

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1785

Chapter 1785

James was startled and said frantically. "What are you doing. Thea?"

Thea replied with a smile, "It's useless to me. I already have the Four Holy Beasts' blood in me. Plus, we've collected so much dragon blood. It's good enough for me to consume some of the dragon blood. The Dragon Essence will be a waste on me."

Henry held the Dragon Essence in his hands and felt its warmth.

He could not help asking, "Thea, what is this?"

Before Thea could reply, James interjected. "This is an extraordinary treasure that martial artists worldwide risked their lives to obtain. Not long ago, powerful martial artists worldwide went through a lot of effort to kill the dragon and acquire the Dragon Essence."

"Is this the Dragon Essence?"

Henry held up the cyan Dragon Essence in his hand with shock.

James replied, "Mhm."

"No, this is too valuable for me to accept." Henry immediately handed it back to Thea.

"I can't accept this, Thea."

Thea said, "Just take it. It's really useless to me."

"James, what do I do?"

Henry looked at James.

James said with a smile, "It's a gift. You should accept it. But, you should consume it as soon as possible. If other martial artists find out about it, they'll definitely come after you."

With James' permission, Henry accepted it.

"Thank you, Thea."

Thea responded with a faint smile.

After Henry accepted the Dragon Essence, he invited James and Thea upstairs.

In the room upstairs, Whitney had already put on her wedding dress and was getting her makeup done by a makeup artist.

Seeing Whitney's wedding dress, Thea tightened her grip on James' hand. She glanced at him and said enviously, "Even Henry is getting married, and Whitney is wearing a wedding dress. Will I ever have the chance to wear a wedding dress in my life?"

James immediately understood Thea's words.

"Don't worry. I'll hold a grand wedding for you soon."

Thea lit up with a smile.

In fact, she did not really care about such things anymore.

She was satisfied as long as she could be with James.

James was the wedding officiant for Henry's wedding.

The couple had their wedding under the witness of many people.

After the wedding, James bid Henry farewell and left with Thea.

The next day, David hurried down the stairs of the Callahans' villa and said, "Mom, Dad, Grandpa! I got bad news! Thea and James disappeared."

"What?" Lex stood up abruptly.

After eating the dragon meat the previous night, he had diarrhea and discharged a lot of toxins.

Toxins were also discharged from his pores, making him look about ten years younger. Lex knew the meat he ate for dinner was extraordinary.

"Look."

David pulled out a letter and handed it to Lex.

Lex took the letter and read it.

"Dad, Mom, Grandpa. I'll be leaving. I'm going to wander the world with James and live a life of peace.

"The meat you ate was dragon meat.

“James and I worked hard to acquire it.

“We’ve left some dragon blood in the refrigerator. The dragon’s blood can make one immortal and live forever. The dragon’s blood isn’t enough to make everyone immortal. Grandpa, please allocate it as you see fit. The dragon’s blood can be very potent, so don’t consume it before becoming a martial artist. If anything happens, I won’t be around to help.

“I also left some cultivation methods on my computer with notes on how to practice them. My computer’s password is 123456.

“Grandpa, you can take a look and practice according to the cultivation methods. Since all the Callahans have consumed the dragon meat, all your physical fitness levels should have improved significantly. Thus, it’ll be easy for all of you to cultivate True Energy. Please remember to only consume the dragon’s blood after reaching the third rank.

“Love, Thea.”

Seeing the letter left by Thea, Lex’s hands trembled uncontrollably.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1786

Chapter 1786

Thea disappeared after leaving a letter for her family.

In the letter, she left a message about her wishes to wander the world with James.

However, they had not left Cansington.

After leaving the Callahans’ villa, they went to the House of Royals.

James planned to retire and leave with Thea.

However, Thea said that James still had too many unfinished businesses.

She said he had not settled and made arrangements for the people around him.

That included Quincy, Maxine, Tiara, and Cynthia.

Thea was worried about these unsettled relationships.

“I’ll give you a few days to deal with these things.”

Thea gave James enough time to deal with his complicated relationships.

James was troubled.

Initially, he simply wanted to leave.

“Thea, is this really necessary?”

Thea replied with dissatisfaction, “Why not? I know their feelings for you. What would they think if you just left without a word? Do you really want to leave them with hope and let them wait the rest of their lives for you?”

