

Harvey York's Rise To Power Chapter 3831 - 3840
Chapter 3831

“Let me tell you one more thing.”

Harvey studied Gael calmly.

“Someone must've come up with the same plan.”

“However, the Cobb family would never allow this to happen.”

“That's right. Someone did come up with this before. My grandfather is a God of War and the best fighter in all of the South Sea. Only idiots would think to cripple his training!” Katy exclaimed coldly.

“If so, what's the point of inviting you people here?”

Gael had a horrible look on his face.

He was perfectly confident he'd be able to save Dean and win Katy's heart at the same time, but his plan was no different than a sick joke to her.

“Medicine and martial arts have the same origin. You all should understand this fact.”

“If you want to succeed in these fields, only modesty can get you far.”

Harvey didn't want to let Gael go. He started going against the people who were planning to run their mouths in front of him.

“None of you are modest enough for this. Rather, you're all cocky people who only know how to go with the crowd and doubt others.”

“You want me to prove my strength? Why would I need to do that?”

“I'm no expert, but what right do you people have to show off in front of me?”

“You must be pretty good at using swords with your left hand, right? How is that going to hide your crippled right hand during your training when you were younger?”

“Look at you all, tall and strong. You must be having a hard time every single night because of asthma.”

“And you...”

Harvey glanced at Gael.

“Need I tell everyone that you’ve already lost your virginity at a young age? I’m pretty sure you’re obsessed with women’s bodies as well. Your so-called talent is purely built up by swallowing all those drugs.”

“Let me give you a friendly reminder. Your kidney will die out if you keep this up.”

The crowd turned dead silent after hearing Harvey’s words.

Ellen was filled with disbelief as she looked at Gael.

She couldn’t believe that her Prince Charming had a kidney deficiency...

“You’re lying! This is bullsh*t! This is slander!”

Gael lashed out immediately.

He was completely humiliated when Harvey exposed everything in front of his goddess.

How was he supposed to pursue other women and pretend to be a top talent in the future?

“My, my. You think I’m lying? You think I’m slandering you?”

Harvey smiled.

“Why don’t you press where your kidney’s supposed to be, and see how it feels like?”

Gael didn’t believe Harvey, but his hand still instinctively pressed down on his lower back.

He screamed in pain the very next moment, almost to the point where he fell to the ground, paralyzed.

“You’ve been taking too many drugs. You’ve been engaging in too many intimate relationships as well. Your kidney’s suffering badly right now. If this keeps up, you probably won’t be able to do it anymore.”

Harvey turned around and left.

The beautiful doctors and nurses looked at Gael in horror.

‘He’s already a goner at such a young age...!’

After getting shocked by such a fact, Ellen’s face went bright red. She followed closely behind Harvey, quiet.

She didn’t care for men who weren’t able to do that.

Gael's face darkened; he was furious! He wanted to bang his head on the ground so badly...

Chapter 3832

After completely disrespecting the people there, Harvey gestured to Katy to lead him into Dean's room.

Gael and a few other so-called expert martial artists were boiling with anger, but they were curious to see if Harvey could actually save Dean.

That was why they followed along too.

Harvey ignored them completely.

Katy knew it was the best time for Harvey to show his strength. So, she didn't chase the crowd away.

After arriving at a room about two thousand square feet wide, Harvey saw Dean lying on a yellow flower pear wood mattress.

There was a lot of equipment strapped to his body, indicating his vital signs.

Since he was a God of War, he wasn't able to be injected with any medicine because of his thick skin.

Dean had only survived this long because Katy had been painstakingly feeding him water every single day.

Harvey felt extremely guilty after seeing Dean turn out this way for his sake.

Katy took a step forward and grabbed Harvey's right hand.

"Sir York, you shouldn't blame yourself for what happened to him. He and Julio had never seen eye to eye, it was only a matter of time before they went against each other."

"I'm happy you showed up here."

Harvey quietly moved his arm back before nodding. He wasted no time checking for Dean's pulse soon after.

He understood what exactly happened to Dean after that.

