Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2936 - "Joanna, you are so stupid!" Juliette sighed from the bottom of her heart, "You can clearly make a big leap in class in an instant, but you are struggling for the so-called self-esteem. If I were you, I would die on the day of pregnancy. Now you have to tell everything to the Foster family. Even if Hayden doesn't want you to have a baby, his parents will definitely want you to have a baby."

Joanna blushed from being scolded: "Juliette, I'll send Gia to you first tomorrow, do you think it's okay?"

"Of course! Gia is Elliot's little granddaughter. Are you not afraid that I will take your little fruit to Elliot for money?" Juliette couldn't help laughing when she said this.

Joanna: "...I believe you're not that kind of person."

"Our family is in business, and I'm also a businessman. If I go to Elliot with a small fruit, he can give me at least one million." Juliette's abacus jingled, "One million is the minimum. He may ask me to make an offer, and if I ask him for five million or ten million, he will definitely give it to me."

Joanna: "..."

Juliette: "Of course, I won't do this. I just want to scare you. I want to let you know how stupid you are to raise your own child. I thought you have to work so hard because you can't be a man. Since The man is so rich, why do you have to think about it?"

Joanna: "Juliette, it's not that I can't think about it. There will be no pies in the sky. The gap between me and Hayden is really too big. I don't dare to climb others."

"What's the big difference? Hayden's family is so rich, so he has to marry a wife and have children. Otherwise, can he give birth to children by himself? If you give birth to their family's children, then you are a hero, and you deserve any benefits." Juliette and Joanna had a strong disagreement.

"I got the benefits! The little fruit is the benefit I got." Joanna didn't want to continue arguing with Juliette about this issue, "I might send the child there early tomorrow morning, will it disturb your parents?"

"Why are you arguing? If they know that Gia is Elliot's granddaughter, believe it or not, they will immediately confess to Gia!" Juliette couldn't help laughing.

"Don't tell your parents!" Joanna was afraid that the news would leak out, so Hayden took Gia away.

In this way, she had nothing but the knife left on her abdomen by the caesarean section.

“I’ll see how long you can hide it.” Juliette muttered, “Isn’t it convenient for you to bring your child here? I’ll drive there tomorrow morning to pick her up.”

“Okay, thank you Juliette. Hayden’s company is abroad. After he leaves, I will bring Gia back.” Joanna made a preliminary plan.

“All right. I don’t think the Foster family is stupid. Even if they don’t know that you have Gia now, they may find out in the future. After all, you are the mother of the child, so they will definitely pay more attention to you.”

“Do you mean you want me to leave Aryadelle with Gia?” Joanna asked.

Juliette didn’t know whether to laugh or cry: “Joanna, I asked you to take Gia to join the Foster family.”

Joanna: “...I’ve already said that I don’t want to do this. How embarrassing it is! It’s as if I can’t live anymore, and I have to rely on them for relief.”

Juliette: “Okay! I’ll support you! Anyway, our dessert shop is going to turn around soon.”

Joanna couldn’t help laughing: “My confinement is over, and I can go to work tomorrow. If Hayden looks for me tomorrow, I will try my best to draw a line with him tomorrow so that he won’t look for me in the future. In this way, I can leave the office at night.”

Juliette: “Okay, I’ll listen to you. How assertive you are, it depends on whether Hayden follows your plan or not.”

Joanna blushed in embarrassment.

The next day.

Hayden woke up very early.

He didn’t sleep well last night because he had something on his mind.

After he woke up, he went downstairs.

He saw his parents in the living room on the first floor.

The father was holding the baby, and the mother was teasing the little one with a toy.

Hayden looked at this scene, thinking that this child was most likely his own, his face turned red immediately.

It's not that he couldn't face this child, but that everything was too unexpected.

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2937 -Why didn't the woman bring the baby herself?

She didn't want a child, so why did she want to give birth to a child?

If she wanted benefits, she could just say it outright, it's really unnecessary to go around in circles like this.

"Hayden, you got up so early? Why don't you sleep more?" Avery greeted her son immediately when she saw him.

"Did you... sleep well last night?" Hayden asked.

Considering that mom and dad slept with the child last night, Hayden felt that they must have been disturbed by the child and didn't sleep well all night.

"Hahaha! I slept pretty well, and your father didn't sleep much." Avery smiled happily, "Your son wakes up every two hours, and when he wakes up, he cries for food. Hahaha!"

After Hayden heard this, a look of despair flashed in his eyes.

Hayden: "Do children make trouble like this?"

"Children at this age are basically like this." Avery had accepted the fact that she was already a grandmother, and she was very happy. "Would you like to sleep with your son for a night?"

