Chapter 971

The entire city of Sumeria went into action.

The Southern Warzone soldiers, the Lycantroops elites, and the Hawkeye Group turned Sumeria upside down.

A whole day soon passed.

In Celestial Enterprise, Andrius got a call from Noir.

Noir reported, "Andy, the soldiers are searching through various means and have basically flipped the whole city upside down, but we still can't find Luna. It's like she evaporated from this world..."

"Got it."

Andrius hung up the phone, his face filled with worry.

Tap, tap, tap!

He sat at Luna's desk and subconsciously tapped his fingers on the desktop, creating a crisp rhythmic sound.

Andrius fell into thought. He had a feeling.

Ever since leading the Lycantroops eastward, exposing the fake emperor, and reinstating the real emperor, a series of events had occurred.

The sudden rise of the Swallow family!

His shattered meridians!

The involvement of the Medicine Sect!

The Klein family's secret treasure!

The mysterious mural!

The Ancient Martial Assembly!

Halle falling to a scheme!

Luna's disappearance!

It felt like an invisible hand was weaving a vast web behind these events, whose motives were difficult to discern.

Andrius could sense that something unusual was happening. However, he did not know where to start investigating.

That feeling was like punching cotton. No matter how hard he punched, it seemed useless. At that moment, Hugh arrived to report, "Master, my father has implemented your instructions and is controlling all the exits to Sumerial

"Whether its water routes, land routes, air routes, or even hidden paths, he has deployed Southern Warzone soldiers to guard them. As long as anyone wants to leave Sumeria, they'll be taken under surveillance and subjected to comprehensive questioning.

"However, we still haven't found any clues about Luna."

At those words, Andrius' expression became even grimmer. He had a feeling that Luna's disappearance was related to the four martial families.

Otherwise, how could she have mysteriously vanished without a trace after they just slept together last night?

Furthermore, it was like she disappeared from the face of the earth.

The only ones capable of achieving this in Sumeria were the top experts from the four great families.

Andrius could not think of any other possibilities.

With that thought, he called Kate. "Kate, is your grandfather ready? When can you both come to Sumeria?"

"Well..." Kate paused and said, "The Ancient Martial Assembly is approaching, and there are many matters to deal with in the Medicine Sect. I can only try to come as soon as possible..."

Andrius was not satisfied with this answer, but he had no other choice.

After he hung up the phone, Hugh comforted him, "Master, maybe the situation isn't as bad as you think, and your wife will return tomorrow."

Andrius smiled wryly.

If the four great families were involved, the situation would only get worse.

"You can go back to work." Andrius waved his hand and said, "Let me have some time alone."

He needed to sort through the recent events and see if he could find any traces.

"Yes, Master," Hugh replied obediently and left the office.

After leaving Celestial Enterprise, he drove an unlicensed military vehicle, intending to return to the Southern Warzone headquarters to mobilize more people to investigate Luna's whereabouts.

This was a big deal related to his master, and if he could find his master's wife, it would undoubtedly earn him a lot of points!

Screech-

Just as he floored the gas pedal, someone in black suddenly appeared in the middle of the road, standing motionlessly.

Hugh slammed on the brakes and narrowly avoided a collision.

"What are you doing?" Hugh stuck his head out and snapped.

Unexpectedly, the person in black remained unmoved and hooked a finger at Hugh, as if saying. Hit me if you can!

Chapter 972

Hugh was instantly furious. He opened the car door and got out, storming toward the person in black. "If you want to die, you can just jump off a building. Don't get in my way!"

"Kekeke..." The person let out a strange laugh and taunted Hugh. "I'm deliberately provoking you. Do you have a problem with that?"

Damn it.

Hugh's temper could not tolerate this. He rushed forward and raised his hand at the person.

Bam!

Unexpectedly, the person was a genuine expert. He punched Hugh in the eye, instantly bruising it, then proceeded to beat him up from all angles.

Hugh was covered in black and blue. However, he was a real man and did not make a sound.

"Andrius Moonshade's disciple is so weak!" The person in black stepped on Hugh's head and sneered then tossed out a letter. "I'll spare your life today. Deliver that letter to Andrius."

After saying that, the person swiftly disappeared from sight.

When he left, Hugh winced in pain and hissed. "Master, I'm sorry. I've embarrassed you... Ow-"

Hugh picked up the letter from the ground and limped back to Celestial Enterprise.