Dean's fractured scapula and him coughing up blood were all appearances.

There was a hint of aura that didn't belong to him; it must've belonged to Julio.

Julio's aura was terribly dominant, constantly swirling around Dean's body and crushing his organs in the process.

Dean had remained passive ever since.

He seemed to be unconscious, but in truth, he had been fighting against Julio's aura for the longest time.

This was the reason why his skin was completely impenetrable.

It was good that Harvey came at such a perfect time.

If not, Katy would've used Gael and the others' treatment plan to heal Dean...

Dean would've died on the very first step if that happened.

Harvey pulled his fingers back after three minutes; his expression remained the exact same.

"What's going on with my grandfather, Sir York?" Katy asked quietly, a worried look on her face.

"Can he wake up again?"

Katy was just as feminine the first time Harvey met her; the way she spoke was still as alluring.

Any man wouldn't hesitate to bring her in his arms.

Harvey's heart skipped a beat, but he held himself back.

"Don't worry, he'll be fine as long as I'm here," Harvey said with a faint smile.

Those simple words were enough to calm Katy; the pressure that had been building up was gone in an instant.

Naturally, she trusted Harvey a lot.

"Is that true? So many doctors and martial artists here are saying that there's no way to save her grandfather," Ellen muttered.

"Are you really that good?"

Ellen asked something nobody dared to question.

Even Katy's beautiful eyes shifted gaze toward Harvey, carrying a hint of doubt.

"Don't worry. There's no need to lie to you about this. Elder Cobb will come back today."

Katy was so excited that her body started trembling.

"That's good! That's really good!"

"I don't know how I can repay you for this, Sir York..."

Gael and the others frowned upon seeing Katy's affectionate look toward Harvey.

They believed Harvey's actions were quite impressive before, but that was basically it.

So many of them couldn't even pinpoint Dean's condition and symptoms...

Yet, Harvey claimed he was able to save Dean on the very same day.

'What a joke!'

'This b*stard's being a little too cocky!'

"Don't be so full of yourself, Harvey!"

"You'll be embarrassing yourself if you can't get Elder Cobb up!"

Gael was filled with hatred after his kidney deficiency was exposed. He couldn't help but speak up through gritted teeth.

A few other expert martial artists behind him followed his lead and showed doubt as well.

Naturally, they were all hoping that Harvey would fail so they wouldn't seem so useless.

"Are there any needles for acupuncture here?"

Harvey ignored them and asked Katy to get her subordinates to bring some needles.

At the same time, he lit up an oil lantern.

"Needles?!"

"You want to use needles on Elder Cobb?" Gael exclaimed instinctively.

"You don't even have any medical skills, yet you're here using needles? You're playing with Elder Cobb's life!"

'Playing with his life?'

The others let out sighs of relief after hearing those words.

If Harvey really was a useless show-off, it would be great for them.

These people started glaring disdainfully at Harvey.

‘At least learn some basics before trying to trick others...’

“He’s already doing stuff like this even when he doesn’t have the fundamentals down!”

Harvey ignored the crowd again, and stuck nine needles in Dean’s body. Then, he slowly brushed his finger over them.

After looking closely, a hint of aura could be seen flowing out of the needles.

The aura was extremely lethal, but it turned into nothing the moment it left Dean’s body.

Nobody even noticed the process.

Around ten minutes later, Harvey slowly pulled the needles back out.

When Harvey held onto the final needle, Dean’s frozen body trembled. Color entered his face.

The people who were waiting to make fun of Harvey were all completely shocked.

They could clearly tell Dean’s frown was slowly dissipating.

“Ngh!”

Dean let out a sigh of relief when Harvey finally pulled the needle out; his eyes slowly opened at the same time.

“He’s awake?!”

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Gael had a horrible look on his face; he felt extremely sluggish. He couldn’t believe what had happened in front of him.

Ellen couldn’t help but hit her head.

‘This man really is impressive!’

Katy lost her composure completely; she wanted to run into Dean's arms, but she went into Harvey's arms instead in fear of hurting her grandfather.

