

"Who is your child's father? When will he come to see you? I want to meet him." Juliette wanted to help Joanna hold the scene.

After all, Juliette's family was relatively rich, so she should be able to hold down that man.

"He hasn't found me yet. But he's almost found my information." Joanna thought for a while, and said, "Juliette, I didn't expect him to find me. So I'm very confused now."

"You sent your son directly to their family. Their family must be in a daze, and they will definitely look for who the child's mother is!" Juliette smiled, "Who is that man? He is looking for you, What if he finds out that Gia is with me and comes to my door? I must know the information about this man!"

Joanna: "The child's father is Hayden."

Juliette: "What?!"

Joanna: "Elliot Foster, do you know? Hayden is the eldest son of Elliot Foster."

Juliette: "D*mn it! Awesome!"

Joanna: "..."

Juliette: "Joanna, are you too awesome? How did you get on good terms with Elliot's son?! His son, I remember, is the boss of that car company. He seems to be in Bridgedale?!"

Joanna: "I don't know him, and he doesn't even know who I am. I accidentally fell asleep because of an accident."

Juliette: "D*mn it! you got pregnant with twins in just one sleep! I really don't know whether to praise him for his good genes or his good health."

Joanna: "I checked, and he and his sister are also twins. Maybe their family has good genes."

Juliette: "Joanna! How did you resist looking for their family? Their family is so rich! You know that kind of rich family, if you give birth to a child for their family, the gifts are at least hundreds of millions, you gave birth to two of their family, and the gift must give you at least two hundred million, why don't you contact their family?"

Joanna: "Although I also want to get rich, I don't want to get rich like this. I don't know Hayden at all, and they don't necessarily want me to have children. I gave birth to their children behind their backs because of my own selfishness, I don't want to use my children to make money."
