

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 975

James realized he had lost his composure and sat down again, asking, "Blithe King, is this news confirmed?"

The Blithe King replied, "Of course, it's true. Although I'm of a collateral lineage, this news has spread throughout our entire family. I also heard the Blithes are planning to reveal themselves to the world. I'm telling you this because you're from the Cadens and are also acquainted with Maxine."

"Huff!" James sighed.

He never expected the Cadens to have a marriage with the Blithes, and the Blithes' background surprised him even more.

The Blithe King looked at James.

"James..."

James noticed his hesitant expression and said, "Go ahead."

"Although I'm from the Blithes, I'm not qualified to cultivate True Energy. I'm old and don't expect to master Internal Martial Arts, but I have a son who's turning eighteen this year. Since you're from the Cadens and have cultivated True Energy... Could you possibly give him a few pointers?"

The Blithe King had never asked anyone for anything.

Still, he chose to ask James for a favor.

To outsiders, he was a successful and accomplished man.

However, in his family, he had no status whatsoever. His son was mistreated in the Blithes and was ordered around like a servant. He did not want his son to live like that forever.

Only by practicing martial arts could his son gain their respect and a chance to save his wife, who was locked in the family prison.

"Sure." James smiled.

and such a

you know of my current situation. I'll see to it

"Thank you."

King stood up and held James' hand a relationship like ours. You don't

James grinned.

"By the way..."

Blithe King suddenly remembered heard Maxine isn't a direct descendant from the

"Oh?"

James was surprised.

wonder that Maxine's status in the family was bitterly, "What? Now

recollected himself thinking? I'm just know that she wasn't knew a

Thea pouted.

you

I can't tell that she's interested in you? Hmph! James, I'm warning you. You shouldn't be messing around Thea scolded.

and did not think much

he inquired a little