

Chapter 73 Waylen Has A Strong Desire For Control

Rena gently ran her fingers through her long, chestnut hair and said wistfully, "Sadly, it's not as nice as earlier when it was freshly blow-dried."

Waylen chuckled softly.

After a while, he added, "Don't forget to send me the time and address. I'll be busy for the next few days."

Rena ran back to the bedroom to get her phone and forwarded the details to him without hesitation.

As soon as he received her text, Waylen wrote down a memo.

When he looked up, he found Rena staring straight at him.

He knew that she liked the way he looked. Catching her staring at him like this, he felt a little proud and gently pinched her face. "You really enjoy looking at me, don't you? Why didn't you try to look at me when I took off my clothes to take a shower just now?"

He teased her playfully.

Rena's cheeks blushed furiously.

She pretended to briskly clean up the table, but before she could reach for his empty bowl, he grabbed her by the hand. "Claribel can clean it tomorrow morning," he said in a hoarse voice.

Rena seemed to sense something from his tone, but she wasn't too sure what it was. Besides, he had never had sex with her before, so she couldn't tell what he meant.

Before she could think about it too much, Waylen scooped her up and carried her back to the bedroom. As soon as he laid her in bed, he climbed in next to her and started making out with her.

Rena leaned against his chest when they finished, deep in thought.

It was his deep voice that brought her back to reality. "Let's leave the rest to Saturday night, okay?"

Rena was too shy to say anything, so she just pressed her face against his chest. She had spent a lot of time with him lately and had come to know him well.

Waylen had a strong desire for control.

He decided what they did in bed— and when they would do it.

Rena had no choice but to listen to him!

After cuddling with him for a while, she drifted off to sleep.

Waylen looked at her serene sleeping face quietly.

He had been in a terrible mood earlier, but when he returned to the apartment and saw how Rena was so good to him, his mood improved.

Waylen suddenly felt the urge to pamper her.

Yes, they'd finally have sex on Saturday. When she awoke the following day, she'd wake up happy!

The next morning, despite waking up early, Rena found herself alone in bed.

Waylen had already gone to work, and even Claribel had finished all her chores and left.

Rena couldn't help but feel a little deprived.

She loved Waylen's tenderness, yet he always left her wanting more! The two already lived together, and every time they kissed, she'd get turned on.

But just when she'd think that they'd finally have sex, Waylen would always withdraw. Frowning, Rena wondered what sex would be like. Would she enjoy it?

Blushing, she didn't dare to think about it anymore. She got up and quickly washed up.

Lately, she had had a lot of free time on her hands, so she often went to accompany her parents.

Darren had been discharged from the hospital and moved back into their apartment.

When he realized that Rena didn't live with them anymore, he was perplexed.

But whenever he asked about it, Eloise would help her cover it up.

After lunch, Rena helped Eloise do the dishes in the kitchen.

In a low voice, Eloise whispered, "I heard that Harold has been having a hard time recently. Is it true? Did Waylen really teach him a lesson?"

Rena nodded silently.

Vera had told Rena everything. It turned out that Waylen didn't completely destroy Harold's career. Although the latter would go through some difficulties now, his company could go back to regular programming in one or two months.

Rena relayed to Eloise everything she knew, and when she was finished, Eloise gritted her teeth and spat, "It wasn't even enough!"

But Rena shook her head. "What matters is that Dad's fine. Besides, Waylen's sister is going to marry Harold. He can't really destroy his sister's fiance just to help me."

Eloise was in a trance for a while. Suddenly, her face fell. "Rena, I'm so sorry!"

She had said that she wouldn't let Rena sell her body, but in the end, she didn't do anything when Rena asked Waylen for help in exchange for her moving in with him. She knew that Waylen wouldn't marry Rena, but she didn't stop Rena from agreeing to this arrangement.

Rena shook her head and said, "Don't apologize."

After all, she wasn't Darren's biological daughter, yet Darren had given her all his love and even refused to let Eloise have her own child. Rena was willing to repay his kindness with anything.
