

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 976

These rules were the reason martial arts had died down.

However, it was also a good thing for society. It would be difficult to manage a country if everyone practiced martial arts.

The Blithe King opened his heart to James, sharing about his wife's incident.

James listened attentively to him.

Soon, Blake arrived.

In the military region, dozens of helicopters were ready in an open field.

James looked at Blake and asked, "So, where are your treasures, Blake?"

Blake replied with a smile, "It's in a natural cavern in Mount White. I spent a lot of effort to move everything there."

James nodded and looked at the Blithe King with a smile.

"Blithe King, I need one more favor from you."
