

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3526-Although Evan didn't work at York Corporation's headquarters, he still had responsibilities and managed several subsidiaries. The men of the York family were expected to understand the operations of York Corporation as soon as they entered the workforce.

They needed to be self-sufficient. Even if they were promoted, they had to be capable of supporting York Corporation, regardless of their position within the company.

So, it wasn't hard for Callum to make Evan help him with documents. Evan knew every project and issue at the headquarters.

"So many!" Evan exclaimed.

Callum responded irritably, "You think we're relaxed, but your eldest brother and I are always busy while you seem idle."

Evan protested, "I'm not idle. I'm very busy too."

Callum replied, "I don't see you busy."

Evan was at a loss for words. He didn't work at the headquarters, so his brothers couldn't see his busyness. He regretted claiming he was bored earlier. It would have been better to state his purpose directly.

"My eldest brother is even more tired," Callum said.

Zachary was the core of York Corporation. Although he didn't handle minor issues, he dealt with many major ones. With the company being so large, Zachary had numerous responsibilities, endless meetings, and frequent social events.

Before they were married, it was normal for the brothers to socialize late into the night. Zachary used to consider getting home by 11:00 p.m. early.

After getting married and having families, they focused more on family life, reducing or shortening social events. This shift gave the younger brothers more opportunities to gain experience.

Evan didn't dare say anything further.

Callum walked to the sofa, sat down, put his coffee cup on the table, and took out his phone to message Camryn.

Camryn replied quickly, asking how he had time to text.

“I captured a helper,” Callum joyfully shared with Camryn.

Camryn sent a question mark.

Callum typed two words: Evan.

“Brother,” Evan called from across the room.

“What?” Callum responded impatiently, not even looking up.

“Is my second sister-in-law free?” Evan asked.

Callum looked up, his eyes cautious, and asked defensively, “Why do you want your second sister-in-law’s help? Her eyes haven’t fully recovered yet, so don’t bother her. Grandma is at home. If you need anything, go to Grandma or Mom.”

“Brother, I haven’t even said what I need, and you’re already rejecting me,” Evan said, feeling frustrated. Callum was overly protective of Camryn, but all the brothers doted on their wives.

As the youngest, Evan might get scolded by his eldest brother, but the sisters-in-law were definitely cherished by all the brothers.

Evan hadn’t succeeded in winning over his love interest yet, so he couldn’t experience the joy of spoiling a wife. He hadn’t even managed to pet Fox yet, and pursuing his love was proving extremely difficult. If he ever succeeded, he would want to spoil Fox too.

Evan understood his brothers’ behavior in pampering their wives.

Callum snorted, “Whenever you ask about your sister-in-law, you must need something. If your brothers aren’t willing to help you, you resort to troubling your sister-in-law.”

Knowing their brothers spoiled their wives, if they faced resistance from their brothers, the younger ones would turn to their sisters-in-law for help.
