

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 965

Thea drank the poison but seemed to be entirely unaffected.

The crowd was perplexed.

Even Jonathan was baffled by what was happening.

He was so sure that his poison was extremely lethal and would kill anyone in a few minutes.

A media reporter stepped forward and pointed a camera at Thea, getting a close-up frame of her face.

Thea stood up and looked at Jonathan, who was tapping his feet and fidgeting nervously.

She gave him a satisfied smile.

"What do you have to say, Jonathan? I consumed the poison you made, but nothing seems to be happening. At this rate, is there really anything to even neutralize? Are you sure you haven't gotten worse over time? Did you concoct your poison wrongly?"

Thea mocked Jonathan and humiliated him for everyone to see. She turned to the media reporter and said, "The reporters are broadcasting everything. Everyone had witnessed me consuming the poison concocted by Jonathan, the head doctor of Universal Hospital. Yet, I remain hale and healthy. In accordance to the terms we agreed upon before starting, this means that Universal Hospital has lost."

"You must've cheated!"

Jonathan pointed at Thea and shouted lividly, "You didn't actually drink the poison! You must've swapped it out."

"Are you an idiot?"