Hayden: "Find a nanny with a sleeping bag!"

Avery: "Well. Have you contacted the mother of the child?"

Hayden: "Soon."

"Is there a contact information?" Avery was shocked, "Let's invite her to come home and have a chat!"

"Let me talk to her first." Hayden didn't want to take anyone home casually, "Mom, I won't marry that woman just because she gave birth to me a child."

Avery: "I didn't ask you to marry her! Once you two have a child, you are destined to have a relationship because of this child in your life. If you can't be a husband and wife, it's best to be friends. Children can't only have father's love, no mother's love Ah! Of course, it depends on what the woman thinks. Anyway, I will not prevent the woman from exercising her right to be a mother."

The thoughts of Hayden and Avery were distinct.

At least for now, he couldn't understand this kind of relationship that couldn't be a husband and wife but also a friend.

"Do you want to hug your son?" Avery asked.

Hayden didn't want to hug his son.

The child was too small, he felt that he couldn't hold it.

In the end, Elliot handed the child directly to Hayden.

"Look at how handsome your son is!" Elliot looked at his grandson now, no matter how he looked at him, he was satisfied.

The child was noisy at night and didn't sleep well all night without a single complaint.

After Hayden hugged his son in his arms, his body suddenly became stiff.

He was afraid that his son would fall to the ground if he moved casually.

"Mom, find a nanny to take care of this child with you! If one is not enough, find a few more." Hayden put the children on the sofa, and said, "Don't work too hard."

"Well, what are your plans in the future? You can't stay in Bridgedale like before, right?" Avery asked.

"Let's talk about it after I meet the child's mother!" Hayden had a severe headache.

"Well, let's have breakfast first! After breakfast, you can go to the child's mother." Avery wanted Hayden to confirm the matter quickly.

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2938 -Hayden didn't know what to eat in the breakfast because Elliot was holding his son and sitting beside him.

The child was full and slept soundly, staring at him with his big eyes open.

Hayden hurriedly got off the table after eating a bowl of porridge.

“Honey, my son doesn’t seem to like his son very much.” Elliot whispered.

Avery: “After all, this is a product beyond his plan.”

“But this is his own son! No matter how b@stard I used to be, I still treat my own flesh and blood differently.” Elliot felt that his son shouldn’t be so indifferent to his precious grandson.

“Hayden doesn’t deny this child, so he treats him differently.” Avery read it openly, “I have read related books before, because children are not born by men, so the men’s emotional establishment of their children is not the same. It will take time.”

Elliot: “Okay! I hope the book is right.”

Hayden took his mobile phone and dialed the number that the manager sent last night.

After the call was made, it was answered in seconds.

Hayden’s heartbeat accelerated uncontrollably.

“Hello.” Hayden spoke first, “I’m Hayden. It was the room manager of CY Resort who told me your number. I want to ask you for someone.”

“OK, I will send you the number of the person you are looking for now.” After finishing speaking, the fellow immediately hung up the phone.

After a while, Hayden’s mobile phone entered a text message, which contained a series of phone numbers.

Hayden looked at the number, and his heart beat faster.

It’s just a woman! What was he afraid of!

In these years, he had experienced so many storms, who had he ever been afraid of?

He wanted to talk on the phone outside, but the weather was not very good today.

It’s cloudy and it could rain at any moment.

He took a deep breath and dialed Joanna’s number.

Joanna was at the dessert shop right now.

Every morning the dessert shop was doing very well.

In addition to selling desserts, the store also sold drinks and milk tea.

Joanna didn't know how to make desserts, so a dessert chef was hired in the shop.

When receiving a call from an unfamiliar person, Joanna looked at the phone number which had a country code of Bridgedale on the screen, and immediately understood that it was from Hayden.

She took off her gloves and answered the phone.

"Hello." Hayden spoke first.

"Hello." Joanna's heart was about to jump out, her voice was very nervous.

"Do you know who I am?" Hayden really wanted to talk, but his reason was out of his control, "Do you know why I'm looking for you?"

These two questions made Joanna dumb.

He didn't reveal his identity and let Joanna guess.

If Joanna guessed that he was Hayden, it meant that Joanna had admitted everything.

Whether she admitted it or not was no longer as significant.

"My fellow villager called me last night and said there was someone looking for me, and it was you, right?" Joanna didn't want to admit it to herself.

"What else did your fellow tell you?" Hayden held his temper and accompanied her to see.

"She didn't say anything important. She just said that she helped me before." Joanna wanted to draw Hayden's attention to another side.

"Let's meet and chat!" Hayden said, "You choose the location."