“Alright, fine. I’ll see them.”

James had no other choice.

He had always chosen to avoid it and did not want to face it, but it was time to settle everything.

Thea was right. He would still have worries in his heart if he did not resolve these relationships.

“There you go.” Thea smiled brightly.

James took the initiative to call Tiara.

Among these women, he owed Tiara the most. He had sexual intercourse with her unexpectedly and even gave her a promise.

However, he could not keep his promise.

Tiara was excited to receive James’ call.

After agreeing on a place to meet up, she changed into a newly bought dress and put on some makeup. She dressed up beautifully and headed to the agreed place excitedly.

Tiara waited in a private room of a casual coffee shop in Cansington. She looked stunning in a white dress with her hair tied up.

She had delicate features and pale skin that had a faint blush. She was nervous and kept rubbing the corners of her dress. She lowered her head and did not dare to look at James.

“Tiara.”

James spoke first and broke the silence.

“Mhm?”

Tiara raised her head and looked at James with unconcealable excitement.

James felt troubled after seeing the change in her expression. He took a deep breath and prepared himself. Then, he said, "It's been a long time since we last met. How have you been?"

"I've been good."

Tiara nodded and said, "Over the past year, I've been cultivating really hard. With Mr. Maverick's help, I cultivated my True Energy and became a martial artist. However, my cultivation base is weak, and I'm not able to help you yet."

Saying that, she lowered her head.

She looked to be blaming herself for not being able to help James.

Seeing this, James did not know how to break the news to her.

He feared Tiara would be hurt by his words and do something stupid.

However, he knew this matter had to be solved today.

He took out the Dragon Essence he obtained, placed it on the table, and pushed it to Tiara.

"What's this?"

Tiara was puzzled.

James explained, "This is a piece of Dragon Essence. It's a treasure sought out by martial artists. Martial artists will do anything to obtain it."

"What?" Tiara was stunned.

She waved her hand and rejected it. "I can't accept something so valuable."

James hurriedly said, "Tiara, there's something I have to tell you."

At that moment, Tiara seemed to have guessed what James was about to say, and crystal tears flowed down her eyes.

"What happened between us was an accident, and I know it has hurt you."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1787

James apologized, stood up, and bowed his head.

“I’m here to apologize for it.

“I’m really sorry.

“I’m unable to keep my promise to you.

“I should’ve made it clear to you earlier, but I’ve delayed it until now because of so many unexpected things.”

Tears kept rolling down Tiara’s cheeks.

Tiara knew this day would come, but she still held on to some hope all this time.

At that moment, she did not feel too much sadness but instead felt relieved.

Tiara said with a smile, “You don’t have to feel guilty about it, James.”

Although she was smiling, tears still rolled down her face.

Even so, she tried her best to comfort James. She did not want James to feel guilty or be burdened by her. James heaved a sigh of relief, seeing that Tiara had accepted his words.

“Thank you for the Dragon Essence.”

Tiara knew James would feel bad and brood over it on his future martial art path if she did not accept it. “I’ve got something else to do, so I’ll take my leave first.”

Tiara left with the Dragon Essence.

James sat on the sofa in the private room in a daze for about ten minutes.

“Huff.”

After some time, he took a deep breath.

Then, he called Quincy.

The meet-up location was the same coffee shop, but James had changed to a different private room. Soon, Quincy arrived.

She wore a red dress and had big, red, wavy curls, radiating with the charisma of a mature urban woman. “Long time no see, James.”

As soon as she sat down, she greeted James. With a faint smile, she asked jokingly, "What did you ask me out to tell me? Could it be that you want to invite me to your wedding?"

Quincy was very open-minded and accepting.

James said with a smile, "You've been helping me for the past two years, and I've always wanted to treat you to a meal but never had the chance to do so. I'm free today and wanted to sit with you for a while. What do you want for lunch? Go ahead and tell me a place. I'll treat you."

"You're being too polite with me."

Quincy said with a smile, "I'm helping you because I love to work. Even if I weren't helping you, I'd be working anyway."

James took out a syringe the size of a mineral bottle and handed it to Quincy.

"Dragon blood?" Quincy was startled.

Although she did not care about the ancient martial world's affairs, she had still heard the news about the dragon slaying.

She also knew James and Thea participated in slaughtering the dragon.

