

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 980

Soon, a soldier walked over with a hare and handed it to James.

"Dragon General, we just caught this hare. We've already cleaned it. You can roast it right away. It tastes incredible!"

James took it and said with a smile, "Thank you."

"You're welcome."

The soldier quickly left after passing James the hare.

James strung the rabbit and looked at Blake, asking, "Blake, why don't you enlighten me about what happened a hundred years ago?"

Blake looked at him and said, "I've already told you what I know. Although I'm a descendant of the Davises from the Gu Sect, I don't know much about what happened a hundred years ago. I only know a little from what my grandfather told me when I was younger."

"You don't know the details?"

"I don't."

Blake shook his head.

Since Blake was clueless, James did not press the topic anymore.