"Thank you so much, Sir York!"

"You're our family's savior! I just don't know how to repay you!"

"This is nothing," Harvey said with a faint smile.

"That said, Elder Cobb's injuries are quite bad. He needs to stay in a quiet place for at least six months so he can recover."

"Don't worry, Sir York. I can handle the rest," Katy replied with a tender voice.

"No! This is impossible! This is illogical!"

Gael finally came to his senses.

That said, he was still filled with utter disbelief.

He was well-versed in both medical skills and martial arts; he had quite a lot of accomplishments since he was young, and had made a name for himself in the South Sea.

Even he couldn't tell what exactly happened to Dean. He could only come up with a plan along with everyone else here.

Judging from his estimation, the plan would require at least another month for Dean to heal.

Harvey was clearly not a doctor, but he was able to wake Dean up with just a few needles. This was simply unbelievable!

The other experts looked at Harvey with odd gazes.

They couldn't find anything to make things harder for Harvey, even after a long moment of pondering.

All Harvey did was check Dean's pulse for three whole minutes. After that, he saved Dean in just a short amount of time.

If they didn't see it for themselves, they would've thought that Harvey and Dean were putting up a show to fool everyone.

Soon, the doubts in the experts' eyes turned into admiration.

The beautiful nurses were showing burning passion; they wanted to pounce right into Harvey's arm badly.

“I don’t believe this! I don’t!”

“You probably haven’t even cured the root cause of Elder Cobb’s condition!”

“You must’ve forced out his consciousness for a short amount of time!”

“Don’t trust him, Miss Cobb! It’s best if we check your grandfather’s condition with the high-end equipment first.”

Gael still couldn’t believe what just happened.

When he saw Katy in Harvey’s arms, he wanted to tear Harvey to shreds.

If this was any other occasion, he would’ve beaten Harvey to death already.

Katy’s face darkened at that instant; she was about to lash out in anger. However...

Harvey smiled.

“It’s better if we do as he says, Katy.”

“It’ll give everyone a piece of mind.”

A few doctors came inside with a few bags of equipment to check on Dean.

They came up with the same conclusion: Dean was clearly still a little weak, but his vitals were the same as any other person.

With Dean’s strength, he would return to his peak once again with some rest.

Gael’s jaw completely dropped; he wanted to say something, but he couldn’t utter a single word.

After feeling Katy’s cold gaze, he had no choice but to turn tail and flee.

Before he walked outside, he shot a furious glare at Harvey.

Katy smiled faintly when he saw Gael’s retreating back.

“Hopefully, he’s not thinking of anything funny. I’ll make sure he’ll die a horrible death if that’s the case.”

After dealing with Dean’s injuries, Katy wanted Harvey to stay in the Cobb family’s house.

However, Harvey rejected it since he had his own plans. Katy had no choice but to send Harvey to a bustling street.

Right as Harvey was planning to call a cab, Katy’s phone rang.

She looked at the screen, and her face darkened immediately.

Chapter 3835

Katy didn't pick up her phone immediately. She showed Harvey an apologetic smile before going to the side of the street for a few minutes.

Harvey could clearly tell she was in distress.

When Katy hung up on the phone, she had a faint smile as she walked toward Harvey.

"What? Did something happen?" Harvey casually asked.

"You're the head of the South Sea Gang. Nobody would dare go against you here."

Katy flashed him a bitter smile.

"You're kidding me, Sir York. The South Sea Gang might have a bit of authority in Hong Kong and Las Vegas..."

"But things are different here in the South Sea."

"Other than my secretary and a few trusted subordinates, I didn't bring anyone else with me."

"I thought I could just leave after dealing with my grandfather's condition..."

"But things don't always go as planned."

"Do you need my help?" Harvey asked.

"It's just the family business; it's not hard to deal with at all. It's just a little troublesome, is all."

Katy rubbed her temples.

"There's something you don't know, Sir York. The Cobb family is one of three great families of the South Sea, but there are a lot of factions that separate us."

