Chapter 1011

This was the Western Border.

Ambitious and power-hungry, the Blithes dreamed of unifying the ancient martial world and ruling over the world.

Thus, anyone who ran wild in the Blithes' territory was unforgivable.

If Flynn did not do anything, the Blithes would be the laughingstock of the world if word about the incident spread. He knew that the elderly man before him was a highly skilled martial artist, but he was unafraid. His face darkened, and he clenched his fists.

Then, he took a step forward.

In the blink of an eye, he had appeared before James. He aimed at his chest and struck.

The speed was unrivaled, and the power was immense.

No ordinary man would react in time.

Even James was somewhat shocked by the speed of Flynn's attack.

However, he was undaunted.

After all, Flynn's attacks would have no effect on him.

Flynn was a fourth-rank.

James did not wish to concern himself with other issues at the moment.

Meanwhile, Flynn swiftly made his way up the mountain too.

On the second floor of a villa at the mountaintop...

A few guards were kneeling.

"Trash!"

Enraged, Donovan rebuked them, "You still can't find James after so many days? How am I supposed to threaten Tobias without him? How am I supposed to intimidate the crowd if I can't execute him in public?"

"Sir, the one who broke into the dungeon was extremely powerful. He defeated all the guards at the entrance and saved James with ease," one of the guards said.

"Get lost, you trash!" Donovan cursed.

At that moment, Flynn walked in and greeted him respectfully, "Father."

Glancing at Flynn, Donovan asked, "Are the guests all here?"

In the foyer of a luxurious villa on the mountaintop, Donovan was conversing with a few ancient martial artists.

At that moment, a disciple of the Blithe family walked in and knelt, "Maxine Caden has arrived."

Upon hearing this, the foyer fell silent.

Everyone fixed their gaze on Donovan.

Donovan invited them here to Mount Littleroot for a simple reason — To witness how the Blithes would crush the Cadens and proclaim to the world that they are the number one family of Sol.

At long last, Maxine has arrived.

"Is the show about to begin?"

"Are the Cadens not afraid of the Blithe family's strength?"

"Is Maxine here alone? Where's Tobias?"

The crowd murmured.

Upon seeing the man's appearance, everyone could feel a shiver down their spine.

They all unconsciously took a few steps back.

"Tobias..."

"He came..."

"Didn't Maxine say that she's been expelled from the family? Why would Tobias still come?"

"Let's watch the show."

The ancient martial artists were wearing mischievous grins on their faces.

Tobias was wearing a black robe with a long sword on his back.

From the appearance of the God-King Palace's martial artists to Tobias, who was levitating in mid-air, James immediately knew this was not truly him. It was Thea in disguise.

After all, only the God-King token which she possessed could mobilize the men of the God-King Palace.

"Are they here to save me?"

James calmed down.

Thea must have impersonated Tobias and brought the God-King Palace here at Mount Littleroot to save him.

One could also surmise that Tobias had given up on him and Maxine to avoid antagonizing the Blithe family.

In the air...

Thea, who was impersonating Tobias, pointed his sword at Donovan and said coldly, "Donovan Blithe, where is James? Hand him over at once. Otherwise, blood will be spilled."

James, who was concealing himself in the crowd, knew that Thea would be exposed if he did not show himself. If that happened, things would go out of control.

"Haha...How exciting."

A peal of laughter came.

Everyone turned their heads and saw an elderly man chuckling.

Smoking a cigarette, the elderly man slowly emerged from the crowd and arrived at the middle of the battlefield.

Then, he lifted his head and shot Tobias a look of disdain.

"Stop embarrassing yourself, Tobias. You have yet to master the Thirteen Heavenly Swords. How would you stand a chance against the Blithe Fist of Abomination?"

Maxine had told Thea of a fight Tobias had with a martial artist from the Blithe family.

Seeing that an elderly man had stepped forward, she descended from the air and returned her sword to its sheath.

"Twenty years ago, I had the honor of witnessing the power of the Blithe Fist of Abomination. Since then, I have tried to find ways to counter it but to no avail."

Seeing that Thea, who was disguised as Tobias, was about to leave with Maxine, Donovan dashed forward. He leaped into the air and raised his arm.

Powerful energy gathered in his palm, which turned into a tornado.

Meanwhile, James catalyzed True Energy and dissipated the energy that was gathering in Donovan's palm.

At that moment, he could sense a terrifying energy burst forward.

The energy made his arm go numb, and he hurriedly took a few steps back.

Donovan, whose energy was forcibly dissipated, suffered a blow. He also took a few steps back.

After steadying himself, his face darkened as he glared at James.

"Who the hell is this guy? How does he have such powerful True Energy?"

He was stunned.

Donovan was a martial artist who was at peak sixth rank and was near to making a breakthrough into the seventh rank.

The Grand Patriarchs aside, he was invincible in the ancient martial world.

Besides, with the Blithe Fist of Abomination, he stood a chance against those old geezers.

No wonder his master told him he could easily dominate the world if he mastered the first few fists of the Blithe Fist of Abomination.

Faced with Donovan's questioning, he smiled.

Then, without uttering a single word, he turned to leave.

"Leaving so soon?"

Donovan's face darkened. How could the Blithes establish themselves in Sol if he did not crush the elderly man? By gathering the ancient martial artists, he planned to proclaim to the world the Blithes' emergence.

Now, however, they were deeply humiliated.

"Mirage!"

He roared and charged toward James.

At that moment, a dozen illusory palm prints appeared all around James.

Aware of how powerful the move was, James did not let his guard down. He immediately catalyzed Star Energy.

Thea, who was disguised as Tobias, fled alongside Maxine.

After a while, Maxine stopped in her tracks.

Looking at Thea, she said, "You should go, Thea. I'll stay and think of a way to save James."

Thea said, "James has already escaped. He was that old man earlier."

"What? Is that true?" Maxine exclaimed.

"Yup, I could tell from his voice. We should leave now."

"In that case, I can't leave James behind. Thea, you should retreat with the martial artists of the God-King Palace," Maxine said before she ran back.

"What the hell?" Thea frowned.

Seeing that Maxine was running back to where they had fled, Thea ordered her subordinates of the God-
King Palace, "Retreat."

"Understood," they said in unison.

However, Donovan had lost all fighting spirit.
Seeing that James was charging toward him, his face paled, and he staggered backward.
"Save me, Grand Patriarch!"
His cry reverberated throughout Mount Littleroot as Donovan began calling for help.

Seeing this, James' heart skipped a beat. He knew that Donovan was begging for help, so he had to kill him as soon as possible.

Thankfully, he was disguised as someone else, or else he would incur the wrath of the Blithes after this was over.

Even if he killed Donovan, the Blithes would never know who the culprit was.

As these thoughts flashed across his mind, he swiftly charged at Donovan.

Raising his hand, strong True Energy gathered in his palm.
