

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 978

Tobias had confidence in the Cadens' influence.

Since he had made a statement to warn the forces, he believed no one would harm James. He knew what James was doing but did not want to interfere or provide help.

Helping James would be tantamount to helping Mr. Lee, and others would think he had picked a side.

However, he could not take a stand before the martial art conference.

His actions would influence the whole situation, and all forces would quickly pick their sides.

This was not something he wanted to happen.

"Will there really be no danger?"

Maxine frowned.

"I've met Madelyn a few times. Although she's young, she's a scheming girl who resorts to cunning means. Moreover, she's the one who's been secretly making suggestions to Mr. Gabriel. It might've been her plan to use James' hands to kill the Emperor so that she could stir up the situation. After accomplishing her goal, James will no longer be useful to her, and she might take unexpected actions."

"What's wrong? Are you worried about James?"

"Grandpa, I'm just worried the situation will become even more chaotic if James dies. The other three families are already dissatisfied with us, and they may reach an agreement with Mr. Gabriel to kill James and initiate a war," Maxine explained.

"That won't happen," Tobias said with certainty.