"The head house is the strongest one there is, but my grandfather's assets in the family have been robbed in secret by the other houses."

"He demanded the houses to return his assets after he recovered, but they still wouldn't oblige

"That said, they already had their plans in motion."

“While my grandfather was still healthy, these tricks meant nothing to him.”

“But after he was defeated by Julio, these people started causing a ruckus again.”

“Such as?”

Harvey trusted Katy’s ability to deal with the problems, but it was still better for him to ask about this.

“This caller in particular told me that there’s a huge debt owed to the family that we can’t get back.”

“My uncle wants me to get the money back. If not, the head house will have to take responsibility.”

“Is it a lot? Do they really need you to deal with this alone?”

Harvey was confused.

Katy chuckled bitterly.

“It’s pretty big; it’s a hundred and fifty million dollars.”

“Maybe you don’t care about these numbers, but this is the biggest bad debt that the head house has.”

“If we can get it back, we’ll be able to solve the family’s crisis.”

“It’s a shame we’re in the South Sea instead of Hong Kong and Las Vegas.”

“If that wasn’t the case, I would’ve been able to get the money back by now.”

Murderous intent flashed in her eyes.

Naturally, Katy wasn’t just the head of the South Sea Gang for show.

It was a shame; even if she was a prominent figure, she would still have to show her respect in a place like the South Sea.

She felt extremely resentful because of this.

Ring, ring!

Katy’s phone rang once again.

This time, she picked up the call right in front of Harvey.

A bossy voice could be heard on the other side.

“Hello, Miss Cobb. I talked to CEO Toft, just as you asked.”

“I tried convincing him to give you a chance and meet up for dinner.”

“He said he’s willing to talk about the bad debt.”

“You need to seize the opportunity, Miss Cobb!”

“Thank you, Miss Johnson,” Katy replied. “I won’t forget what you’ve done for me if we manage to deal with the situation.”

Chapter 3836

“Right. Where are we meeting up tonight?” Katy asked.

“Eight o’clock at night, at the Marina Bay Clubhouse,” the person on the phone said bossily.

“Make sure you get there on time!”

Katy had a faint smile.

“Don’t worry, I’ll be there in time.”

After hanging up the phone, Katy glanced at Harvey.

“That’s my middleman, Lara Johnson. She’s a social butterfly of the South Sea.”

“She’s quite familiar with both sides of the underworld.”

“That was why I asked her to bring me and the debtor together.”

“Who’s the debtor?” Harvey asked.

“A transportation company at the pier. The CEO is named Vance Toft.”

“It’s said he has a background in the Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance. That’s why he’s a tough nut to crack.”

“The Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance?”

Harvey frowned.

“The South Sea is different from Country H. There aren’t that many factions for martial artists. Everyone would join the Martial Arts Alliance if they want to train.”

“The Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance is a branch of the South Sea Martial Arts Alliance, their connections and influence are terrifyingly immense.”

“Even the three great families of the South Sea would have to pay their respects to the Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance.”

“That’s a hornet’s nest, after all. Nobody would dare go against them willy-nilly.”

“So because of that, they don’t even care if they’re not compensating for your debt?”

Harvey showed her a faint smile.

“I can handle this for you. Since Blackburn City is related to the South Sea Martial Arts Alliance, I should be able to deal with this with just a phone call.”

Katy shook her head, smiling.

“I’ll take care of this. I’ll ask for your help if I really can’t deal with it.”

“This is the Cobb family’s affair, after all. I want to deal with this through business means.”

“Besides, it’s embarrassing if you have to do more for me. I should’ve been the one taking you around the place.”

Harvey smiled.

“It’s fine. I’ll just treat this as a little vacation. I’ll be here for a few more days, anyway.”

“Don’t worry about it. Just treat me to a meal every once in a while.”

“I know that I’m not in a place to butt in your work, but I was wondering if I can do something for you tonight...” Katy froze.

“What do you mean?”

Harvey shrugged.

“I’m not familiar with the place. I don’t have anything to do, anyway. I’ll just stay with you for the time being as your bodyguard.”