In the office, Andrius was lost in thought when he saw Hugh enter with a limp, his forehead covered in dust and blood at the corners of his mouth.

His eyes suddenly widened, and he asked in a low voice, "What happened?"

"Master..." Hugh did not mention that he had been beaten. He just grinned and handed Andrius the letter, saying, "I had a little dispute with someone on the road, and he told me to deliver this letter to you."

Andrius took the letter and opened it on the spot.

On the letter was a conspicuously written message: "Andrius Moonshade, if you want Luna to live, then come to Skyscraper Cliff!"

Andrius actually felt more relieved after reading the letter. Things would be easier if the other party provided information.

Andrius suddenly stood up and stared at Hugh. "Hugh, what distinctive features did the person who gave you the letter have? Can you identify them?"

Hugh recalled carefully and said, "That person was dressed in a black robe and covered their face, revealing only their eyes. Their voice sounded young, but when I fought them, I noticed that their skin was very wrinkled, making him look like a seventy or eighty-year-old person."

An old person?

Andrius naturally thought of Old Hagstorm, but due to cultivation, the latter's skin was not wrinkled and instead quite smooth. It naturally could not be Old Hagstorm

Could this person be a secret expert from the four great martial families?

Andrius' expression grew solemn, and he called Dax Dax, "I got some news Just now, a person in black sent a letter telling me to go to Skyscraper Cliff to save Luna"

"Skyscraper Cliff "

Dax's expression suddenly changed upon hearing the words. He said in a low voice, "That isn't a simple place.

"Skyscraper Cliff is located in the most difficult-to-reach area of the Southern Warzone. It's very close to Murrfield. There has been no exploration or development there for many years, so it's a desolate place. It's full of ferocious wild beasts like wolves and poisonous snakes.

"I once sent a team to clear the land, but there was too much resistance, so it amounted to nothing." Andrius fell silent.

According to Dax, that place was inaccessible to ordinary people. It was highly likely that a martial realm expert was involved this time..

Dax suggested, "Andrius, I think you should bring some troops along just in case to ensure that the other party won't escape easily while also helping you overcome any obstacles along the way."

Troops. Andrius shook his head and said, "Since the other party could capture Luna and send me a letter, they must be fully prepared.

"Suddenly sending a large army will only put them on alert. If they get angry and dispose of Luna, then it'll complicate matters."

Dax felt that Andrius' reasoning made sense and asked, "Then what's your plan?"

"The Lycan Manor will take action!"

Andrius' eyes sparkled.

Field experience was important. It was time for Noir and the others to get moving. He had already considered where to send the Lycan Manor on their first battle, but he did not expect the day to come so soon.

"The Lycan Manor?" Dax was stunned for a moment and asked, "What organization is that? Did you establish it yourself?"

Andrius briefly said, "I established it recently. It's an organization that deals specifically with martial realm experts It's still in its early stages."

Dax could not help but hiss in amazement.

Chapter 973

An organization that specifically dealt with martial realm experts meant that all of the members had to be martial realm experts as well!

Dax never expected Andrius to mobilize a group of martial realm experts with such ease....

What a bold move demonstrating foresight and capability!

Andrius' achievements today were by no means accidental!

Dax could not help but marvel.

After a moment of shock, he relaxed and said, "Alright, you handle it your way. Just call me if you need anything."

Andrius hung up the phone and called Lyra. "Lyra, I have a favor to ask."

"What is it, Mr. Wolf King?" Lyra was overjoyed when Andrius called her and said he needed her help, and she agreed without hesitation.

"It's complicated. Bring your grandfather and go to the Royal Gardens. I'll be there shortly. I'll tell you the specifics when I arrive."

Lyra agreed obediently. "Okay. Grandpa and I will go over now."

After hanging up the call, Andrius immediately set off.

When Andrius arrived at the Royal Gardens, Lyra's BMW was already parked at the entrance.

"Mr. Wolf King!" Lyra greeted Andrius.

Andrius nodded, and the three of them entered the house.

"Dr. Artemis and Lyra, a friend of mine called Halle is suffering from a strange illness. She's staying here for now." Andrius explained as they walked, "I haven't found a specific way to treat her yet, so I'd like your both to take care of her. I need to handle another matter."

They arrived at Halle's room.

