

Married At First Sight Chapter 3499

Married At First Sight Chapter 3499-“I’m going, I’m going right now,” the fake Carrie stammered, not daring to utter another harsh word or linger any longer.

When Callum shouted, “Get out,” she swiftly turned, ran to her car, and drove away from Spring Blossoms.

Camryn’s flower shop had a charming name, Spring Blossoms, but it was anything but fun for her. If she stayed any longer, she feared she might lose a few teeth.

After the fake Carrie left, Mrs. Labbe didn’t want to stay much longer either. She turned to Camryn and said, “Second Young Madam, I’ll be leaving now. I’ll come back tomorrow to pick up the bouquet I ordered.”

“Okay,” Camryn replied.

Mrs. Labbe glanced at Callum discreetly before leaving with her two bodyguards.

Camryn walked out of the store and watched Mrs. Labbe’s car drive away. She didn’t turn back until it disappeared from sight, then re-entered the store.

“How did you find time to come here?” Camryn asked Callum softly as she prepared to pour him a glass of water. “With Eldest Brother going on a business trip, you must be very busy.”

Zachary had to go to Jensburg, although he told others it was for a business trip. To avoid worrying Serenity, he didn’t mention Jensburg specifically, but he had yet to inform Serenity about his departure.

“No matter how busy I am, I still need to eat. Do you know what time it is now?” Callum pinched her cheek lightly. Then, with a serious tone, he said, “Wife, next time she insults you, fight back fiercely. Don’t let her off as easily as you did today. Think about everything she’s done to you before. Whenever I recall how she bullied you, I want to strangle her. If murder weren’t illegal, she wouldn’t know how many times I’d have killed her by now.”

Camryn smiled. “If killing were legal, I might have died countless times already.”

The bodyguards protecting Camryn discreetly stepped outside after Callum arrived, acting as invisible men.

Camryn said, “The Carrie who insulted me isn’t the real Carrie.”

Callum was momentarily stunned. “Not real? A fake? But she seems just like her.”

Callum didn’t pay much attention to Carrie. As long as she didn’t disturb Camryn, he didn’t even care what she looked like.

So, Callum couldn't tell that this Carrie was a fake. In fact, most people couldn't tell.

Even if Serenity were present, she might not have noticed.

Camryn, having known her sister for over twenty years, recognized that the imposter was sometimes unnatural. Additionally, she had observed the imposter's hands, which weren't as slender, white, or soft as Carrie's.