“It’s fine if nothing happens...”

“But if I need to do anything to save the damsel in distress, you’re going to have to compensate for it.”

Katy burst out laughing. She became cheerful in an instant.

“Oh? Isn’t that the cocky man from Country H?”

A Ferrari stopped on the side of the road. Its window rolled down, and a harsh mocking voice could be heard soon after.

“What a small world! I was planning to find you through my connections, but I didn’t think that I’d bump into you here.”

Harvey and Katy looked over. A few people hopped out of the car and strutted toward the two.

The person leading the group was a mean-looking young man with short hair; it was clear he was from the underworld.

There was a woman right beside him; it was the same woman Harvey slapped on the plane.

After getting out of the plane, she saw Harvey getting dragged aside by the workers before she left.

She didn’t know what happened after that.

As soon as she saw Harvey, unbridled rage colored her face.

Chapter 3837

Harvey frowned when he saw these people.

He had no intention to cause trouble in another country. Despite that, there would always be someone ignorant enough to provoke him.

“I didn’t have time to play with you at the airport, but that doesn’t mean that I’ve let you go!”

“Do you think you’re allowed to slap me in the face just because you sit in the VIP cabin?!”

“Let me tell you something! You’re dead for bumping into me!”

The beautiful woman had a bossy look on her face, as if she was the queen of the world.

The mean-looking man squinted and yelled coldly, “You’re the one who touched my woman?!”

“That bright red palm print is still on her face! I’m completely heartbroken!”

“How are you going to take responsibility for this?!”

The man lit up his cigar and blew a puff of smoke.

What an arrogant sight!

The people walking on the streets immediately scurried after seeing what was happening.

These people had an intimidating look to them.

Harvey looked at them calmly and said, “Get out of here while I’m still in a good mood.”

“Oh? You’re making me leave?!”

The man grinned at him.

“How dare you hit my woman and tell me to scram! I’d be embarrassed if I didn’t at least cripple you right now!”

Katy watched everything calmly without saying a single word...

However, the man still noticed her.

His eyes lit up and his mouth started to water.

“I didn’t think you’re a lucky man, either! I’m pretty envious of you!”

“I’ve decided! You’re sending this woman right to my doorstep today!” he exclaimed.

“I’ll let you off the hook when I’m done with her after a few days!”

The people behind him began showing wretched looks.

They were all exhilarated to see the drop-dead gorgeous woman in front of them.

This was the best way for revenge, after all.

After seeing Harvey’s emotionless face and Katy’s cold expression, the man assumed that they were afraid of him; he immediately reached out, his face wretched and ugly.

“Tsk, ts, ts! When I get a hold of those slender legs...”

Slap!

Before Harvey could do anything, Katy took a step forward and swung the back of her palm across the man’s face while moving away from his hand at the same time.

She then raised her leg and kicked the man’s stomach.

He covered his stomach, screaming in pain, and slammed right into the fence on the side of the wall.

Before he could even get back up, Katy took another step forward and stomped on his index finger with her high heel.

Crack!

The man began squealing like a pig.

Harvey looked at Katy with admiration.

‘As expected from the head of the South Sea Gang... What a ruthless and decisive attack!’ 1

After crippling the man, Katy turned around and slapped the rest of the group to the ground.

She then called her subordinates to drive Harvey and her out of the place.

The car followed Harvey’s instructions and stopped at a townhouse; Queenie had arranged the place for him to stay beforehand.

Harvey invited Katy in for tea to commemorate their relationship as old friends.

Chapter 3838

Queenie knew exactly what Harvey liked. She had already arranged some vintage Black Tea for him to enjoy.

While the faint fragrance of tea spread in the air, Harvey went upstairs to take a shower. He felt very refreshed after changing into his sportswear.

Katy shot him a curious glance. After a while, she burst out laughing.

“If you keep running around me like that, I’ll take a bite out of you sooner or later!”

Harvey pouted after hearing those words.

“No way! I treat you like my sister, yet you’re trying to force yourself on me?”