Halle was still lying inside, as pale as a sheet. When she heard Andrius' voice, she opened her eyes and asked, "Where's Luna? Why isn't she here?"

Andrius said dimly, "Luna has been taken by someone. I asked Dr. Artemis and Lyra to take care of you on my behalf for now. The other party has already sent me a message. I need to save Luna."

Thedus and Lyra were aware of the situation and immediately assured Andrius, "Mr. Wolf King, you can rest easy and go about your business. Leave Halle to us."

Andrius nodded and instructed, "Her condition is quite complex. You just need to protect her heart and prevent her blood from freezing."

"Don't worry, Wolf King." Thedus said with a smile, "I've been practicing medicine for decades, so I have some ability in that regard."

Andrius felt more at ease at those words.

However, Halle was worried. "Andrius, the fact that someone kidnapped Luna at this time and sent you a message means they're prepared. You must be careful."

"I will. Dr. Artemis and Lyra, I'll leave this to you."

Andrius gave Halle a reassuring look, instructed Thedus and Lyra, then left the Royal Gardens.

In the military camp, Hugh had already prepared an off-road vehicle. When he saw Andrius arrive, he asked, "Master, are we leaving now?"

"Yes, there's no time to waste!"

Hugh nodded and started the car.

The vehicle had just left the military camp when a Rolls-Royce pulled up in front of them. It was Marcus and Noelle.

"Wolf King!" Marcus saluted respectfully and explained, "I heard from Master Wimbleton that you plan to visit Skyscraper Cliff in the extreme south?"

"Yes."

Noelle said, "Wolf King, a few years ago, I pursued a fugitive and went deep into Skyscraper Cliff, so I'm very familiar with the terrain there. I'll go with you."

Having a guide familiar with the terrain would definitely make the rescue operation much smoother. Furthermore, it was Noelle, whom they could trust.

Andrius agreed. "Sure, come with me. Hugh, you don't have to go."

With that settled, Andrius and Noelle got into the off-road vehicle and set off.

After several hours of driving, they drew near Skyscraper Cliff.

However, as Dax said, it was a desolate and barren place full of thorns and thistles. There were no roads to follow. The two could only get out of the car and continue on foot.

When they reached the edge of the mountain range where Skyscraper Cliff was located, it was already deep into the night.

Chapter 974

Howl...

Roar...

The sounds of beasts echoed continuously.

At this hour, fierce beasts were out hunting.

"Wolf King..." Noelle suggested, "The nighttime temperatures in the mountains are very low, and there are many wild beasts around. It's very dangerous. Why don't we set up camp here and depart in the morning?"

Although Andrius was a Martial Emperor, his inner energy was limited now, and he needed to conserve his strength. It was not wise to waste it battling wild beasts.

Thus, he agreed. "Let's rest for the night and set off early tomorrow."

Then, they began to set up their tents.

On the mountain peak, a massive boulder stood tall, radiating a faint brilliance under the moonlight and giving it a mystical appearance.

Sitting on top of the boulder was a graceful and elegant figure.

It was Luna!

She was diligently cultivating according to the method taught by Old Hagstorm, fully focused.

Several meters away, Old Hagstorm sat on another massive boulder and observed Luna from a distance.

"Tsk, tsk, tsk, the intensity of her inner energy is good..." Old Hagstorm nodded in satisfaction with a hint of a smile.

A moment later, Luna stopped practicing and rose from the boulder. She leaped down and approached Old Hagstorm, asking excitedly, "Master, is my cultivation a success?"

Old Hagstorm also jumped down from the boulder. He assessed Luna, sensed the inner energy in her body, and nodded. "Your cultivation isn't bad. You're in the mid-stage of the Martial King realm now."

Mid-stage Martial King!

With that level of power, Luna was already an exceptional expert among the younger generation of the martial world!

However, Luna was still not satisfied. "Just mid-stage Martial King? Andrius is already a Martial Emperor..."

If others heard her say this, they would undoubtedly be infuriated.

"Ms. Crestfall..."

A figure in black appeared from the shadows. It was the person who had beaten Hugh up. He looked at Luna and said enviously, "Reaching the mid-stage of the Martial King realm is already quite impressive

Furthermore, you broke through to Martial King despite having no foundation in just two days. Your speed of cultivation is unparalleled and even supernatural.

"There are countless cultivators who spend their entire lives and yet are unable to reach your current level..."

