Married At First Sight Chapter 3479– “Appreciation is the beginning of love.”

Tania encouraged Tatum, “Be good to her, make delicious food for her, and win her heart through her stomach. Gradually, she will be unable to live without you. That’s how I succeeded in winning a wife. I don’t know why your grandma chose such a naughty girl for you.

I feel like all the wives your grandma picked for you are foodies. Maybe she’s just a foodie herself. Foodies are good eaters, so the ones chosen for you are all good eaters.”

Tania said rather helplessly.

Serenity, Camryn, and Hayden were all foodies. Evan gave up on the old lady’s choices because he couldn’t agree with her picks. It’s not yet known if the girl he likes will be a foodie.

What if all nine brothers married wives who were foodies?

When they got together during the holidays, it would be a world of delicious food.

Tania couldn’t help but laugh, just thinking about the scene of a few foodies gathering together.

Foodies who love to eat also make delicious food.

Even Camryn, who couldn’t cook because she couldn’t see before, just ate after she regained her sight because Trenton was reluctant to let her cook.

Tatum said with a smile, “There’s nothing wrong with being a foodie. Like Elora, if she hadn’t been so picky, I wouldn’t have been able to make progress. Mom, I cooked for her. At the beginning, she could point out problems with all the dishes I made every day and suggest corrections. Even when I cook now, she can still find issues.

While she is working, I take the time to practice cooking and make corrections according to her feedback. One day, she didn’t point out any problems, and even praised me for making the food taste better after I corrected it.”

When it came to cooking, Tatum couldn’t stop talking.

Elora’s recognition of his cooking skills made him very happy.

He was even happier than an ordinary person winning a five-million-dollar jackpot.

He felt that Elora was picky and clever, always finding faults so he could correct them and improve his cooking skills.

Tania listened patiently to Tatum's words.

Even if he kept talking over and over again, Tania was still very patient.

Finally, when Tatum finished speaking, Tania asked him, "Is Elora easy to get along with?"

Apart from being a tricky talker, Tania had no impression of Elora, her future daughter-in-law.

Tatum said, "I think she's okay, but she's quite serious a lot of the time. It's normal for her to be serious in her position, just like my eldest brother. My eldest brother is also very serious in front of outsiders. He used to be serious in front of us, which was scary. After having my sister-in-law, my eldest brother's temper has changed a lot. Although he is still serious now, at least he has a gentle side.

I am used to serious people anyway. Elora is more serious, but it's okay. She is under a lot of pressure in her position, and the elders in her family are too obsessed with the idea that the successor must be a son.

If she doesn't have a brother, it's worth it for her to be so tired. But when the company was handed over to her brother, I felt a little sorry for how tired she was, but I saw that she was enjoying it, and she plans for herself."

It is impossible for every family successor not to develop some private business of their own. They will invest in their own personal companies. Even if they leave the family business in the future, they will not be left with nothing.

After hearing this, Tania felt a little sorry for her daughter-in-law. She said, "Why didn't she reincarnate into our family? She would be our darling. We only value girls over boys and would not treat her badly."
