"Just because of the lives of a few ants, you want the Insect Ruler to put himself in danger. It's not worth it at all!"

The person had an arrogant air, his speech speeding up as he spoke. He did not notice that Andrius' expression had already turned icy cold.

As soon as he finished speaking..

Swoosh!

The Argentum Qilin Spear was released from Andrius' hand and pierced through the man's shoulder with lightning speed.

The immense force sent him staggering back until he was pinned to a large tree.

"Arghhh..."

The man instantly cried out in pain, his shoulder bleeding profusely.

Andrius did not stop there. He swiftly grabbed the spear and prepared to deliver a fatal blow

At the critical moment...

"Andrius." The Insect Ruler shouted coldly, stopping Andrius' actions, and said, "Since we're in a cooperative relationship, isn't it inappropriate to put me in danger?"

He knew the strength of the white wolf king very well. It was even more formidable than what his subordinate described. The beast was swift and powerful, and it was much more difficult to deal with than human Martial Emperors.

"Putting you in danger? Unreasonable?" Andrius sneered and questioned the Insect Ruler,

"Then, let me ask you. You want me to intercept and kill powerful figures from the martial world.

"Those are all Martial Emperors and above. Furthermore, there might even be Martial Gods! Isn't that also putting me in danger?"

"Is that reasonable to you?" Andrius spoke righteously

The Insect Ruler's expression instantly darkened He could not find any words to refute, leaving him temporarily speechless.

His subordinates behind him were also at a loss for words.

Andrius saw that his plan was working and continued to press the issue Insect Ruler, I only have this one condition. If you can fulfill it, then I'll agree to cooperate with you. Do you agree or not?"

The Insect Ruler looked at Andrius, his eyes flickering with an inexplicable gleam. He did not expect this

He thought that he had outwitted Andrius and was feeling smug about it Unexpectedly.

Andrius turned the tables on him.

"I can agree to that." After a brief hesitation, the Insect Ruler nodded and said, "However, I need to arrange your interception plan first. Then, I'll hunt down the white wolf king"

"Hahaha.." Andrius burst into laughter and looked at the Insect Ruler with a strange expression He shook his head with a vague smile and said, "Insect King, you've been in the martial world for decades

"How could you say such a thing? Do you think I'm stupid, or are you the stupid one?"

The mocking and disdainful remark caused the Insect Ruler's expression to turn dark. He had indeed entertained that idea.

Once Andrius held up his end of the deal, he could wiggle out of his part and leave the white wolf king alone. After all, Andrius could not do anything to him.

However, Andrius mercilessly pierced through his thoughts and even derided him.

The Insect Ruler stared at Andrius coldly and said in a low voice, "Andrius Moonshade, are you insisting that I kill the white wolf king before you'll cooperate with me?"

"Yes, that's right!" Andrius also stared at the Insect Ruler, showing no signs of backing down.

Their gazes were like two needles colliding intensely.

"Fine!"

After a moment, the Insect Ruler gritted his teeth and agreed. Then, he glanced at Andrius and turned to order his subordinates, "Go and gather manpower. We'll set off now Today, we will kill that cursed beast"

Chapter 1069

Deep within Mount Valdez, although the environment was extremely harsh, its original appearance was preserved.

Amidst the falling snow, Andrius, the Insect Ruler, and their group appeared in a perilous location

The Insect Ruler introduced to Andrius, "This region is the habitat of the white wolf king and its wolf pack.

"However, the white wolf king somehow experienced a stroke of luck. Not only did it absorb vital energy.

but it also learned some breathing techniques and evolved to develop a certain level of intelligence.

gradually growing to its current form.

"It's to the extent that its strength has reached the Martial Emperor realm. Ordinary martial realm experts avoid this beast. They don't want to contend with it, so it's best to avoid it."

As they spoke, the Insect Ruler led Andrius and his subordinates to a precarious place.

On the ground, numerous long-deceased bodies lay strewn about. Some of them were fresh with a few bits of decaying flesh. There were human remains and those of large wild animals. Andrius scanned the area but did not find a body similar to Lewis's physique, which caused him to frown slightly.

He looked around and quickly noticed a face facing them.

The entrance to the cave appeared extremely smooth, but there were the occasional few strands of white fur. It was clear that this was the white wolf king's den.

Bam!

Just as Andrius was looking around, the Insect Ruler pounded a large rock with his fist.

The rock instantly shattered into pieces with a loud noise.

The noise echoed through the forest for a long time without stopping.

Awoo-

Following that was a long and angry howl.

Flickering shadows emerged from the snowy ground, revealing wolf-like figures. They were the same wolves that had attacked Andrius earlier

"Attack!" the Insect Ruler immediately waved his hand and ordered his subordinates.