“How dare you!”

“Tch!”

Katy scoffed.

“Everyone here wants a piece of me.”

“I’m not even interested in any of them, though. I only have you on my mind.”

“In any case...”

“You’ll be missing out when I change my mind!”

Harvey was speechless.

‘Why did she have to bring up such a sensitive topic...?’

#

Right when the air became a little more heated, Katy’s phone rang again.

She frowned when she picked up the call; it was Lara again.

Lara kept pestering Katy non-stop; other than pestering her to show up to the dinner on time, she also demanded Katy to go alone and endure whatever necessary. 1

Lara said that Vance was being supported by the Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance, so he was used to being a little lawless. No matter what, Katy wasn’t allowed to go against that man.

Katy, however, casually brushed off the warnings.

It didn’t matter whether it was Blackburn City or the South Sea Martial Arts Alliance; none of it was enough to scare her off.

“Your friend’s pretty interesting, Katy,” Harvey said, looking curious.

“How is a simple middleman so intent on getting involved with your personal business? People who don’t know might just think that she’s the actual creditor.”

Katy smiled.

“Lara’s the South Sea’s social butterfly; she has a lot of connections on both sides of the underworld.”

“She needs to earn money this way. She’ll get hundreds and thousands of dollars if we manage to get a deal out of this business. It’s only natural for her to work this hard.”

“Are you close to her?” Harvey asked.

“No. The third house of the family introduced her to me.”

“They said that they want ten percent of the money if this goes through,” Katy said quietly, holding her teacup.

“I thought that the second and third houses were trying to screw me over, but after investigating the situation further, I can confirm that Lara is an actual mediator.”

“There shouldn’t be much of a fuss, then.”

“That said, Vance is quite problematic.”

“He’s the CEO of the Marina Bay Freight Company. There are rumors saying that he has good connections with the person in charge of the Blackburn Martial Arts Alliance, Rhett Padlow.”

“That said, I suspect that Rhett is the real boss of the company.”

“After all, the company takes up one-third of the pier’s logistics volume. It doesn’t seem like much, but it shouldn’t be a problem for the company to make hundreds and millions of dollars.”

“There’s no way Rhett would let an outsider make all this money. There’s a high probability that Vance is just a front put up by him.”

“Simply put, it may seem like Vance wants us to pay the money back, but the real target is actually the Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance.”

“This is a little troublesome...”

“Not really. As long as Vance keeps this a secret, we can just deal with the situation while pretending that none of this ever happened.”

Chapter 3839

“True. Judging from how much Rhett earns, he wouldn’t care much about a hundred and fifty million dollars anyway!”

“That’s why we need to deal with Vance first.”

Katy pulled her phone out before sending some documents to Harvey.

“I’ve already got someone to investigate this man.”

“In addition to his accomplishments, he’s obsessed with gambling, alcohol, and women.”

“It’s said that his biggest hobby is to take advantage of female tourists around here.”

“Women from the Island Nations, America, and India pique his interests...”

“Even the ones from Country H.”

Katy glanced at Harvey; seeing that he remained mostly the same, she continued talking.

“I heard there was a woman with a bit of status who came to Blackburn City for a vacation. She got taken advantage of soon after that...”

“She then jumped into the sea without hesitation and died.”

“It was a massive incident back then; the woman’s family demanded a statement from the Blackburn City Martial Arts Alliance.”

“In the end, Rhett managed to silence the entire thing.”

Katy’s eyes were cold.

“This made Vance think he was the king of Blackburn City. He believed that he could sleep with any woman he wanted and deal with any kind of situation as he pleased.”

“People like that are hard to deal with.”

Harvey narrowed, his expression just as icy as Katy’s eyes.

“He preys on tourists? Interesting...”

“That said, does he not know that he’s basically killing himself doing this?”

Katy shook her head.

“If they believed in that, they would be worshiping a god by now. They wouldn’t still be here.”

“Vance is only thinking about returning the money because of my family’s title as one of South Sea’s three great families.”