The person's voice was filled with admiration.

2/2

Mid-stage Martial King!

Simply breaking through to the martial realm posed a significant barrier to many, let alone reaching the second stage of Martial King.

Luna achieved this in two days, but she was still unsatisfied...

The person's eyes glimmered in envy.

Luna's unique constitution, combined with Old Hagstorm's elixirs, enabled her to progress to the mid-stage of the Martial King realm in just two days.

Who would not be envious of such speed and progress?

Unfortunately, envy was useless. Her cultivation method and rapid progress were not replicable.

"Thank you for your guidance over these two days, Master!" Luna realized that she might have set her goals too high and immediately expressed her gratitude to Old Hagstorm.

Old Hagstorm waved his hand and said to the person in black, "Where is Andrius?"

The person immediately replied, "He has already reached the base of the mountain and set up camp

He probably intends to start climbing the mountain after daybreak."

"In that case..." Old Hagstorm narrowed his eyes, revealing a strange glimmer within. "Let's proceed according to the original plan. Lead him here after daybreak!"

The next day, the morning sun painted the sky, illuminating the world with various colors. The red and golden sunrise seemed to bring life and vitality to the earth.

However, it hid an obscure and somber undertone. No flowers basked in the light, and no birds sang their songs

Chapter 975

It was a serene and deathly silence.

Ring, ring, ring-

Andrius was sleeping in his tent when a phone call woke him up, and he reluctantly opened his eyes.

It was Noir.

Noir quickly reported, "Andy, the Lycan Manor has been mobilized and we've arrived near Skyscraper Cliff. What do we do next?"

They were here!

Andrius raised the tent flap and looked at the peak of Skyscraper Cliff. After thinking for a moment, he instructed, "Stay concealed in the surroundings don't make any major movements. If you don't see the Lycantroops' signal flares in an hour, then charge into Skyscraper Cliff without hesitation!"

An hour was more than enough for Andrius. If an hour passed without him rescuing Luna, this operation would likely become extremely complicated.

"Understood!" Noir received the order and immediately began to make preparations.

Andrius ended the call and prepared to step out of the tent for a quick wash.

"Hm?"

At that moment, he keenly sensed someone silently approaching on the other side of the tent! As a Martial Emperor, his perception had grown much stronger than before.

Whoosh...

He dashed out without hesitation.

Rustle...

A branch moved, but there was nobody.

However, Andrius had already sensed something off and swiftly followed in that direction.

Soon, he saw a figure in black sprinting ahead.

"Hmph..." Andrius snorted and closely followed.

"Wolf King! Wolf King-" Noelle followed as well.

However, she was much slower than the other two and could only watch from afar as Andrius chased after the figure.

Before long, Andrius was led to a mountain.

Once there, the figure swiftly vanished.

Andrius watched him moving farther away and chased him without hesitation.

“Wait—” Behind them, Noelle gasped for breath and shouted, “Wolf King, this mountain is incredibly steep. Once the other party holds the high ground, they can establish a perfect defense and set up effective ambushes. It’s too dangerous!”

“Rushing in recklessly will only lead to an accident. The best approach now is to have the troops surround this mountain and carefully advance step by step!”

The opponent had come prepared.

Noelle’s concerns were valid.

However, Andrius frowned. He did not know how long it would take for the troops to set up an encirclement.

Furthermore, the opponent was clearly a formidable martial expert. They might not be able to withstand an army of tens of thousands, but the complex terrain here would make it easy for them to escape.

It was also highly likely that the opponent might take drastic measures and harm Luna in the face of a siege, leading to the mission’s failure.

“No!” At that thought, Andrius rejected Noelle’s proposal. “Time is running out. We don’t have the opportunity to send the army here. I must go up the mountain alone!”

Andrius believed that the opponent would not give him time.

Noelle slowly caught up.

After catching her breath, she said helplessly, “Okay, I’ll go up with you.”

They rested for a brief moment and continued to climb up the mountain.

After an unknown amount of time, although Andrius remained composed, Noelle was already panting heavily.

They finally arrived at the cliff.

After circling the final boulder, everything on the cliff was spread out in the open.

Andrius scanned the area and widened his eyes.

Several dozen meters away, a figure was suspended under an overhanging rock. Judging by that slender figure and familiar face, it was none other than Luna.

Beneath her was a bottomless abyss!
