

Alphas Broken Mate by Elizabeth Johanne Chapter 17

It's You

Andrew's POV

We get back to the pack house and everyone is pretty relaxed since the run. Murphy can't shut up about how big Kayla is and her "running on flames" as he puts it. I can see that it's making Lina a little embarrassed. We pull up to the pack house and walk into the lobby.

"Hey I'm going to go talk to my dad for a minute. Do you want to come with? Or can I meet you back upstairs?" I ask Lina

"What's it about? Work?" She asks. I don't want to lie to her.

"No, it's about what you asked me for back at the clinic. If we knew someone old enough to remember the legend." Her eyes light up for that.

"Can I come?" She asks and I smile and nod. We go to the elevator and go to floor 9. When we get to my parents suite, my mom is in the kitchen and my father is in the living room.

"Well what a surprise." My father says getting up and giving me a hug. "Who is it dear?" My mom asks from the kitchen. "It's your favorite person." I say and Lina giggles.

"Lina?" She asks knowing I'm the one who responded. Lina laughs more at this as my mother comes around the corner with a smile.

"My dears what are you doing here?" My mom asks kissing my cheek and hugging Lina. "Well actually I needed to talk to dad." I say "Well sit down and I'll bring some coffee." She says going to the kitchen.

"Tea for me dear it's far too late and I'm far too old for coffee." My dad says. We all sit down and my father looks at me.

"Dad, did you find the person you were talking about, the one that might know the legend?" I ask. He looks at Lina.

"Actually I did. I have sent word to her to see if she will accept us." My father replies leaning back in his chair.

"Accept us?" Lina asks.

"Yes dear she's not known for having guests. I thought it would be better to tell her our intentions first." He says. It makes sense.

"How long before we'll have an answer?" I ask

"Oh a few days, remember it's far. But I found someone close by. As soon as I hear back I will let you know. If she agrees when would you want to go? Before or after Rachel's wedding?" He asks.

"Before." Lina says right away, "I'm sorry, I just want to know as soon as possible. Especially after what happened today." She says looking away.

"Why? What happened today?" My father asks. Right when my mother comes in with coffee. Lina takes a cup.

"Lina, I didn't even ask you what it felt like. What did you feel when it was happening?" I ask her.

"What happened!?" My father asks more concerned.

"We met Kayla today and she was beautiful." Lina blushes at my compliment, "And big, she was a little bigger than Mark." I say.

"Really?" My dad says in wonder. "We all went for a run. And then Murphy, Lina, and I started racing. Kayla was moving so fast and she It's You where her paws touched the ground. At least inals NOW Murphy describes it, I was running 100 close to her to see it happening." Iturn to Lina, silently re-iterating my question from earlier.

"Well it felt really good to be able to shift again. And running felt amazing. But I don't really remember too much, Kayla was in control. I just know she wanted to go fast. I felt a bit warm, but nothing uncomfortable. It.. it felt like.." she trails off.

"What Lina?" I ask. "Well, it felt like I wasn't even touching the ground." She says.

"Like flying." My father says almost like a whisper and a revelation. He looks off into the distance, lost in thought.

"What is it dad?" I ask impatiently.

"I'm not sure. Let me look into some things. I want to be sure." He says. I nod.

We drink our coffee and chat a bit more about casual things, but I can tell Lina is exhausted so we don't stay long. We say our goodbyes and head upstairs.

"You look tired. How long was your nap?" I ask on our way up the elevator.

"I'm not sure. I laid down right after getting home from shopping and you saw when I woke up." She says.

"Well maybe shifting took a lot out of you. It's been awhile." She just nods in agreement. I didn't want to sound like I was worrying that she was pushing too hard. I want to trust her to know her limits, but I think she did too much in one day. She just came from the clinic like a few days ago.

We get back to the apartment and we go straight to bed. As soon as her head is on my chest she's asleep. It's cute and I lay there listening to her breath. I am so in love with this girl.

Over the next week we start getting back into a normal routine. I start going back to the office, while Lina picks up her training, painting, and helping Rachel plan her wedding. My mother and her even start meeting so Lina can understand a Luna's responsibilities. Her eagerness to learn her new role is really cute and makes me proud. She has come so far from that scared girl on the plane.

The Blood Forest Pack has finally turned Yuri over to us. I haven't figured out exactly what to do with him. By law, death is typically the outcome, but I know I need to talk to Lina about it. Later that night Lina and I are hanging out in the living room.

"Lina, I need to talk to you about something." I say and she looks concerned. "Ok" she says putting down her book and turning towards me.