“Any other person wouldn’t even get a chance to negotiate.”

Harvey nodded and pondered about the situation before he sent Gordon a text.

At about seven o’clock, Katy got a phone call as soon as she anch

It was Lara again. “CEO Toft’s already waiting for you! You need to hurry!”

“He says that he wants to see you as soon as possible! He has other things to do later.”

“Don’t make him wait any longer!”

“I’m telling you this one more time, Miss Cobb. You belong to the Cobb family, but you of all people should know that your family’s already falling off at this point!”

“You know CEO Toft’s background more than I do. You need to do everything in your power to please him!”

“It’ll be bad if you anger him!”

“Not just you, I’ll also be dragged down with you if that happens!”

Katy had a tiny smile after hearing those words.

“Don’t worry. I’ll get there on time.”

Lara finally let out a sigh of relief after hearing those words.

She walked into the club’s Heavenly Box, accompanied by several dozen people and five bodyguards inside.

Lara respectfully walked toward a man with dyed white hair while showing a warm smile.

“Everything’s done here, CEO Toft!”

“Don’t you worry!”

“Miss Cobb’s an obedient woman. She’s very sincere, too.”

“I’m sure you’ll be happy with the arrangements.”

After her brief conversations with Katy, Lara concluded that Katy was a weak woman who was easy to take advantage of.

Chapter 3840

“Not bad! Not bad at all!”

“As expected from an outstanding woman!”

Vance picked up the laptop in front of him, which was full of Katy’s pictures.

He kept flipping through the pages, filled with uncontrollable lust.

“I heard Miss Cobb has been studying abroad. She hasn’t been toyed with yet too, I see! Not bad! I like her a lot!”

“I’ve been having bad luck recently. This virgin is just what I need!”

“I like her! I like her a lot!”

Vance opened a bottle of red wine and took a sip, and waggled his tongue around with a dirty expression.

Lara smiled shyly and handed a few blue pills to Vance.

“Don’t you worry, CEO Toft. You can only get this stuff in India! You’ll be invincible after you take these,” she whispered.

Vance burst out laughing and pinched Lara’s face with a smile.

“How thoughtful of you!”

“Don’t worry. I’ll make sure you get the money you deserve!”

Creak!

The door was pushed open at this moment. It wasn’t as loud, but it made enough noise for everyone to look over.

Vance stopped talking as well. He gripped his goblet and casually strutted toward the door. He wanted to see what kind of ignorant fool would open his door all of a sudden.

Vance had encountered similar things before when he was out clubbing. A bunch of drunk people would go crazy in his box, and he would get his subordinates to break their limbs and throw them to the hospital.

The guests there were excited to see the same thing happen again.

The men had playful looks on their faces, while the women looked utterly exhilarated.

young

Naturally, everyone was waiting to watch a good show. Otherwise, it’d be extremely boring for them.

A man and a woman walked in soon after.

It was Harvey and Katy.

“Miss Cobb!”

Lara patted her chest and let out a huge sigh upon seeing Katy’s face.

She was glad that Katy had showed up. Vance would’ve crippled her if she couldn’t complete her mission.

Just as she was about to grab Katy, she noticed Harvey beside Katy.

‘A man?’

‘This b*tch brought a man with her?!’

“What’s the meaning of this, Katy?!” Lara screeched, a horrible look on her face.

“Did you not understand me?”

“I told you to come alone! Why did you bring a man with you?”

“You’re disrespecting me!”

She pointed furiously at Harvey.

“I don’t care where you came from, but you better get out of here and go away as far as you can!”

“Remember! As far as you can!”

Harvey glanced calmly at Lara, and then ignored her completely. He shifted his gaze toward

Vance, who had a small grin.

Katy looked over as well before taking a step forward.

“You must be Vance.”

Everyone couldn’t help but freeze after seeing Katy’s cold expression.

Even Lara couldn’t figure out what was going on.

‘Didn’t Katy come here to ask for Vince’s money?’

‘How is she still acting so high and mighty right now?’

‘Does she have a death wish or something?!’