

The Almighty Dragon General

Chapter 900

□ □ □

Chapter 900

After being beaten up, Hugo immediately called home for his bodyguards to come and back him up. His family's bodyguards were all great fighters, and each of them could deal with more than a dozen people alone.

No matter how good of a fighter James was, he would get him to kneel and beg for mercy.

Hugo walked in, glared at James, and pointed to the ground, demanding, "B*stard! Kneel immediately, and I'll let you go, or else..."

Yvette hid behind James and whispered, "He's from the Doyles. They're a quite an influential family in Sunleigh City and have assets worth tens of billions. They're involved in both legal and illegal businesses."

James nodded lightly.

He knew that Hugo would keep pestering Yvette if he were to leave without resolving the matter.

It would be useless to beat up Hugo again since he would still try to get revenge after James left the city. He would have to call Hugo's father.

When he got off the plane, Hardy had told him that some wealthy people from Sunleigh City were waiting outside the airport to meet him.

However, he did not have Hardy's number.

He calmly took out his phone and called the Blithe King to ask for Hardy's number.

After hearing James' conversation, Hugo scolded fiercely, "There's no use calling for help! Attack him!" Following his order, the several burly men immediately charged toward James and swung their fists.

"James, fight back! Beat them up!"

Yvette seemed to be enjoying the scene as she hid behind James, shouting enthusiastically.

Her behavior was completely different from the mature girl that she was just a few moments ago.

Now, she seemed like a rebellious teenage girl.

James looked at the bodyguards.

One of them clenched his fist and swung it at James, shouting furiously, "B*stard! Kneel and apologize to him!"

James raised his hand and quickly blocked the attack while exerting a little force.

The burly man was pushed back by the force.

Then, James quickly struck again.

The accompanying bodyguards were knocked down instantly.

The cafe was near the school, so plenty of students were present inside.

Seeing that a fight was breaking out, they quickly retreated far away.

Hugo was slightly terrified at the sight of his bodyguards being knocked down. He gradually backed away and said, "D-Don't come near me!"

James walked over slowly.

Hugo kept backing away and slowly exited the private room.

While retreating, he hit a table in the public hall and fell to the ground.

James walked over, pulled a bench out, and sat down. Then, he took out his phone, called Hardy, and asked domineeringly, "Does Sunleigh City have a Doyle family?"

Hardy answered excitedly upon receiving James' call, "Y-Yeah. Would you like to meet Timothy Doyle?"

"Tell him to come to Sunleigh High School immediately. His son has caused trouble."

Hardy was shocked and went silent for a few seconds. He then recollected himself and said, "Understood! I'll notify him right away!"

Hugo stood up from the ground.

He glared at James and laughed disdainfully.

"You're calling me dad? B*stard, do you know who my dad is? Who are you to make my dad come here with just a single phone call?"

James smiled indifferently.

He was not interested in talking to a brat and simply waited for Timothy to arrive.

Yvette took out her phone and took a picture of the scene.

Then, she walked to James' side, saying with a smile, "James, this brat has committed countless crimes. You have to punish him this time."

James said with a smile, "Don't worry. He'll be punished."

"Haha!"

Hugo burst out laughing. He pulled a bench out and sat down.

"I'd love to see how you'll punish me today."

Many onlookers surrounded the place.

Even the cafe owner had gathered with the crowd. He recognized the infamous rich, spoiled kid and dared not say much. He simply stood in the distance, praying that they would not start another fight in his cafe. He had just finished decorating the place, and he would have to refurbish it if they wrecked it.

□ □ □