"Kill!"

"Kill-"

The experts rushed forward.

They were all martial realm experts and fought with their bare hands since they did not carry firearms

The battle between the two sides quickly escalated.

At the same time, a massive white figure appeared in the group's line of sight. It was steady and composed, and its emerald eyes glanced over the many experts before finally landing on the Insect Ruler, who stood motionless

With the partial awakening of its intelligence, it felt threatened by the Insect Ruler.

Swoosh...

The next moment, countless insects suddenly appeared and shot toward the white wolf king.

The insects were enormous and remarkably sinister in appearance, but their speed was astonishing. In just an instant, they enveloped the white wolf king.

A cold aura emerged.

The Insect Ruler had made his move. He used his exceptional insect manipulation technique to launch an attack on the white wolf king.

Meanwhile, Andrius ventured further into the cave.

He was not interested in how the Insect Ruler would kill the white wolf king. He just wanted to bring Lewis's corpse back home. That man's corpse must not be exposed to the wilderness and become wolf food.

The cave was incredibly dim.

However, Andrius managed to see using the faint light. The cave was filled mostly with various remains, some of them human. The flesh on these corpses had been stripped away long ago, or they had decomposed over time.

Soon, Andrius spotted a fresh corpse at the very end. The clothing was still intact, and his face was still recognizable. It was Lewis Finch.

"Captain Finch, I'm sorry..." Andrius sighed and walked up to the body, preparing to leave.

"Wait!"

He suddenly realized that there was something off.

The arrangement of the bones here appeared random, but they actually concealed a profound secret. All the corpse's heads were facing a central point, like a formation or some kind of ritual.

This scene was...

Andrius seemed to have seen something like this from the temple deep in the Murrfield cordillera.

However, his memory was too blurry, and he could not recall the specifics.

At that thought, Andrius did not leave immediately but instead turned on his phone's flashlight to examine it more closely.

However, no matter how much he studied it, he could not find any specific clues. He did not know what this formation was meant for "Forget it..."

Andrius did not want to linger any longer and decided to exit the cave with Lewis's body.

Buzz...

Just then, a terrifying murderous intent suddenly swept over him.

However, it did not come from outside the cave but from inside. The intent was as sharp as a sword and as cold as frost. It gave the feeling of being targeted by a merciless ruler of hell, making one's heart tremble with fear. It was like a primordial beast that had been starving for years ready to come out and hunt for food.

Andrius frowned and stopped. He was not scared by this overwhelming murderous intent.

However, he was confused because there was nothing in the cave. How could such a powerful murderous intent suddenly emerge out of nowhere and even surprise him, a Martial God expert?

There must be something unusual going on.

He glanced around the cave again.

However, it was empty. There was nothing to explain the source of the murderous intent. That was strange.

Andrius shook his head and carried Lewis's corpse out of the cave on his back.

The battle outside had already ended.

The bodies of the Mount Valdez snow wolves were strewn across the ground, mingled with the bodies of many of the Insect Ruler's subordinates.

Furthermore, some had their arms torn off and their bones shattered in exchange for piercing the wolves' out.

It was a gruesome scene

It was evident that if Andrius faced this situation alone, he would have been in a difficult predicament

At that moment, the Insect Ruler had already killed the white wolf king and was using a sharp knife to cut open its abdomen and rummage around inside.

"Found it!"

A moment later, a smile appeared on the Insect Ruler's face.

He held out his right hand, which revealed a small round object. It was the white wolf king's inner core

"This is truly a good item for cultivation..." The Insect Ruler sighed after retrieving the white wolf king's inner core.

Humans were the most intelligent species. Compared to fierce beasts like tigers and wolves, humans might be much inferior physically, but that bridge could be gapped with cultivation.

Beasts like the wolf would require many years to cultivate an inner core. Thus, each inner core represented the essence of hundreds or even thousands of years of a beast's cultivation.

It was no wonder the Insect Ruler treated it as a treasure.

Andrius only glanced at it before looking away.

The wolf pack had been annihilated, and the Insect King's men had suffered significant losses.

The Insect Ruler saw Andrius come back and said solemnly, "Andrius, as you can see, I paid a high price to slay the white wolf king for you. I hope that you'll keep your promise and not disappoint me. This time

The Insect Ruler had high expectations for Andrius.

He went from Great Grandmaster and broke through to the martial realm in an unprecedented amount of time, creating a new history.

The Insect Ruler did not want to use Old Hagstorm's safety to restrict him. It was not a viable long-term method

"Send me the information about those experts" Andrius interrupted the insect Ruler's words and said bluntly. "I'll deal with them when they arrive"

After saying that, he picked up the white wolf king's massive head with his spear
