Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 501-Early the next morning, Caroline and Sonia set off for the audition. The audition was being held at the International Center for Dramatic Arts.

Helena didn't show up. Sonia felt very awkward about it. She said, "Caroline, let me call Helena." "Alright." Caroline could guess why Helena hadn't come. However, she didn't say anything about it. She only watched as Sonia walked off.

After walking a distance from Caroline, Sonia finally dialed Helena's number.

"Helena, why aren't you here yet? The audition will be starting soon." Helena replied, "Things will be the same whether I'm there or not. The role belongs to Daphne Dawson, anyway." After a pause, she continued, "Sonia, you have to trust me. If you come back now, we can still get that TV show in the bag." "Helena-" "Enough," Helena said, cutting Sonia off.

"After so many years working with you, I know your character. You won't give up before you run into a few dead ends.

"I don't want to say too much more, but I will say this. If you fail this time, you have to listen to me about every work thing after this." Sonia's brows scrunched together. "Helena ..." "Look. Even you know that you won't get this role. I really don't understand why you have to get involved." "It's not that, Helena-" "Don't say anything more." Helena interrupted again.

"It's settled. If you don't get this role, I'll set up all your next jobs." Sonia kept silent.

+15 BONUS Helena sighed and ended the call.

Seeing Sonia put down her phone in dejection, Caroline could guess what had happened. She silently looked away.

Yet, as she did so, her eyes coincidentally met Daphne's. Nausea rose within her again.

Caroline clenched her fists tightly as she held back the wave of disgust.

Daphne had also seen Caroline. Seeing her standing there, unaffected, rage sprang up within her.

Daphne had only found out that Jane's plan had failed after those people had been arrested. The repeated failures made them exercise caution when dealing with Caroline.

However, the hatred Daphne felt for Caroline had only increased after these failures.

Now that she was seeing Caroline here, Daphne really wanted to go forward and slap Caroline to vent her rage.

But she couldn't!

Today, Marietta was here for an audition, and there were journalists everywhere.

If there was even one photo of her misbehaving, it would make a huge splash in the news everywhere.

Thus, Daphne had to hold herself back. She clenched her fists.

Right after that, she saw Sonia by Caroline's side. Daphne immediately understood why Caroline was here. She must have brought Sonia to try for the lead role in "Daughter of the Sea".

Didn't Caroline know that this role was already hers?

Marietta's "Daughter of the Sea" was a joint investment venture between SY Group's Easton branch and the Collins Group.

That was to say, Howard was one of the investors in this play. He had already told Marietta that Daphne had to be the star of the show.

And Marietta had agreed.

That meant that this matter was a sure thing. It was a joke that Caroline didn't even know this.

She had even brought Sonia to try to compete for the role!

Daphne wore a sweet smile as she walked toward Caroline and Sonia

Bogus Billionaire By Shining Riviera Chapter 502-“Ms. Evans, Sonia” Caroline looked at the smile on Daphne’s face and felt a fire burning in her chest.

Her gaze settled on the reporters enthusiastically snapping pictures behind Daphne, and the rage on her face melted into a smile.

“Ms. Dawson.” Daphne felt like Caroline was different from before. However, she couldn’t put her finger on what was different.

Thinking about how the role would definitely be hers, though, she didn’t care anymore.

She was grinning as she looked at Caroline. Lowering her voice, she said in Caroline’s ear, “You sure are brave. Everyone knows this role is mine, but you still showed up anyway.” Since they were so close, everyone thought they were whispering to each other and assumed that they had a close relationship.

The smile on Caroline’s face widened. “Do you think it’s yours just because you say so?” Amusement tinted Daphne’s eyes. “Oh, are you really naive enough to believe that talent is more important than having a backer in the entertainment industry?” At this, Daphne moved back slightly, her face alight with joy.

Caroline maintained her smile as she said, “I don’t understand the entertainment industry, so I don’t know how it works.

“I came here today to show the Morrison family that they can’t just do anything they want just because they’re the top family in Easton.” Daphne was taken aback for a second. She had no clue what Caroline was talking about.

Behind her, the cameras kept flashing. After calling Caroline a nutjob lowly, she went backstage with her manager.

After Daphne left, Sonia said to Caroline, “Caroline, let’s go too.” “Alright.” Caroline nodded, and they both went backstage.

416 BONUS Biker than Paphine this was many other misi celebrities backstage since everyone knew the role he/she had to play, they were only there to play along. None of the other actresses had as much clout as Daphne, so the makeup artists and costumers backstage all surrounded Bapline and spoke respectfully to her Ale Bawean your skin is perfect Ate Dawson? You should call her Mie Morrison, ten't that right, Mrs. Morrison?" Paphne was overjoyed "Oh, how sweet you all are Actually, it desen't really matter what you call How can that worke You're Mr Eddy's second aunt! We should be calling you Mrs. Mottison." The crew littered some mor "Caroline" Soma tugged Caroline from where she had nervously sat down for her makeup to be done She wasn't nervous because she would have to go onstage. Rather, it was because of Caroline's she asked in concern when Caroline finally looked over "Are you e ght?" she asked n Caroline forced a smile "I'm fine " She just felt very annoyed when she heard those people calling Daphne Mrs.

Morrison.

In the past, she hadn't understood how such a refined woman as Gwen's mother could become so terrifying in the face of her husband's cheating Now, she finally understood Although Caroline was angry that Kirk had lied to her, she was still jealous. Envy bubbled in her heart, overflowing in such a way that she wanted to throw caution to the wind and fight Daphne.

She had really gone mad It was clear that Kirk was the one at fault in this. Daphne might not have a clue about it, either. But Caroline didn't feel like beating Kirk up at all. She got jealous instead.

Caroline let out a soft breath. It was fortunate that she would be divorcing Kirk tomorrow When the time came, they would be far apart, and she wouldn't have to worry about losing herself in this relationship.

After taking a deep breath, she put on a bright smile. "All the best, Sonia. I'll head to the audience seats new." "Alright." After Caroline left backstage, she followed the staff's instructions to head to the audience seats.

Right then, a gorgeous woman with blonde hair and blue eyes walked over. A familiar scent wafted off her and drifted to Caroline.
