Chapter 904

However, the True Energy that entered Cynthia's body disappeared without a trace, as if it had sunk into the sea.

James asked, "Did you manage to discover anything?"

Although James had the second volume of the medical book, it mainly recorded how to use Crucifier and various cultivation methods.

It also had a set of martial arts techniques that James had Not studied yet.

He was unable to diagnose Cynthia's condition.

Maxine's brows furrowed as she fell into thought for a few seconds.

Then, she asked, "Apart from feeling cold, have you felt any other symptoms recently?"

Cynthia replied, "Yeah. Sometimes I'll have severe headaches, dizziness, palpitations, and so on."

Maxine turned to James and said, "If I'm not wrong, she has an incredibly rare physique born for martial arts."

"Born for martial arts?"

James was stunned.

"Yeah. When I felt her pulse, I transfused a little bit of True Energy into her body, but it was swallowed by the Cold Energy in her body almost instantly. The Cold Energy in her body is incredibly strange and overbearing. If she had practiced martial arts with the guidance of an expert when she was younger, she could have learned to concentrate her Cold Energy and cultivate it into True Frost Energy. Then, she could use it as her strength. She would've been able to endure the cold and become a grandmaster."

Maxine suddenly shook her head and sighed,

"However, she missed the best time to train, and it's a bit too late to start now."

"W-what are guys talking about? What do you mean by martial arts and T-True Frost Energy?"

Cynthia parted her trembling lips but was unable to speak fluently.

"She means that you could accumulate the Cold Energy in your body and use it as a powerful force..." James patiently explained.

After explaining for along time, Cynthia understood the gist of it.

Once he helped Cynthia understand, James turned to Maxine and asked, "How do we solve it now?"

Maxine said, "First, we need to get rid of the Cold Energy in her body so that her body can return to normal for the time being. Then, she will have to learn to cultivate so that when the Cold Energy appears in her body again, she can absorb it and use it like True Energy."

James replied, "Alright."

"Do you have a solution to discharge the Cold Energy from her? If you don't, then I'll have to do it."

James had a way of discharging the Cold Energy out of Cynthia.

However, she would have to be naked to get rid of it. He was a man, and if word got out, it'd tarnish Cynthia's reputation.

She was not even 20 years old yet, and James did not want her to be ridiculed for it.

"I do, but I think it'll be a little wasteful to simply discharge it from her like this. When you were in the Cadens' mansion, didn't you use your silver needles to absorb Grandpa's True Energy to break through your vessel and meridians? If you could also gather the Cold Energy from her body and absorb it, it'll increase your True Energy rapidly."

James' heart skipped a beat after hearing her suggestion. He had just started getting in touch with Internal Martial Arts and was not very knowledgeable about it yet.

"Do you mean for me to absorb the Cold Energy and convert it into my True Energy?"

Maxine nodded.

"Yeah. Theoretically, the Cold Energy is pure True Frost Energy, but Cynthia cannot control] it, so it becomes a burden to her. If you could absorb it, it'll save us a lot of trouble."

"Let me think about it."

James sat on the sofa, deep in his thoughts.

"True Energy channeling?"

James murmured.

Maxine meant that her True Energy could be channeled from one person's body to another to be absorbed.

No such method was recorded in the second volume of the medical book.

However, Crucifier had miraculous effects.

Even without them, it might be possible with regular acupuncture needles.

After thinking about it for a while, he said, "Perhaps it's feasible. However, I'll need to go back and consider it a little more."

James was still studying the medical book, and there were many things that he did not fully comprehend yet.

Maxine said, "Alright. You should go back and think about it first. I'll stay here to look after Cynthia.

Nothing will happen to her with me on the watch. It's just that I won't be by your side, and if someone attacks you, that would be..."

James waved his hand and said, "Although I don't have my True Energy now, I'm still an expert when it comes to External Martial Arts. Even if I'm faced with a first-rank grandmaster, I might not necessarily lose."

"That's true."

Maxine nodded.

Even though James did not have True Energy, he was not a weakling.

"Then I'll head back first."

James stood up.

The second volume of the medical book was at the Callahans' villa.

After saving Tiara last time, he had not gone back.

He would have to return to the Callahans' villa if he wanted to continue studying the medical book.

"James, are you returning to the Callahans?" asked Tiara.

"Yeah."

James nodded.

"Do you want me to go back with you?" she asked again.

James thought for a moment and answered, "You stay here for the time being. I'll go back to study the medical book and come back after I find a solution."