"So after you were attacked by Yuri, we sent Blood Forest a letter of retribution. Do you know what that is?" I ask. She shakes her head. "Well because we knew it was Yuri who attacked you, we asked for punishment for his wrong doing. Basically we asked for him to be handed over or we would start a war." She seems surprised.

"Why would you do that?" She asks

"Lina, you are the future Luna of this pack. We cannot let anything like that go without acting. They could have killed you. We can't let you be a target" I say and grab her hand.

"So what did they do?" She asks. "They turned Yuri over to us." Her eyes widen.

"He's not here is he? Like where is he?" She starts breathing heavy and looking around the apartment.

"Baby calm down he's not here. He's not even in this building." I say trying to calm her. She relaxes a bit at my words. "I'm telling you all this because I need to decide his punishment." I say and she looks at

It's You

"What would the normal punishment for something like what he did be?" She asks

"Death." I say plainly. She looks down thinking about it.

"Well I don't want to seem weak and he's a cruel person for what he's done to me. . but I really don't like the idea of someone dying because of me.. Can I think about it?" She asks

"Of course, you should. It's a mans life. He has done terrible things and if the decision was up to me, would have him executed. Or at least challenged. But I think t his one should be yours." I say. She nods

"Yes I think so too. What is challenged?" She asks.

"I could challenge him to a life or death. Basically we would fight to the death, it's a more honorable way for him to die. Or he could choose to tap out which would be life in prison. It really leaves the decision up to the person how they want to spend their life." I explain. She nods in understanding.

"I will think about it and let you know." She says. I pull her into my lap and wrap my arms around her and burry my face in her neck. She wraps her arms around my neck. I love her smell. I can never get enough of it. I take in a deep breath. She pulls my head back and kisses me, deeply. I run my hands down her side and grab her thigh. She shifts her position to straddle me never breaking the kiss. I run my hands up her thighs and to her a and pull her in to me.

When she rubs against me I realize I don't want to tease her tonight and I don't want to take things slow. I want her. I want my mate.

I stand up holding on to her and walk towards the bedroom. I close the door behind us and pin her body up against it. I push myself into her. I take off her shirt and she takes off mine. She kisses me and I kiss her. I trail down her neck to her spot. She lets out a moan. I start sucking and I feel her breathing quicken. Moans escape her mouth with every breath.

"Mark her." Mark says in the back of my mind. I want to but I won't until she's ready." Mark her, she is our mate!" Mark urges. Ugh he is ruining the moment.

I take her over to the bed and playfully drop her onto it. She giggles and starts taking off her pants. When she's done she takes mine off. Then she takes off my un derwear releasing my hard member. She wraps her hand around it and starts stroking it. It feels so good. I close my eyes and enjoy it for a moment.

Then I feel her mouth around my tip. I let out a moan as she takes me fully in her mouth. She works it in and out of her mouth. I pull her hair together and push myself into her mouth further.

"Oh Lina that feels so good." I say. She goes faster, but when I feel the pressure build up I pull her head back and crawl on top of her. I enter her immediately. She tilts her head back and moans. I run my hand down to her nub and rub in a circular motion. Her body is hot.. wait.. like really hot. I slow down.

"Don't stop. Andrew please." She begs as she looks at me. Her eyes are a mix of blue and purple.

"Please" she says again. How can I deny my mate? I go faster and place my mouth on her erected nipples. She moans louder arching her back. I feel the pressure in both of us peak and then we release.

We are both out of breath and sweating. It's so hot in here. Then, like puzzle pieces fitting together, I realize.

"It's you." I say. She looks at me confused.

"What's me?" She asks as I come and lay next to her. My fingers trail her stomach.

"The heat. When we had our argument earlier and Rachel came in and said how hot it was, and when I walked into the training room with you and Lucas, the flame steps, s*x. It's you. I don't know how, but you radiate heat." I say. She looks like she is thinking about all the events.

"But it doesn't feel hot to me." She says.

+20 Bonus

It's You

"How? Why? I don't understand." She says. "We'll figure it out babe. I promise." I kiss her nose.

"But let's sleep in your room tonight. It's too hot in here." I say and she giggles. Well I'm glad she's not afraid. We need more information.

Catalina's POV

I wake up feeling rested and ready for more training I ask Gammalucas if we can go to the outdoor training

g facility. Since Andrew thinks it's me creating my own heat wave, this will be safer.

Gamma Lucas has started training me with a few other elite warriors, all men, I'm the only girl. We've been training together for a few days now. The guys are still not used to me and I feel like they see me as their future Luna and don't want to hurt me. I however do not hold back, mostly because Gamma Lucas told me if I do, he will take me out of elite training. I don't want that, so I don't hold back. The guys are learning that too and are really working on their blocking.

