

An Understated Dominance By Marina Vittori

Chapter 1903 -

For a moment, everyone looked at each other in shock and confusion.

Although many people know that Rufus Rhys is not in good health, in their opinion, he should be able to survive for a few more years.

Now that internal and external troubles have just been resolved, Rufus Rhys is about to give way, which inevitably makes people a little off guard.

"Your Majesty, isn't this too hasty?" Princess Elara advised next to him.

"Yes, Your Majesty, you are in good health and live a long life. Why did you give up the throne so early?" Smith Richards was very upright.

Although the rest of the people were confused, no one dared to speak.

If you try to persuade Rufus Rhys, you may offend the future new prince, so at this time, smart people will choose to wait and see what happens.

"I know very well about my body that I won't be able to live for long. Taking advantage of everyone's presence now, arranging the funeral arrangements in advance can be regarded as fulfilling my wish." Rufus Rhys smiled lightly.

"Your Majesty..."

Princess Elara was about to say something, but was interrupted by Rufus Rhys raising his hand: "Okay, I have made up my mind, no need to persuade anymore."

Rufus Rhys faced the crowd again and said with a serious expression: "Everyone, the new king is very important. It will affect the future rise and fall of West Lucozia. I can't make the decision alone, so I want to ask everyone here who you think is the most qualified to be the future Prince of West Lucozia?"

Hearing this, everyone became even more uneasy.

Judging from this posture, Rufus Rhys is going to hold an internal vote.

Whoever has more supporters will have the opportunity to become the future King of West Lucozia.

The question now is, should we choose Dustin? Or choose Thorian Rhys?

In terms of talent and ability, Dustin is obviously better.

But judging from the family background and the power behind it, Thorian Rhys has a unique advantage.

On the one hand, Thorian Rhys has performed very well in the military in recent years, and the future is promising.

On the other hand, it was because of Thorian Rhys's mother, Princess Elara.

As the eldest princess of the Dragonmarsh Kingdom, Princess Elara has great influence in both West Lucozia and Stonia.

The affiliated forces behind it are even more astonishing.

Taking all aspects into consideration, it is obvious that Thorian Rhys has a greater chance of becoming the new king.

After all, compared to personal ability, having many supporters is the most important factor in becoming the new king.

"Your Highness, I personally feel that His Highness the Second Highness is the most suitable as the new king." A general suddenly stood up.

"Second General!"

The second Black Dragon Army general stood up and said loudly: "We have all seen His Highness's performance in the army over the years. His outstanding performance is far superior to that of us veterans. I believe, West Lucozia will definitely not go wrong if it is handed over to His Highness the Second Highness!"

"That's right! We support His Highness the Second Highness to be king!"

At this moment, many people began to agree.

On the one hand, this is because Thorian Rhys himself is excellent, and on the other hand, it is also because of the influence of Princess Elara, the eldest princess.

"Where are the others?"

Rufus Rhys did not express his position and looked around.

"Your Highness, I have a different opinion."

At this time, Patrick Jane said: "Although His Highness the Second Highness is excellent, he is still a little less polished than His Highness, so I think His Highness is more suitable to be the king."