

Married at First Sight Chapter 2612-Callum looked gentle and elegant on the surface, but that's just the surface. The sons of the York family were not really gentle and elegant. They all had tough tactics. It's just that Callum loved Camryn and was especially kind to her. Trenton was also very good to Callum.

But when it came to Carrie, Camryn would never be soft-hearted.

Callum did not take action to punish Carrie. It was probably because Camryn did not let Callum interfere. She believed that she could solve her own family affairs.

Camryn was living a good life, and Carrie would definitely be envious and jealous.

Trenton raised his head and struggled to apologize to Camryn, but found that Camryn was no longer in front of him, and he didn't know when she went in.

He was immersed in his own world and did not notice Camryn's leaving.

Standing there, Trenton couldn't move his legs to enter the house. He felt that his legs were as heavy as lead.

He felt that he was sorry for Camryn because his soft heart led to this incident.

Callum was furious and angry, and Camryn would definitely be disappointed in him. Carrie did not get any benefits at all but was frightened to death. Callum even hit her on the back several times with dishes. She didn't even need to look at it. He knew that Carrie's back was injured.

Camryn didn't have time to be disappointed with Trenton now. She had to comfort Callum first.

When she returned to the house, Callum was no longer in the kitchen. The prepared breakfast was placed on the dining table, but the debris on the floor had not been cleaned up yet.

Camryn called the servant responsible for cleaning the house and asked the servant to come in first to clean up the scene.

After finishing the phone call, she went upstairs.

The door was closed, but fortunately it was not locked, so Camryn could open the door and go in.

There was the sound of running water in the bathroom.

Callum was taking a shower in the bathroom.

Camryn didn't go in but leaned against the wall at the bathroom door, waiting for him to come out.

After waiting for a while, there was no sound of running water inside.

A few minutes later, Callum came out of the bathroom. He had changed his clothes and was holding a clean towel in his hand, wiping the water stains on his hair as he walked.

"I threw away the clothes. I will buy you some new sets of clothes later." Camryn said warmly. Her back moved away from the wall she was leaning against. She stepped forward, took the towel from Callum's hand, and wanted to wipe his hair.

Callum lowered his head and asked her to wipe his hair.

Soon, he opened his arms and hugged Camryn tightly.

Camryn knew that he was angry, and she was angry too, but she didn't see the scene on the spot and had no time to take action. Callum scared Carrie away.

If Carrie ran slower, she would teach Carrie a lesson.

She hugged Callum back and said softly, "I'll beat her up if she runs more slowly, husband. It's shameless! It is also my reason. She wants to tease me because she despises me and is envious. She will get her retaliation against me if you get caught in her pomegranate skirt.

Before her parents got married, they thought about letting her marry into your York family. She was targeting you and Kevin. She wanted to choose between you two."

Callum used a little force and pushed her away a little, then lowered his head and blocked her mouth.

Knowing that he was angry and wronged, Camryn responded to his kiss enthusiastically.