"Yeah."

James nodded gently and said, "This is the dragon's blood that every martial artist has been dreaming about. It's rumored the dragon's blood can make one immortal and live forever. Although I don't know if it's true, there are a few immortals in Sol and overseas."

"Gosh, you're being too kind. Who am I to receive this?"

Although Quincy chuckled jokingly, she still accepted the dragon's blood.

She was a wise woman and could guess that James had given her such a precious gift to say goodbye.

She maintained a smile on her face, but her heart was in sorrow.

Immortality?

What was the point?

Was she supposed to live a lonely eternity?

Despite the thought, she kept it to herself.

Quincy asked jokingly. "By the way, when will you and Thea hold your official wedding?"

James smiled and said, "We probably won't have a wedding. We'll leave Cansington in a few days to travel the world."

"Oh," Quincy left out a soft reply.

Her expression remained the same, but her eyes were filled with a trace of sadness.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1788

Chapter 1788

James caught a glimpse of the sadness that flashed in her eyes.

However, he could only pretend not to notice anything.

He stood up and said, "What do you want for lunch? It's my treat."

Quincy took out her phone, checked the time, and said, "I'm afraid I don't have the time to have lunch with you. I've already resigned from my position as the head of New Era Commerce. Xiomara is managing it right now. I'm currently working in Cansington and took a leave to meet up with you after getting your call. So, I'll have to leave first."

She raised the dragon blood and said, "Thanks for the dragon blood. Bye."

After speaking, she turned and left.

She took a few steps and stopped in her tracks. She turned around with a smile and said, "Remember, you still owe me one meal. If we have the chance to... to meet again..."

As Quincy spoke, she choked up and could not finish her sentence.

She wanted to pretend to be fine as if she did not care.

However, she could no longer keep up with her pretense.

At that moment, she cried.

Tears pooled in her eyes.

James could not bear to see Quincy like this and turned away.

“Treat me to a meal if we ever get the chance to meet again.” She finally finished her words.

Then, she walked toward James and embraced him from behind.

“C-Could you give me a hug once?” she asked softly.

James really wanted to return her hug but held back.

He should be firm if he wanted to end the relationship thoroughly.

James did not move, and Quincy immediately knew the answer.

She let go of James and turned around, leaving the private room.

After she left, James heaved a long sigh of relief.

Initially, he had no plans to do this and simply wanted to run away. However, he still chose to end these relationships. It was better to have short-term pain than to prolong it.

It was best for everyone if he ended everything once and for all.

Afterward, James headed to Cynthia’s villa.

Cynthia was alone at home.

For the past year, she had stayed in the villa most of the time. She cultivated when she had nothing to do and studied the cultivation method recorded on the Moonlit Flowers on Cliffside’s Edge.

Since she had a pure yin physique, Cold Energy would continuously be generated within her body, allowing her to rapidly improve her cultivation base. In just over a year, she had activated all her body’s meridians and entered the fifth rank.

Ding-dong!

Her doorbell rang.

Cynthia opened her door in her pajamas.

She was overjoyed to see it was James. With joy, she asked, “James, w-what brings you here?”

James was very calm in front of Cynthia since he had no emotional relationship with her. He simply came to say goodbye.

“Cynthia.”

He said with a smile, “Why? Am I not welcome?”

“N-Not at all. Come inside.”

She warmly invited James into the room.

After James entered the house, he took out the dragon blood he had prepared in advance and said, Cynthia, I’ll be leaving. I came to bid farewell to you. I’m thankful for the help the Dawns have given me over the past year. I don’t have anything to give you before I leave. I brought back a lot of dragon blood from the island overseas and wanted to give you some. Dragon blood can make one immortal.”

After he finished speaking, he handed over the dragon blood.

Cynthia knew about the dragon because her teacher was Callan.

Some time ago, Callan had also stayed at her house for a few days to guide her in her training.

“Huh?”

She was shocked by James’ gift and exclaimed, “Dragon blood? Isn’t this too valuable to be given to me? James smiled and said, “I’ve got a lot.”

“Alright.”

With James’ reassurance, Cynthia accepted it.

After accepting it, she asked, “When are you leaving?”

James replied, “Pretty soon. Perhaps in a few more days.”

He was still waiting.

Something had been on his heart for a long time-his family.