To start off training, Gamma Lucas shows us a few moves and we practice them with each other, as he walks around giving us corrections. Once we all have the new moves down we do a few group exercises and run some laps. Then my favorite part, sparring. This is where I don't hold back.

Gamma Lucas watches us in our pairs. Each person takes turns in offensive and defensive positions. I am paired with a man named Garret. He is pretty big and fast. I'm a little intimidated, but I don't show it. I have learned that being shorter and smaller has its advantages. I just can't let him hit me, I have to be faster. He is a blunt force object, like a hammer, and I am a knife.

He comes in strong and I dodge. I've never sparred with him before so I keep myself at a distance just close enough to make him strike but far enough for me to get away quickly. I need to learn his moves. I can feel Lucas' eyes on me watching. He comes at me again and I dodge again. He's getting frustrated now. There.. make him mad, he'll lose focus. I dodge a few more times and he growls.

"Fight me." He growls.

"I am." I reply with a smirk. He looks confused by my response. He lunges at me fast and angry, leaving his left side open. I roll to the left and get in a hit to his ribs followed by a hit to his jaw. He steps back in surprise.

He grows more angry and lunges again in a roar. His lower half is wide open, I kick his legs out and step to the side as he tumbles forward. He springs up faster than I was expecting. He gets one of my arms and wraps it around my back and pulls up. Pain shoots through my shoulder.

"Can't run away now." He says in my ear.. I smile as I see Lucas nod to me, I also notice for the first time everyone has joined to watch us.

Islam down my heel onto his foot, he sucks in air through his teeth. I whip my head back into his nose, which also hurts me, and he lets go of my arm. But for good measure I kick my heel up into his crotch, he yelps out in pain and falls to the ground. I turn around and see blood flowing from his nose. It's definitely broken. Everyone claps for me and Lucas walks over to me clapping me on the back.

"I don't think you needed to kick him in the crotch." He says with a laugh. "I know I didn't have to." I laugh.

"Get him to the clinic for some ice. And get his nose looked at" Lucas says to some of the guys. "Well that concludes training for the day. We'll meet here tomorrow." Lucas' voice rings out and we all disperse.

On my way out I see Andrew, he must've been watching. He has a big smile on his face and wraps me in a hug. I love how he smells.

"I'm all sweaty." I say.

"I know, you smell so good." He says. "Weirdo. I need to go back and shower." I say.

"More dress shopping?" He asks. I roll my eyes.

We Heard Back

Andrew's POV I watch her head to the locker room as Lucas approaches me.

"She's getting good. And fast. That was Garret she took down." He says. I raise my eyebrow. Garret isn't the best but he's huge and a force.

"Should we bring in Jake?" I ask. He is one of our best warriors.

"And maybe Julie too." He suggests. "Julie's back?" I ask surprised since I haven't seen her.

"She just got back a few days ago." Lucas says.

"Let's see how she does." I say. Lucas nods and heads back to the field. I leave the facility and head to my office. When I get there my father is waiting for me.

"Ah Andrew. I received word from my friend. She wants to meet. And she wants Lina there too." He says

"Is it safe to bring her?" I ask

"Lilith is not dangerous.. well she's not going to hurt her." He says

"That did not sound convincing." I say.

"Did she say when?" I ask.

"She says after the next full moon. I'm not sure why." He says

"Well that's in a week, not too long. I'll talk to Lina about the two of us heading there next week." I say sitting down at my desk.

"And me." My father adds. I look up at him.

"You too?" I ask.

"She requested my presence as well." He adds

"Anything else she requested I should know about?" I ask.

"Actually there is, but it's more of a payment and I'll take care of acquiring it." He says.

"Acquire it? What is it?" I ask confused.

"Son don't worry about it. I'll make arrangements for us to leave in a week." He adds.

"Alright I'll let Lina know."

"Has she decided what to do with Yuri?" He asks.

"I think she has but I don't like it." I say, he looks at me with a raised eyebrow.

"I think she's going to challenge him to life or death." I say and he doesn't seem shocked, he just nods.

"It is her right. I understand your concern, but Lucas has told me her training is really accelerating." He says.

"It has but I don't know how Yuri fights. I don't want anything to happen to her." I say

"But this might be good for her. We'll just make sure if she does decide to challenge him that she is prepared." He says.

He is right. I can't stop her from making this decision, but I can help her be prepared for it. That's why I'm pushing her training up and adding higher level warriors. Hopefully I can push it off until after this trip. That will give us more time to train her.