Married at First Sight Chapter 2654-Duncan looked at his proud look, pulled him forward in a funny way, picked him up with one hand, and let him sit on his lap.

Serenity appeared in his sight.

“Brother Duncan.”

Serenity shouted warmly.

Zachary, who was standing next to Serenity, took the tray from Duncan’s hand, walked in with it, and said to Duncan, “Almost four people are here, and they still look like children. I want another child. I’m coaxing you, Duncan; if you don’t feel embarrassed, I will be embarrassed for you.”

Duncan responded dully: “If you think I’m embarrassing you, just don’t come. I didn’t ask you to come here to embarrass me.”

Zachary turned around and glared at him. “You’re not happy, even after I said a few words. If you weren’t my friend, you might become my brother-in-law in the future. Do you think I want to care about you? It’s not like I’m full and have nothing to do.”

He put the tray on the coffee table and said to Duncan, “What are you still doing sitting there? Come here and eat!”

Duncan was silent.

Sonny, who was sitting on his lap, raised his little face, looked at him with big black and bright eyes, and said crisply, “Uncle Duncan, I told Grandma Lewis that I would make sure you could eat. You go and eat. If I don’t eat, Grandma Lewis will think that I am a bad kid who only knows how to brag.”

Duncan lowered his head, pressed his forehead against Sonny’s forehead, and then hugged Sonny tightly.

Sonny said, “Uncle Duncan, you listen to me and will not let me become a bad boy who can only brag. I’m a good boy, smart, sensible, and considerate. Uncle Lewis, you like me the most.”

There was obvious joy on Sonny's handsome face.

He also liked to hear compliments.

Sonny quickly fell to the ground.

He walked around behind the wheelchair and said to Duncan, "Uncle Duncan, I'll push you over to eat."

Duncan said, "Your uncle Duncan can do it by himself."

"When my mother went out, she told me, my aunt, and my uncle that we must take good care of you. I promised my mother that I would not cry or make a fuss when going out with my mother, and I would also take good care of you, Uncle Lu."

Sonny struggled to push the wheelchair, and Duncan hurriedly came on his own so that he didn't have to use the strength of breastfeeding to push him.

Sonny suddenly felt extremely relaxed.

Suddenly, he felt that he was extremely capable and could already push Duncan forward. He was so great!

Titus said that if he practiced it regularly, his strength would become stronger and stronger.

He also went to the martial arts gym every weekend to take classes and practice, and he worked hard to learn boxing and kicking skills.

The coach said that he didn't have much talent in martial arts, but if he persisted, he would have no problem with self-defense.

He also learned from the conversation between his uncle and his aunt that he lost to Titus in terms of boxing and kicking skills, but after practicing what Titus said, he found out that it was correct.

His strength grew.

He could push Duncan forward.

Sonny pushed the wheelchair and stopped next to the sofa.

He wanted to help Duncan stand up.

Duncan couldn't help but laugh and say, "Sonny, you don't need to help Uncle Lewis. You can't help Uncle Lewis as big as him."

As he spoke, he reached out to grab the sofa, then stood up from the wheelchair, holding on to the armrests of the sofa, and easily sat on the sofa.

Zachary and Serenity both looked at him and did not help him.

He didn't need the couple to help him; that would make him feel even more useless and a waste.

The young couple knew what Duncan was thinking, so they kept watching while Duncan stood up and sat on the sofa.
