

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 954

"P-Prove it...! Hold me tight in your arms!."

James took a deep breath of resignation and wrapped his strong arms around Thea.

Thea nestled comfortably into his arms and nuzzled her face into his chest.

The two spent the night in this position as it passed silently.

The next morning...

Thea stirred from her slumber relatively early in the morning.

As soon as she woke up, she could sense a warm hand clasping her breast. Her face turned hot and her senses were immediately slapped wide awake. She sheepishly tried to move away, but was trapped in James' tight embrace.

As she found herself unable to move or escape her predicament, she could only stare at the ceiling in a bewildered daze.

Soon after, James also woke up.

Feeling the sensation of something in his hand, he reflexively gave it a firm squeeze.

"Ah..."

He heard a surprised gasp from beside him.

"What are you doing, James? That hurts."

James eyes immediately snapped open when he realized the situation he was in.

In his flustered panic he all but shoved Thea away from him as he turned around and sat up.

expression, his face immediately turned

Thea...about that...swear I didn't do it

nothing and did not blame dim morning light was almost not endure any longer, he quickly turned around and from the bedside table and bed and began

she put on her clothes, her screen indicated that the one calling was Lex answered the phone and asked, "Grandpa, why are you calling the other side

hurry back right now!

his spot! A reshuffle in almost incoherent as he tried as you can. It's hung up the phone. Her eyes hand on her shoulder

Matter?

her head, replying,

wanted

had nothing better to do at

"I'll come with you."

action against the Callahans

"Alright." Thea nodded.

two headed out

was only after they had walked out